The best picture of the week is iso the picture that was least pre-that we can remember. The pic-ture, adapted from a Saturday Evening Post short story by James Street, deals with a dog-a worthstrong contempt. It lets you watch this dog from puppyhood — and shows you how the tove of two kids who believe in it influence its development. Billy Lee and lit-tle black Cordell Hickman are the leading youngsters, both natural and capable. The picture was filmed in Georgia and the camera man takes full advantage of the icente loveliness of the settings.
