Mission Sunday Program Planned For Diocese

Pope Pius' Radio Plea Scheduled

Taking on "particular significance this year," the world-wide observance of Mission Sunday will be fittingly celebrated throughout the Rochester diocese, it is announced today by the Propagation of the Faith.

An appeal will go forth from His Excellency, the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, Bishop of Rochester, that the faithful of this diocese on Oct. 20 assist the far-flung mission fields of the Church by their prayers and alms.

Priests of the diocese are being encouraged to choose the missions for their sermons and to offer the Mass for the Propagation of the Faith for the conversion of unbelievers.

A Mission Novena for the same intention will be begun in the schools of the diocese on Friday, Oct. 11. The Mission Poster on display in the churches and schools will be the subject of mission discussion at student mission meetings, High Schools of the city will unite in a public demonstration under the auspices of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade.

Attention is called to the forthcoming broadcast on Saturday, Oct. 19, by His Holiness, Pope Pius XII over the National Broadcasting Company's network at 1:30 to 2:30 P. M. in what is the Radio of the Propagation of the Faith. The St. Rev. Mr. Thomas J. McDevitt (Continued on Page 11)

Churches Bombed In London Raids

LONDON.—(N. C.)—His Eminence Arthur Cardinal Hinsley has just made an extensive tour of the east end of London, visiting churches damaged by German bombs and talking to the persons who have suffered bereavement and the loss of their homes.

The Cardinal says he was greatly impressed by the high spirits of the people who have borne the brunt of the air bombing.

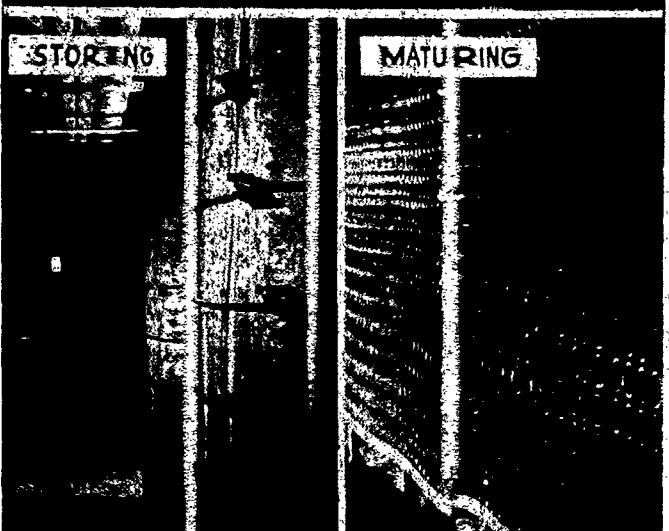

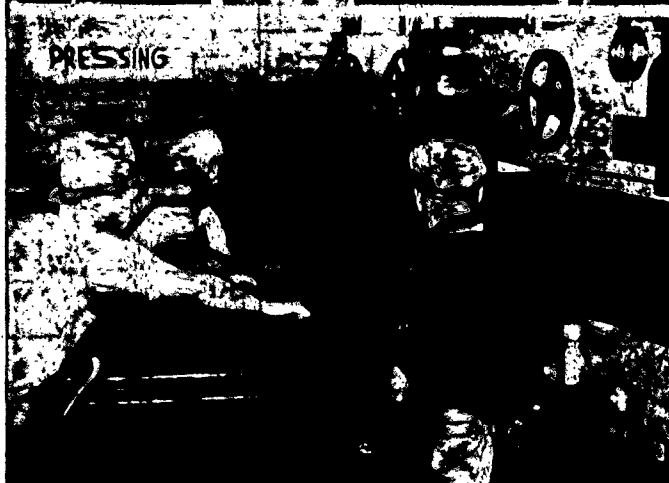

While Confessions were being heard in one church three bombs fell through the roof and exploded in the crypt which was being used as shelter. Several persons were killed and others seriously injured. Historic Crypt Undamaged.

It is not at the moment permissible to give the names of the church, but in order to allay fears for the safety of the pre-Reformation crypt at St. Etheldreda's, Ely-place, here is the best known Catholic church in London. I may state that this church has not suffered any air raid damage.

Pieces of bombs fell through the roof of a North London church during the Confession time. One large fragment fell outside a confessional and burst into the ground. Another piece missed a second priest by a couple of feet.

When the Convent of the (Note: Here the name of the convent was clipped from the correspondent's story by the censor, leaving holes in the wall) fell, was hit by a bomb several of the French nuns were rescued from amid piles of debris.

It is pointed out here that casualties among Catholics might have been much higher in the east end had it not been for the fact that many persons had gone to the Prope-fields of Kent for the annual picking season.
