Just about ready for release is "The Mortal Storm" which deals with Nazi Germany before the war. The picture is a version of Phyllis Bottome's best seller, should have dramatic values enough of its own to compensate for the fact that it won't be as opportune now as it was when it went into production.

Walter Wagner has found out that the war has completely changed the face of the picture industry. He has bought Vincent Sheean's book, "Personal History," but by the time the picture was ready to be made, events in Europe had changed the situation about which Sheean wrote so much.

St. Monica's Parish SODALITY FEMALE

The June installation Banquet of St. Monica's Senior Sodality will be held on Monday, June 11, in the Peacock Room.

Mrs. Rita Cornell, general chairman of the dinner, has selected the following committee: Mrs. Tommie Rita Mason, Grace Muldoon, Edna Hassel, and Betty Bekirch.

The last meeting of the Rosary Society was converted into an anniversary party in honor of the four priests at St. Monica's.

Because of a last-minute change in the graduating Class spent its class day at Camp Edgemoor on Connetquot Lake. Charter buses left the school at 10 o'clock on Monday morning.

Count "History." Unperturbed Wagner had the book re-written, saving much of the original events of the war called for further rewriting and before long, Wagner even changed the title of the picture. It would not be fair to St. Monica's to think that the picture is a version of the book.

But by no means are the picture restricted to the subject of the war. For instance are such pictures as "Pride and Prejudice" and "New Moon" which vary as much as possible from these others.
