Letters to Cardinal Maximing (left), brought to light only in recent years, show that Fiorence Nightingale (right) had a deep attachment for the Catholic Faith although she never fermally embraced it. These latters also show that Catholic Sisters greatly helped Miss Nightingale in her nursing project in the Crimean War of 1854, and that it was probably Cardinal Manning who suggested that the "Lady" of the Lamp" embark on this undertaking which was the foundation of her fame. May 12 is the 130th anniversary of Miss Nightingale's birth. (N.C.W.C.) Nightingale's birth, (N.C.W.C.)
