Volume VII March 21, 1940 Number 12
With the Approbation of the Most Reverend James Edward Kearney, D. D., Bishop of Rochester

Not Always Eternal
ALONG THE WAY
By Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S.J.
I knew the girl when she was in college, a Catholic college, several years ago. Then, after a lapse of time, I met her in her home city.

Song of the Easter Angel
By SISTER MARYANNA, O. P.
(Written for N.C.W.C. Easter Supplement)
Three-and-thirty years ago
When the sky was all aglow
As I sang a star hallelujah
In exultant glory!

Easter Thoughts
LIBRARY SIGNPOST
EASTER is the culmination of God's ancient plan of love. In the beginning, man stands desolate, self-divorced from his God, the divine plan snared by sin.

He is Risen
With joy and peace on Easter morning welcome the historic message that tells us Christ is risen from the dead. Spoken of old to the holy women, spoken down the ages to men and women of every race under heaven, the Easter message is one of triumph for Jesus Christ, our Saviour, one of comfort for those whom He has saved.

Negro Barbers
I walked into the downtown barbershop in Shreveport (Louisiana, if you have a doubt), slipped off my topcoat, and then noticed that the barbers standing at their chairs were colored. Coming from the north, my first feeling was that I was in a shop that catered only for the colored. Then I flashed back mentally to the days when a little child, I had just had my hair cut by a colored man in those remote days children's haircuts were fifteen cents. But prime beef was twelve and a half cents a pound, so...

Wiser Than the Children of Light
"The children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light," saith the Lord. How true we find this declaration in daily experience. While the children of light go quizzically about their business, filled with the spirit of peace and respectability of the plans craftily prepared to circumvent them by the children of the world, what a program is suddenly thrown before them in full blossom!

Shirley after, I hit her home town again, and she came to see me. "So you married him," I said regretfully. "And he was divorced—and you couldn't live without him."

When I was a young fellow, scarcely adolescent, I used to wonder at a schoolmate who seemed to know so much more than the rest of the boys about what was going on in the neighborhood.

What Nerve!
A letter from a little bride of a year and a half, the mother of a three-months-old baby, illustrates the brain and shameslessness of the birth controllers. She writes: "I have been receiving literature from some birth control association which I never want nor am interested in. They sent it simply because they got my name in the marriage bureau and the record of births."

A Gift For Phrases
Sometimes the colored have a way of hitting things off in a way remarkably apt phrase. Take the porter for instance. Three priests got into his Pullman. He watched them with interest. After a time they all pulled out their briefcases and started their daily routine.

Inside Information On The Convent?
By REV. JAMES M. GILLIN, C.S.B., Editor, The Catholic World
When I was a young fellow, scarcely adolescent, I used to wonder at a schoolmate who seemed to know so much more than the rest of the boys about what was going on in the neighborhood.

Also I wonder wondering will never cease what code of ethics I should use in writing a book to the public giving the impression that I am a convent as that in which I say she lived in the usual normal normalizing.

Why?
The story is told that many years ago a Governor of Illinois had promised to address a reunion of the deaf at Springfield. When he was escorted to a platform, he looked long and earnestly at the crowd before him, then turned to the interpreter and asked, "Where are the deaf?"

Five Years Ago
From March 31, 1935, Edition
The Rev. Conrad O'Leary, O.F.M., spiritual director of St. Bonaventure College, came to Rochester to help launch the local unit in the Knights of Columbus Mobilization for Catholic Action.

For Women Only!
What can a helpless female do? Rock the cradle and bake and brew. Or if no cradle your fate afford, Rock your brother's wife for your board.

Diocesan Recordings
Rejoicing over the triumph of the Risen Savior reaches its height on leaving the altar rail. Such a Blessed Easter is the department's wish for each of you.
