Sings Mother's Mass Before Departure

CHICAGO—On the morning before his departure for missionary labors in the Far East, a Maryknoll priest, the Rev. Robert E. Sheridan, sang Mass for his mother, who died Monday at her home here.
Father Sheridan did not attend the Departure Ceremony for this year's group of 21 Maryknoll missionaries at the headquarters of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America, Maryknoll, N. Y.
Father Sheridan was spending a month's leave at home and was with his mother when she died.

URGES MORE CONSIDERATION FOR AMERICAN NEGROES

CHICAGO—Parishioners of Holy Name Cathedral here were admonished by Cardinal Chalmers, weekly parish bulletin, to draw a lesson from Sunday's gospel and wipe out "racial prejudice."
"We cannot conceive our Saviour as He hung in agony on the Cross excluding the American Negro from His offering of redemption," the paper said. "Last week we noted here that 4,000,000 Negroes in the United States—only 20,000 are Catholics, and there are only 22 churches for them to assist at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass."
The theme of which the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Korwin, Rector of the Cathedral in Chicago, declares: "It is astounding how many faithful Catholics, frequent Communicants, are so blindly indifferent to the lot of the Negro, not only throughout America, but in our own city."

Priest-Editor Chosen Labor Dispute Arbitrator

NASHVILLE—The Rev. George J. Flanagan, Editor of The Register, Tennessee Edition, has been chosen arbitrator of a dispute between the Newspaper Printing Corporation and the Mailers' Union, an affiliate of the International Typographical Union.
A board of arbitration has been set up, composed of two representatives of the employers and two of the workers. Father Flanagan was chosen as disinterested chairman with full power to vote on matters affecting a new contract.
Commissioner Dyett, a non-Catholic, spoke at a conference of the Catholic Laymen's Union, an organization of Catholic Negroes. He was introduced by Maceo Thomas, president of the Union.

Chicago Has Memorial Mass For Gen. Balbo

CHICAGO—Memorial services were held at the Cathedral of the Holy Name here for the late General Italo Balbo, Italian aviation leader killed in action.
The Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, presided.
Seven years ago this month, General Balbo with his men attended Mass in the Cathedral of the Holy Name after their successful air flight to the United States from Italy.
"There's a language that is cute; a silence that speaks."

Five Year Interdict Lifted, Rites To Resume At U. S. Indian Pueblo

SANTA FE, N. Mex.—(CNC)—The interdict against Santo Domingo Pueblo, with its more than 1,000 Indian population, has been lifted by the Most Rev. Rudolph A. Gerken, Archbishop of Santa Fe.
For the first time in five years Mass will be said there on Sunday, August 4, feast day of St. Dominic, the pueblo's patron saint. Archbishop Gerken himself will be the first to utter the words, not heard within the thick adobe chapel walls since 1935 "Intraibo ad altare Dei" (I will go to the altar of God, the beginning of the Mass ceremony).
In keeping with former custom, the Indians are expected to send a cavalcade to meet the Archbishop four or five miles from the pueblo. The bravest will wear their richest tribal costumes and after intricate maneuvers on horseback about the Archbishop's car, they will fire salvo from firearms and escort His Excellency to a point several blocks from the church.
There the Archbishop will leave his car and be received by the entire population. All will kneel down to receive his blessing. The wagon of the pueblo will then take off their Spanish shawls and place them in the roadway to the door of the church over which the Archbishop will walk. The same formalities will take place for the Archbishop's departure.
At the Mass there will be the solemnization of many marriages and baptisms. In former years it was the custom for the Indians to await the Feast of St. Dominic for their baptism. The Archbishop will baptize the children.
Difficulties arose in Santo Domingo in July, 1935, when the Civil administration denied the Indians liberty of conscience and the right to practice the Catholic religion as the majority of the pueblo. The Archbishop opened negotiations with the public authorities, which resulted in a "pow-wow" to which the Archbishop and several of the priests who had served the pueblo were invited. The full Council, consisting of 35 "Principales" and all the officials of the pueblo, attended.
Use of Church Permitted
The meeting lasted for seven hours, but nothing was accomplished. The authorities in power wanted to have only a few ministrations of the church for the people: baptism, Confirmation and an occasional Mass but no other sacraments. The Archbishop was then forced to deprive the Indians of all church services with a priest in charge, but he permitted them the use of the church for their private devotions.
Two years later, the Archbishop was invited to another "pow-wow" with two Franciscan priests present. The Indian leaders were much more conciliatory but because a number of the Council members refused to consent to the conditions necessary for the re-establishment of services, the difficulties continued.
During this time the Indians themselves were friendly and frequently called on the Archbishop.
A few weeks ago Governor Francisco Tomerolo called on Archbishop Gerken with various officials of the Council and negotiations were reopened. The Archbishop again explained the entire matter at great length and the Governor agreed to call another meeting of the Council, which was held on July 18. Governor Tomerolo was authorized to reach an agreement with the Archbishop for the re-establishment of services, and such an agreement was realized the next day.

Crippled Twins Forsake Bicycles For Chairs To Make First Communion

NEW ORLEANS.—Two little twin boys who have been wont to assist at Mass seated in tricycles have made their First Communion. And for that occasion they forsook the tricycles for chairs.
They are Stanislaus and William Bourgeois, 11-year-old paralytic patients at the New Orleans Home for Incurables. Four other members of their family—a sister and three brothers—are also residents of the home, all victims of crippling paralysis. The older children had made their First Communion before going to the home three years ago from their native Louisiana.
The twins, who entered the Home for Incurables last fall, get about in tricycles, remaining in their vehicles even during Mass in the assembly hall. But on their First Communion day they were shifted to chairs for that momentous event.

SUMMER RECREATION PLAN SOLVES CITY'S PROBLEMS

CHICAGO—A summer recreation program with more than 700 children, mainly children of the poor, has solved the vacation problem in St. Ignace parish here thanks to the energetic 75-year-old Pastor, the Rev. F. G. Dinneen, S. J.
The program, which is in its third year, has attracted city-wide attention and other parishes have modeled similar projects after it.
It was started mainly for children to keep them amused and out of mischief during the vacation period. All are parish children and the recreation program was worked out by Father Dinneen and Robert Elden, of the athletic staff of Loyola University, who is the manager of the project.
The grounds of Loyola University, its swimming pool, gymnasium, bowling alleys, tennis courts, handball and baseball grounds are at the disposal of the children and older folk, including parents who frequent the evening sports and athletic contests.
