FIRST MILITARY MASS CELEBRATED AT NOTED AIR FIELD SINCE 1918

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y.—The first Military Field Mass celebrated at Mitchel Field since 1918 was said here Sunday by the Rev. Paul J. Glegerich, newly appointed Catholic chaplain at this post, principal aerial defense station for New York and New England.

More than 700 officers and enlisted men, most of them aviators or mechanics, attended the Mass, which was presided over by the Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., Military Delegate. Bishop O'Hara also preached the sermon.

The altar for the Mass was erected under an Army tent. Enlisted men served as acolytes and also made up the choir which sang the music for the Mass. A Communion Breakfast for the officers was held afterwards at the Officers' Mess, at which Bishop O'Hara and Father Glegerich were guests of honor.

Mitchel Field is named after John Purroy Mitchel, former Mayor of New York and a leading Catholic layman who was killed in the line of duty while serving as an aviator with the United States Army during the World War.

St. Andrew's Parish

CLUB PICNIC JULY 28

Reservations are rapidly being made for the St. Andrew's Club Picnic which will be held Sunday, July 28th, at Silver Lake. To date over 75 have reserved a ticket for this annual affair.

The train leaves the B. & O. Station on West Avenue at 11 o'clock Daylight Saving Time.

In the well-arranged program worked out in several meetings held this past week, members of the Young Ladies' Junior Sodality have made provisions for swimming, sail boating, canoeing, dancing, roller skating, a baseball game and a hot dog roast in the evening.

In one of the scrappiest games ever seen at Carter Street playground, the St. Andrew's C. Y. A. High School team beat the Holy Redeemer rivals to the score of 18 to 5. The game was held on Tuesday evening at which Dan Fox, pitching for St. Andrews, turned in a 1-hit game. The St. Andrew's batsmen faced 3 of Holy Redeemer's best pitchers with Flynn and Oliver obtaining home runs.

Over 150 of the workers on the recently held Festival enjoyed their Victory banquet Monday evening in the school hall. The Festival was pronounced a success and the spirit was very high. After the banquet the workers had a chance to play at the booths which they ran during the Festival.

Getting On In The World

A great help to success is punctuality and order. Have a time and place for everything. Do everything at its fixed time. Keep everything in its proper place. This rule looks charming in print but one can not change from irregular to punctual and orderly habits in a simple day, which is why some never do.

It requires time and patience and courage to conform one's self satisfactorily to a strict rule of life. Begin, then, with punctuality in essential duties. Whether you are in the employ of others, or in business yourself you are injuring materially your prospects for success by irregular comings and goings, arrivals and departures. The value of time is a nebulous thing.

Time is the succession of opportunities to prepare and perfect ourselves for a new and supremely happy life to which death is the entrance. And time from that view can be horribly wasted when punctuality and order are not foundation habits of one's character.

Time's opportunities come but once. They go by more rapidly than thought can conceive or grasp. They never return. Others like them may come; they may not.

How many men, lazy, smug and self-satisfied, make of time simply a life-long study to find the best and easiest means of killing it—at their own or some one else's expense. Habits of punctuality and order, which must be cultivated and built up, militate against such catastrophe.

FR. LAWRENCE RYAN LEAVES ST. PAUL CATHEDRAL; PASTOR FOR 24 YEARS

ST. PAUL.—The Very Rev. Lawrence F. Ryan, pastor of the St. Paul Cathedral for 24 years, has resigned that post due to a protracted period of failing health and has been appointed to the Church of St. Mary of the Lake at White Bear Lake, Minn.

Ordained June 5, 1910, Father Ryan was assigned as assistant at the old Cathedral. About a year later he was transferred to St. Joseph's parish, which later was merged with the new Cathedral parish, to which Father Ryan returned. In 1918, when the Rev. Thomas J. Gibbons, pastor of the Cathedral, died, Father Ryan had volunteered to serve as chaplain in the National Guard, which had been called out due to the Mexican border trouble. He was not destined for a military career, however, for he was named successor to the Cathedral pastorate, which post he held up to date.

Father Ryan is a brother of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John A. Ryan, Director of the Department of Social Action, National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C.

Our Catholic Charities As They Pass In Review

"THESE, MY LEAST BRETHREN"

Refugee Work

BY JOHN SPRINGER

Child Welfare Department of the Rochester Catholic Charities, the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor has provisionally designated the Rochester Catholic Charities as a local agency to cooperate with the Committee for the Care of European Children, in the investigation of foster homes and in the care and supervision of children who are subsequently placed in these homes.

The viewpoint of the United States Children's Bureau and the United States Committee on the Care of European Children seems to be that it is best to have the work handled by private child caring agencies rather than public departments as there would doubtless be some criticism of local departments of welfare handling this extra work. Hillside Children's Center has also been selected and local Jewish groups will continue their work of caring for Jewish refugee children.

Work Increased

According to Miss d'Olier, the work of the department will be increased to a great extent when and if the children are sent over. However, motivated by a feeling both of patriotic duty and duty to an unfortunate neighbor because of the love of God—which, after all, is the primary purpose of any Catholic Charity group — the department is prepared to deal with this additional work. No definite plans have been formulated yet, but should the exodus from England suddenly start, it is probable that St. Mary's Boys' Home and St. Patrick's Girls' Home will be used for temporary headquarters, while the work of selecting foster homes is carried on.

It is doubtful, however, whether such an exodus to the Dominions and the United States will occur in the near future, according to the recent statement of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

"I must frankly admit," Churchill said in speaking of the impossibility of a mass exodus, "that the full bearings of this question were not appreciated by the British government at the time it first was raised. It was not foreseen that the mild countenance given to this plan would lead to a movement of such dimensions and that a crop of alarmist and depressing rumors would follow at its tail, detrimental to interests of national defense." But he continued with his statement, saying that he did not believe the military situation required such an evacuation of children and that such an evacuation would be extremely difficult, if not impossible.

However, the U. S. Committee continues to plan for such an occasion and continues to care for children already brought over. Immigration procedure has been simplified to such an extent that it will make possible the admission of children in whatever numbers shipping facilities and private assurances of support will warrant.

It will be the duty of the Rochester Catholic Charities and other designated local groups throughout the country to look into the home life and the qualifications of families speaking for refugee children. No children can be taken directly—all must be placed through a recognized agency which will investigate the advisability of allowing the children to go to a particular home.

Requirements

The Rochester Catholic Charities qualifies as a child-caring organization designated for service to European children under the following general standards for such organizations prescribed by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor.

(1) The agency should be approved by and under the supervision of the department of welfare of the state in which it is located.

(2) The agency should be fully qualified and equipped for child-placing service. The resources of the agency should include a well-organized and professionally staffed social service department for the selection of foster homes and the continuing supervision of care given to children in such homes.

(3) The agency should maintain records of all available information concerning each child and his family and complete reports of care given by the agency.

(4) Temporary reception care, if provided, should be in conformity with standards acceptable to the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor.

(5) All European children received for care should be placed in family homes of their own religious faith, immediately or after a brief period of reception care, except when the child's special needs require other forms of care.

(6) European children received for care should be assured adequate medical care and health supervision, should attend school until at least the age of 16 years and should not be gainfully employed prior to the age of 16 years.

(7) Not more than two unrelated children should be placed in one home.

(8) The agency should retain responsibility for each child until he reaches the age of at least 18 years, or has been returned to a parent or guardian or transferred to other care with the approval of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children.

(9) The agency should agree that the Children's Bureau shall at all times have access to all premises and facilities used for care of children and to records of such children.

(10) The agency should agree to make such periodic reports of the whereabouts, status and care of the children as may be prescribed by The Children's Bureau.

And so, the Rochester Catholic Charities prepares to work on this project—the project of supplying tiny refugees from war with homes in a land of peace.

Radio

Oklahoma Priest On Catholic Hour

The Rev. John J. Walde, pastor of Corpus Christi Church, Oklahoma City, Okla., will conduct a new series of four addresses, "America's Debt to the Catholic Church," during the nationwide Catholic Hour, beginning Sunday, August 4.

The program, heard each Sunday at 6:00 P. M., EDST, over the Red Network of the National Broadcasting Company, is produced under auspices of the National Council of Catholic Men.

Father Walde, known to his listeners as "the radio priest of the Southwest" began broadcasting in 1925. It is believed he was the first Catholic priest in the United States to give a consecutive radio series on religion.

Since his ordination in 1922, Father Walde has established an unusual record of conversions having brought 385 persons into the church. In addition to his broadcasting activities he edits a column, "Library Gleams" for the Southwest Courier, official organ of the Diocese of Oklahoma.

During his NBC series Father Walde will speak on the following subjects: Aug. 4, "The March of the Cross"; Aug. 11, "The Torch of Liberty"; Aug. 18, "The Torch of Learning and Charity," and Aug. 25, "The Bulwark of the Nation."

Trammell Lauds Religious Hours

"The broadcasting of religious programs is one of the most significant features of the National Broadcasting Company's public service record," according to a statement made last Friday by Niles Trammell, newly elected president of the world's largest broadcasting corporation.

"Through the medium of radio, hundreds of thousands of shut-ins and others who are temporarily prevented from attending regular houses of worship are given the solace of religious service.

"In times of world unrest such as these, religious programs carry an added significance. In cooperation with the various religious organizations, the American system of broadcasting is doing a great public service, and we shall strive further to enhance this phase of our programming."

Chalice Found At Auriesville Believed Used By Fr. Jogues

AURIESVILLE, N. Y.—A possibility that a silver chalice found by an archeologist in Central New York may be that used by Father Isaac Jogues, first of the eight North American Martyrs, has resulted in renewed interest in the Auriesville Shrine of Our Lady of Martyrs, which now occupies the site of the Mohawk Indian village of Ossernenon where the French Jesuit, the "Ambassador of Peace," suffered torture and death in 1646.

Only the cup of the chalice remains. It was unearthed in 1932 by John A. Sanders, Ballston Lake, N. Y., archeologist, while digging at the site of the Indian village of Tentotege, about two miles west of Fort Plain and 20 miles west of Auriesville in the Mohawk Valley, to which Father Jogues and his companions, St. Rene Goupil and St. John Lalande, were brought after their capture by the Iroquois near Three Rivers, P. Q.

Gave Details

The searcher for Indian relics did not attach unusual importance to his find at the time. Five years later, in correspondence with the Rev. John J. Wynne, S.J., Fordham vice-postulator of the cause of the martyrs, he gave several interesting details in connection with the locating of the long-buried chalice.

According to Marius Barbeau, of the Canadian Department of Mines and Resources, the chalice is of the type imported into Canada from France in the second part of the seventeenth century and it resembles closely the chalices made in Quebec during the early part of the eighteenth century.

Quotes Authorities

Another authority, the Rev. Louis Heroux, S.J. of Le College des Jesuites, Quebec, refers to several chalices preserved by the Ursulines and other Quebec communities and opines that the Auriesville chalice is of the type used by the missionaries of the New France period. In his opinion, it is quite possible that, judging from the bell-shape cup and other characteristics of the silversmith art, the recently found chalice may have been that of Father Jogues.

COLORFUL SCENES MARK CALIFORNIA'S CENTENNARY

SAN DIEGO.—All of the Ordinaries of California participated in the ceremonies here last Sunday, marking the centennial of the establishment of the Hierarchy in this State.

The Most Rev. Robert J. Armstrong, Bishop of Sacramento, celebrated Mass at 8 o'clock in Mission San Diego de Alcala, mother of the 21 California Missions.

This was followed by a Solemn Pontifical Mass attended by a great throng at an outdoor pavilion in Balboa Park in a setting of semi-tropical splendor. The Most Rev. John J. Mitty, Archbishop of San Francisco, was the celebrant and the Most Rev. John J. Cantwell, Archbishop of Los Angeles, delivered the sermon, which was broadcast throughout the United States and Canada.

The Most Rev. Charles F. Buddy, Bishop of San Diego, spoke after the Mass, thanking the members of the Hierarchy, clergy and laity who attended and reading a special Papal Blessing.

The Most Rev. Philip G. Scher, Bishop of Monterey—Fresno, officiated at Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament at the Mission in the afternoon. This was followed by a massing of Papal Flags and those of lay organizations' banners. A Pageant of Missions was presented on the mission grounds and the Holy Name Society was host at a picnic.

POPE HONORS 6 PRIESTS IN GALVESTON DIOCESE

GALVESTON.—Papal honors for six priests of the Diocese of Galveston are announced in word which the Most Rev. Christopher E. Byrne, Bishop of Galveston, has received from His Excellency the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States.

His Holiness Pope Pius XII has named the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Louis J. Reicher, Chancellor of the diocese, a Protonotary Apostolic. Pope Pius XI made Monsignor Reicher a Domestic Prelate in 1935.

The Holy Father has named the Very Rev. Dr. James T. Fleming, president of St. Mary's Seminary, La Porte; the Very Rev. Dr. John S. Murphy, Pastor of St. Patrick's Church here; the Very Rev. Dr. Daniel P. O'Connell, Rector of St. Mary's Cathedral; the Very Rev. George A. Wilhelm, Pastor of the Church of the Holy Name, Houston, and the Very Rev. I. J. Szymanski, Pastor of St. Mary's Church, Bremond, Tex., Domestic Prelates with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Conference Cancelled

Antigonish, N. S.—In deference to war activities, St. Francis Xavier University here has cancelled the seventeenth annual forum of economic and social subjects, scheduled for the university this summer. The American Co-operative Tour, held in connection with the conference each year, has also been cancelled.

Only A Little While

"Only a little while," he saith,
Only a little while;
A few more days, or a few more years,
At the end it will seem but a fleeting breath,
"Only a little while."
"Only a little while," He saith,
"Only a little while."
Though clouds enshroud, though rugged and steep
Be the path we tread and we wearily weep;
Have courage, my soul, keep alive thy faith!
"Only a little while."
"Only a little while," He saith,
Only a little while;
A little while here with the pain and the cross,
A little while here to be purged from our dross!
And then, Oh! the glory behind dark death!
Beyond this "little while."
Oh! the crowns and the palms and victorious songs,
Oh! the peace, the glad rapture of glorified throngs,
The unknown, the unspeakable glories that wait
Beyond the grim bars of eternity's gate
After this "little while."

—Rev. H. M. Calmer, S.J., in "Catholic Freeman's Journal."
