

IN ONE EAR

By ART KELLY. Noted Dog Authority Conducts Regular Program on WHAM

Bob Becker who conducts WHAM's "Chat About Dogs" program, is a most interesting fellow. He not only is an expert on dogs, but also is famous for his knowledge in the fields of hunting, fishing, camping and exploring.

As far as radio is concerned, Bob's most interesting activity at the present time is his Sunday afternoon "Chat About Dogs" program which WHAM presents each week at 5:15. During this period he gives valuable information on the care and feeding of dogs as well as tells interesting yarns about man's best friend.

Here is one interesting little story that Bob tells on himself. It seems that training dogs to be good citizens has always been one of the well-known lead pipe specialties to Mr. Becker. Recently, however, he was faced with a new problem in canine education. The NBC dog expert had to train his newest dog, a black Labrador retriever named Dawn.

As a part of the dog's education in the art of retrieving, Becker has taught Dawn to go out and get the morning paper off the "back door step." Whenever Dawn did an especially good job of bringing in the paper, Becker would lavish her with praise. This week Dawn apparently bit on the notion that if one paper brought a back pat from the boy, more papers ought to just about make it a red letter day. The upshot was that Becker got seven papers delivered to him by Dawn at breakfast while seven of the neighbors read a howl loud enough to wake the dead.

As in order to get Dawn on a regular basis, he has to send most of his spare time taking her around to every porch in the neighborhood to shame her about picking up papers. Since Dawn still gets petted for retrieving the home paper, the man currently leading a life that must be hard for her to understand.

Some Facts On "Hymns of All Churches" - "Hymns of All Churches" evokes such great listener response that Joe Emerson has four persons helping him take care of the fan mail.

As most of the letters contain requests for favorite hymns, soloist Emerson has evolved a system whereby none is overlooked. The requested hymns are listed and from this list Emerson selects the hymns to be sung on the three-weekly programs. Joe always includes hymns of several different religions in the week's programs and arranges special programs to celebrate religious and national holidays.

The listeners themselves plan the "Hymns of All Churches" program says Joe Emerson. "We merely organize their requests." Joe Emerson's program is presented by WHAM each Monday Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Wedding Rings And Woe Is Me! - Gabo Ward, clarinet-playing member of the Hoosier Hot Shots, has a sympathy for railroad depots.

About a dozen years ago when the genial Hoosier was preparing for his marriage to a Toledo, O., girl, he was so afraid he'd forget the ring that he mailed it on ahead to the Toledo depot in care of himself. The station agent had read about his impending marriage to the Deter girl, so he thought he was doing everyone a favor when he forwarded the ring to the Deter family.

However they had just moved and the old address didn't get the precious package to its well-intended destination and poor Gabo spent the entire morning just prior to the ceremony itself, chasing all over town after that ring. Postscript: he found it when they were married and are living happily ever after, with four little Wards.

Jack Berch—The Man With the Smiling Voice - Jack Berch, popular young NBC singer, came all the way from Effingham, Ill., a bustling metropolis of some three hundred souls, to take his proper place in radio's Hall of Fame. But says a people are pretty much the same wherever you find them. The rich baritone voice that won all hearts back in Effingham is having the same effect on his present "big time" radio audience. And the folks back home still remember him, and write and tell him so. If you'd like to hear your for yourself, just tune in Jack Berch on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 11:30 in the morning, over WHAM.

Rev. John S. Randall, DIRECTOR. A happy and a joyous Easter to the Lenten season to spend these days in a spirit of prayer and of devotion...

NEWSWEEK. Well, well, the postman's bag has been worse than it did during the Christmas rush! Sure enough, it was bringing Easter greetings in the form of ransom money from the boys and girls of our schools. Let's hurry up and roll it out to see what we have.

And when we finally had counted we found enough for twenty-four ransoms. Let me tell you that they nearly took us off our feet. We had no idea that anybody could save that much during the few short weeks of Lent. You can just imagine how much they must have sacrificed and how much the pleasure they derived themselves in order to raise this large amount. You can just imagine, too, all the joy and happiness that will be theirs on Easter Sunday morning as they realize the blessings of the risen Christ that will be poured on them for their wonderful mission work.
