Webster Parish Anniversary

First. Is there any possibility of building a church? Second, if there is, how much would those present be willing to contribute? Third, What particular spot might be regarded as "central" in regard to the homes of those who should benefit by the church?

All answered: "A church can be built." To show they were sincere and earnest in their desire, $300 was subscribed.

Among the 45 families were Germans from the districts of Pennsylvania, Webster, Ontario and Walworth.

Hardly had the intention of these people become known when offers were made by different townspeople of a piece of land to be donated or sold for the purpose.

Of different offers made, that of James Voburn of Ridge Road in the town of Webster was decided as more central.

Father Van Ervstede contacted Mr. Voburn and asked him if it were really his intention to donate the land to the German Catholics for a church. The answer was "Yes" and the deed was drawn on Feb. 23, 1860, donating a quarter of acre of land for the purpose.

When it was discovered that this property was too small, arrangements were made to buy an additional piece of land, a half-acre. This purchase was made for $4.94 on March 3, 1860. A new deed was drawn between Bishop John Timon of Buffalo and James Voburn and the first deed thrown into the fire. The second deed was recorded in the County Clerk's office, Rochester, May 18, 1860.

Work was begun by the German people to prepare the material, so the with God's blessing on their labor, and with necessary funds forthcoming, the cornerstone of this new building in honor of the Most Holy Trinity could be laid on the opening Feast of the Most Holy Trinity, last year.

From the time of purchase of this property, Holy Mass was then offered every fifth Sunday of the month in the home of Jacob Kuhns on the Ridge Road.

The faithful were diligent in attending Divine services and took a very devoted part in the work. "It is impossible to relate," says Father Van Ervstede in his narration of parish events, "how much good our visit to this people has accomplished."

The number of families has increased since the purchase of the land was made, and the number still increases.

On Sunday, May 28, 1861, the Feast of the Most Holy Trinity at 2:30 P. M., the cornerstone of the new church of the Most Holy Trinity was laid with Father Peter Anderson, C.S.S.R., officiating, as Father Van Ervstede has by this time been transferred from Rochester.

Delegated by the Bishop, on August 5, 1861, dedicated the new edifice to the service of God and gave the first High Mass, assisted by the choir from St. Joseph's Church, Rochester. Father Jacobus, C.S.S.R., preached the sermon.

Holy Trinity parish grounds today cover over seven acres. The parish has a flourishing Holy Name Society with a membership of over 200; St. Monica's Christian Mothers' Society numbering 160; Junior Holy Name Society of 100 members; "Young Ladies' Society" of 100; Apostleship of Prayer with a membership of 225; Holy Childhood Association of 215 children.

WOULD DENY BUS SERVICE TO IMPOVERISHED PUPILS

CHEPPewa FALLS, Wis. — A court suit has been brought here by a director of the school district over the transportation of students to a Catholic parochial school with public funds.

The public grade school in this district has been closed by choice of the voters, forcing pupils to attend the public and parochial school at Cedar. Transportation by an auto company has been provided the 21 pupils, 17 of whom attend the parochial school.

John Rutz, the school district director, has brought the suit against the clerk, treasurer and former treasurer of the district and the automobile firm on the ground that transportation of the children is not valid since a majority of them were to be sent to the parochial school. The complaint alleges such use of public funds is contrary to state law. Mr. Rutz declaring suit was withheld until after an opinion rendered by the State Superintendent of Schools stating transportation of parochial school children is contrary to existing law. Mr. Rutz states his purpose is to determine the law in the case before counter-signing, as director, payments for the transportation service to the auto firm.

The defense asks for judgment affirming the right of the district to transport children of the school who attend grade schools, and residing within the district, to schools where children may legally attend, whether said schools are public or private, as long as the grade school located within the district remains closed.

Life of Mother Seton Whose Cause Progresses

position in New York became desperate. Providence at this moment arranged that Father DuBourg, President of Saint Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, during a visit to New York City, meet this saintly widow.

On hearing of her situation she suggested that she come to Baltimore and open a school for girls. Due consideration was given by Bishop Carroll of Baltimore, Doctor Matignon, and Father Cleverus of Boston, who were Elizabeth's advisors. In the year 1808 Elizabeth and her little ones made farewell to her mother. They arrived in Baltimore June 14, the Feast of Corpus Christi.

OPENS GIRLS' SCHOOL. That September she opened a school for girls in a modest brick house on Park Street, and her little ones had farewell to her mother. They arrived in Baltimore June 14, the Feast of Corpus Christi.

It was during this year in Baltimore that her life as a religious began. Since her husband's death she had been inclined to that direction, but the responsibility as mother of five young children, seemed to forbid the carrying out of such a plan.

Father DuBourg, who for fifteen years had prayed earnestly that he might be able to found the Daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent de Paul in the country, saw no reason why Elizabeth Seton, whose director he was, should not be able to carry out her desire for the religious life and at the same time maintain the guardianship of her children. She was overjoyed at the suggestion. She wrote at this time: "But how can I get my soul at the prospect of being able to assist the poor, visit the sick, comfort the sorrowful, clothe the little innocents, and teach them to love God?"

So under the guidance of Archbishop Carroll and Father DuBourg, the nucleus of the American branch of the great world-wide Order of the Daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent de Paul came into existence before the close of the following May. The first tentative steps had been taken, a religious garb suggested, temporary rules adopted and Father DuBourg appointed superior by the Bishop.

DON RELIGIOUS GARB. The dawn of another Corpus Christi, June 2, saw the little band of holy women come out from the Park Street house, pass through the tiny gate across the sunny space of lawn and enter Saint Mary's Chapel for Mass-wearing publicly for the first time their religious garb. "As long as I am with you I will be a nun," she said with a smile, and a white cap having a crimped border; a black band passed around the head and fastened beneath the chin. That same day Elizabeth went before Bishop Carroll and in the presence of many of his priests, formerly pronounced her first vows of poverty, chastity and obedience; and received from the lips of that august prelate the title of "Mother" that she has since borne to bear.

Providence willed that the great foundation of Elizabeth's work was to be begun elsewhere. Obedient to the guidance of her spiritual directors, she with her Sisters, set out for Emmitsburg, a beautiful site fifty miles from Baltimore, where she was to spend the remaining twelve years of her life. It had been planned that Mother Seton and her Sisters should live in a small stone house until a larger and more suitable one for a school could be built. On their arrival at Emmitsburg, however, they found even the "Stone House" in an unfinished condition. And for six weeks the little Community lived on the mountainside in a log house placed at their disposal by the generous and kindly Father DuBourg, first President of Saint Mary's College. "It was to be their first chapel and for fourteen years their superior."

FOUNDATION SITE. On the 31st of July, which is considered the foundation date of the little Community, Mother Seton and all her Sisters took up their abode in the little Stone House now termed the Cradle of the Community. Then followed a winter of privation and suffering, a rainy season, we were so reduced that we often did not know where the next day's meal would come from. Carrot coffee and coarse yeast bread was their only food, and for Christmas dinner they were glad to have smoked herrings and a spoonful of molasses apples. Yet in spite of all hardships, the Sisters rejoiced and Mother Seton considered them as marks of divine protection.

"But was Mother Seton afterwards said) the daily offering up of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and the happiness of possessing the Blessed Sacrament in this tiny retreat, just by enough to accommodate an altar, made it possible for them to love these inconveniences which would otherwise have been insupportable otherwise."

"O my Sisters," she would repeat, "I am here to let you see how ready I am to do His Holy Will, be it our Father. Oh when we shall be in our dear eternity then we will know the value of sufferings here below."

On the 20th of the following February, the new house, a big building two stories high, was ready. On the 22nd, the day school was opened, and a gratifying number of children was admitted. Mother Seton's devotion to Saint Joseph and her little ones, in her regard that he be invoked as the patron of the house. For this reason the first solemn Mass was celebrated in the little chapel on his feast, March 19th.

GREATEST GRACE. Shortly before her death, one of the Sisters asked Mother Seton what she considered the greatest grace of her life. She answered without a moment's hesitation, "The greatest grace of my life was having hours led into the Catholic Church. THANK GOD for having made you a child of His Church; when you come to this hour you will know what it is to be a child of the Church."

collet and preserves all the writings of Mother Seton. It is to him that we are indebted for the numerous letters, instructions and journals of this saintly woman which we possess today.

CAUSE INTRODUCED. Due to the advice of His Eminence, James Cardinal Gibbons, the introduction of Mother Seton's Cause was begun. "I would gladly take the initiative if I had the encouragement from here," he told the Sisters during a visit to Saint Joseph's.

In 1907 the first session of the Ecclesiastical Court was held in the Cardinal's residence at Baltimore. After the completion of the process, Father S. J. Souday, C.M., now Superior General of the Priests of the Mission and the Daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent de Paul. The closing sessions, held in the presence of His Excellency, Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, at his archiepiscopal residence, were concluded in 1924. The formal examination of the writings was conducted January 15, 1926.

Millions of leaflets and pamphlets concerning the life and works of this outstanding American convert to the Catholic Faith have been distributed throughout the entire world by the Mother Seton Guild, St. John's College, Emmitsburg, and other associations. And in return are received innumerable letters gratefully acknowledging favors large and small, that have been granted. It is believed through the intercession of this saintly woman whose heavenly aid has been sought. Endless are the pilgrimages made by the faithful who love to come and pray at her tomb, and see the places, once frequented by her presence.

May the day soon dawn when by permission of Holy Mother Church we may hail this American Convert and Pioneer of Catholic Action as "Saint Elizabeth Seton."
