Deplore Decline In Farm Population As Peril To U. S.

ST. CLOUD, Minn.—The decline of American farm population in the light of rural peoples from the land to urban centers was deplored at the opening of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference here this week as a trend which may lead this whole nation to disaster.

Outstanding speakers, including several members of the hierarchy, strongly emphasized at the four-day sessions, that there must be a return to a sound and active agrarian life if forces destructive of the physical and moral strength of individuals and families are to be stemmed.

Striking the keynote of the sessions, which sessions ranged from workshops to the highest principles of the Catholic Church, was the philosophy of the Rev. Monsignor J. M. H. Bishop of Fargo, in the sermon at the Mass Sunday opening the conference, stressed that without the golden of religion, Agrarianism will be a failure.

Religion alone can steer it clear of the hazards of self-interest, materialism and materialism on which other nations are now floundering in the past, the Bishop said. Catholic agrarianism accepts as a basic truth that the farmer is engaged in a sacred calling. His basic philosophy, namely, that man is invested with a high dignity, the source of all his rights and liberties is a genuine democracy. The man's social nature finds in the family his first and normal home for his social thought and actions that man implements his social nature best by working in cooperation with his fellow men in society and that the State is the only directing, stimulating and coordinating social authority, but not the duty of dominating and absorbing them.

The threat of rural youth to the city is a grave problem, two other speakers declared. The Most Rev. Michael J. O'Hara, Bishop of Kansas City, founder of the Catholic Rural Life Conference and its Secretary, stressed at the general assembly, Monday night, said the decline of the farm population spells disaster for the nation.

"There is not a city of over 200,000 population in America which does not depend on a lower population bracket," the Bishop pointed out. "If we own city of Kansas City has been more than 1,000 children in the past 10 years. Only two families stand between our city and a constantly declining population."

Conference's Problem Same

Bishop O'Hara asserted that city life is destructive of the physical and moral strength of both the individual and the family, adding that "the problem of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference remains, after 20 years, what it was when the movement was inaugurated."

"We must work that ownership of the land become again the basis of a healthier and happier society, because with the loss of land ownership the farmer loses independence, his self-reliance and the Church has a tremendous stake in the demoralization of business and agriculture, because the Church depends upon the strength of our rural population for its existence in the future."

HEADS PUBLICATIONS

JAMES C. BLY

Bly Named Manager Of St. Bona Publications

ST. BONAVENTURE.—An appointment was made here today by the Very Rev. Thomas Flanagan, O.F.M., President of St. Bonaventure College, of the appointment of James C. Bly, of Erie, Pa., as the manager of the college's publications. Bly was named to succeed Austin P. Boly former advertising manager of the college publications.

Bly received his Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Bonaventure in 1933 and has been on the staff of the college since his graduation, serving the last two years as field representative. During his undergraduate days at the college he was active in publications and held the position of student business manager of all the campus publications for three years. In 1936 he conducted a conference for high school publications which resulted in establishment of this conference as an annual event on the college calendar. The conference has grown and last year included about five hundred delegates from high schools in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio who came to discuss problems of high school publishing.

In his new position, Bly will direct all advertising and business affairs of the college publications. These publications include a weekly newspaper, a monthly literary magazine, a quarterly science magazine, a college yearbook and a seminary yearbook, as well as football programs, catalogs, and other pamphlets.

Pledges Pass $7,000 Mark In Drive For New Church

ELMIRA.—With the half-way mark passed in their campaign for $10,000, workers for the new Our Lady of Lourdes Church are pushing toward their goal. A total of approximately $7,000 was reported pledged last week.

Detailed plans and specifications for the church are now being prepared by Haskell & Conditine, architects. They will be completed in about three weeks and bids on construction will be invited immediately.

The Diocesan Building Commission has directed that a church to accommodate 600 persons be erected. The original sketches called for the seating of 450 persons, but the larger church to provide for future growth of the parish was believed advisable.

The Rev. Leo G. Schwab, pastor of the new church, and Leo E. Conditine, architect, visited New York recently where they studied the design of Notre Dame de Lourdes Church, giving particular attention to the replica of the new church will be located in St. Bernard on 18 different occasions between Feb. 11 and July 16, 1938.

A representation of the grotto at Lourdes will be incorporated in the back wall of the new West Elmira church. It will be one of the striking features of the structure.

Title to the property on which the new church will be located has been perfected. The plot is at the northwest corner of W. Church St. and Demarest Parkway with a frontage of 100 feet on Church St. and a depth extending to Second St. Seven lots facing on Highland Ave. are included.

N.C.C.W. Hears Talk On Consumer Problems

GENEVA.—The Problem That Faces The Consumer? This was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. Helen Mancy, teacher of social studies and Latin in Geneva High School at the opening fall meeting of Geneva unit of the National Council of Catholic Women, Sept. 27 in St. Stephen's parish house.

Fifty members were present. Mrs. Mancy emphasized the need for increased interest on the part of the consumer, pointing out that if the consumer is not interested the merchant will not be interested in the consumer's needs. She also named various publications which might be helpful to the women interested in the subject.

New officers of the Geneva council are as follows: president, Mrs. T. E. Quigley, vice-president and program chairman, Miss Regina Sweeney; treasurer, Mrs. Elliott Clossy and secretary, Mrs. George Hall.

Mrs. Thomas A. Kane, past president of the unit, gave an interesting account of the recent Diocesan conference in Rochester. The program chairman announced that a book club is now being formed by the members and invited all who are interested to join. A general discussion was held on the program of the unit for the coming year.

Forty Hour Rites Held In Geneva

By KATHRYN MORAN

GENEVA.—Marked by a solemn procession, the Forty Hours Devotion opened Sunday at 10:45 o'clock in St. Francis de Sales Church here, each watching for a half hour, before the Blessed Sacrament.

The procession was made up of several visiting priests from nearby cities and towns, who came to Geneva to assist the pastor, the Rev. Regis, Walter J. Lee in the services and children of the lower grades of St. Francis de Sales School who were dressed in white.

Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and recitation of the Litany marked the opening service. Private devotions were held during the day, many parishioners of St. Stephen's as well as St. Francis de Sales visited the church during the afternoon. Students of DeSales High School formed a Guard of Honor, each watching for a half hour, before the Blessed Sacrament.

The sermon at the service Sunday night was preached by the Rev. John P. O'Sullivan of Penn Yan. The Rev. Theodore Winterroth of Steubenville delivered the sermon on Monday night.

That's How

They were waiting Paris for the first time and while both were anxious to air their French, each felt that the other's pronunciation was far from the real thing. Having their first meal in the hotel dining-room, the husband corrected his wife who had murmured "Merci to thank somebody." "Don't pronounce it like the English word 'mercy,'" he said. "Listen closely when I tip this fat old waiter."

At the end of the meal he added a few extra francs to the 10 per cent. for service. The waiter bowed. "Thank you very much, sir," he said.
