

A Top-Grain Cowhide GLADSTONE
 $9.95
 Double the joy by adding a ZIPPER BAG $4.95
 Charge Accounts—Phone Store 915—or Mail Order

Do You Need A Loan For Xmas Purchases?
 Our Low Rates Will Save You Considerable Money!
 It Costs You Only $6.84 To Borrow $101.16
 Repayable In Twelve Monthly Installments

Loans of $100 to $2,500 For All Purposes available to those having steady employment. No collateral or co-maker required. We welcome your application.

FREE PARKING AT 101 EXCHANGE STREET

GENESEE VALLEY TRUST COMPANY
 Exchange and Broad
 THE BANK OF PERSONAL SERVICE
 Member of F. D. I. C.

LIKEY'S 271 MAIN ST. E.

IN MEMORIAM
 Eulogy Given At Rites By Bishop Foery

(For Archbishop Hickey—lines suggested by the Mass of December 11, 1942)

Out of the psalms a psalm of life to make
 Whether His voice hath thundered or brought power;
 Out of the psalms His will, His law to take
 Till life hath reached its fullness in this hour.
 When sacerdotal words proclaim in song,
 "Behold a priest who kept the law Most High"—
 Five talents with the other five belong;
 Clothe him with robe of glory; the Lord is nigh!

The Lord hath found him ready when He came,
 Faith and constancy to God's holy name
 His watchword till this day when Saints rejoice.
 The Lord hath received his prayer; his voice
 Now stilled hath sounded praise this, four score year;
 Glory is in His house. There is no fear.

Sister Frances Teresa
 Nazareth Academy

EULOGY AT FUNERAL COLLEGE TRIBUTE

Solemn Rites Honor Memory Of Archbishop

(Continued from Page 1)

Magr John F. Boeppe, Dean of the Mass, the Rt. Rev. Magr. George V. Burns, Subdeacon of the Rt. Rev. Magr. Charles F. Shay, Masters of Ceremonies, the Rt. Rev. Magr. J. F. Grogan and the Rt. Rev. Magr. Joseph E. Grady, Assisting Archbishop Spellman at the Absolution, after the Mass were the Rt. Rev. Magr. William J. Bergan, Chancellor of the diocese as Assistant Priest, and the Rt. Rev. Magr. Edmund Britt of Buffalo, and the Rt. Rev. Magr. Maurice Griffin of Cleveland as Deacons of Honor. The Rev. Edward M. Lyons acted as Cross-bearer, the Rev. William H. McEadden, Book-bearer, the Rev. Edward W. Geick, Candle-bearer and the Rev. Edward K. Ball, Miter-bearer.

Bearers were the Rev. Thomas F. Conroy, the Rev. John B. Sullivan, the Rev. George W. Eick, the Rev. John Conway, V. F., the Rev. Dr. J. Emil Gofel, the Rev. Stephen W. Auwack, CSSR, the Rev. J. H. O'Connell, CSSR, and the Rev. John Seilinger.

More than 200 priests, secular and members of religious orders, and more than 100 nuns from the Congregations of St. Joseph Mercy, Notre Dame, Charity, Franciscan, and other orders and Trinitarian Sisters, together with 250 students of St. Bernard's Seminary were present in the Cathedral.

The Mass was sung by the St. Bernard's Seminary choir directed by the Rev. Benedict Rihmann with Jeremiah Vogt at the organ.

Officials Pay Tribute

Occupying prominent places in the Cathedral behind the relatives were leaders of other faiths and civic leaders.

Bishop Barthel H. Reinemer represented the Episcopal Diocese of Rochester. Frank Garnett, publisher, was in the honorary delegation.

Representing the city were City Manager Louis B. Cartwright, Mayor Samuel B. Dicker, Public Safety Commissioner Thomas C. Woods, Welfare Commissioner Kenneth R. Gault, Present also were Sheriff Albert W. Skinner, James Egan, B. Conrath, Eugene J. Dwyer and other prominent citizens of all faiths.

The procession of Bishops passed through a double line of Knights of St. John headed by Superior President Frank H. Hiet and Colonel Frederick J. Werman and the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus in contrast of Faithful Navigator Herbert L. Tenby. The Knights also formed a double line with an unbroken words as the body of the Archbishop was borne from the Cathedral.

Placed in Crypt

Burial took place in the Bishop's Crypt in All Saints' Church, Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, where Archbishop Kearney imparted a final blessing. He was joined by the other members of the hierarchy, priests and laymen. Archbishop Hickey was placed in the beautiful crypt to be with the great Episcopate of the diocese who preceded and the glorious Bishop O'Hara who took over the reins of the diocese when Bishop Hickey was forced by illness to lay them down.

Out of respect to Archbishop Hickey's memory, all schools of the diocese were closed on Friday and all business offices were closed Saturday.

More than 600 Sisters and students of St. Andrew's Seminary, located at Mass in the Cathedral, Friday morning at which Bishop Kearney presided and the Rt. Rev. Magr. William F. Bergan, Chancellor of the diocese was celebrant. Bishop Kearney paid a touching tribute to Archbishop Hickey and his labors for the Catholic schools.

Assisting in the Mass were, Assistant Priest, the Rev. James C. McEadden, Deacons of Honor the Rev. J. H. O'Connell, Deacon, the Rev. John M. Doherty, Subdeacon, the Rev. Lawrence E. Casey, Master of Ceremonies, the Rev. Edward Lyons.

A Solemn Mass of Requiem was celebrated on Friday at Nazareth College for the Archbishop. Celebrant was the Rev. Leonard A. Kelly, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Edward J. Lutz, deacon and the Rev. Joseph O'Connell, subdeacon. Monsignor Burns delivered the eulogy.

A High Mass of Requiem was celebrated for the Archbishop Monday at Our Lady of Mercy High School by the Rev. Lawrence Casey.

The pupils of Sacred Heart Academy attended a Mass for the Archbishop Hickey last Friday.

A Mass for Archbishop Hickey was celebrated by the Rev. Leo C. McManis, pastor, in St. Patrick's Church on Monday. This church is located in the former Cathedral Hall built under the direction of Archbishop Hickey.

Gear Gifts that are Warm!

Down Filled $7.98 Comforter

Step up folks and meet the world's lightweight heat champ! The biggest dollars worth of comfort ever offered; every one of its 72x84 inches is stuffed filled with 100% down—Beautifully covered with rich rayon taffeta, in choice of multi-color combinations. Second Floor, Monroe.

5% Wool $2.98 Plaid

Over six feet wide and seven and one-half feet long double blanket—It's the kind of blanket you hate to get out from under!—It's warmer than a sweetheart's smile—rich reversible black plaids. Choice of colors, with a teen bound edges. Second Floor, Monroe.

72 x 90 All Wool Solid $7.98

Big 72x90 bed size. 100% all wool. Rich deep tone solid colors in one of the largest selections you've ever seen. Color Blue's, Green's, Rose—all have richly bound satin edges.

* 72x90 TWO-TONE BLANKET $4.00
 * 100% WOOL COMFORTER $3.98

Spread Yourself This Xmas

Over thirty gorgeous patterns! Hand tufted on heavy quilted grounds! Solid colors or multi-colors! Check center, diagonal centers, beautiful border effects. You'll buy them as gifts and then delight to keep them yourself!

$2.66

$4.98

SALES, MAIN FLOOR, MONROE
 BLANKETS, SECOND FLOOR, MONROE

IN MEMORIAM

(Continued on Page 1)

of his priestly heart found some outlet in the conference that he gave to our nuns and to our seminarians. But I am of the opinion that he was never more priestly, more saintly—yes, more persuasive than when he spoke to priests and people from the quiet of his retirement. He had been the center and the core of Catholic life for nearly twenty years in this diocese. Around him great spiritual enterprises were initiated and carried out. His projects were constructed. His was a busy life and, hence, illness would bring greater pain. What did he do under these circumstances? He was, in fact, a priestly and a man of prayer. He was further withdrawn from active life, the more he saw things under the searchlight of eternity. Strange as it may seem, the nearer he drew to his Divine Master, the more souls and the more keen was his suffering. God seemed to have deprived him of the peace which would make him content with himself and give him a restfulness of soul that transcended his physical pain. His visits with God were long and many, and they had as their attraction—the glory of God's Church, the welfare of his diocese, the happiness of his priests and people.

ASKS FOR PRAYERS

From the text which I have chosen for this short eulogy, I would now call your attention to the second part of it where St. Paul, writing to the Hebrews, says: "That every High Priest is chosen that he may offer sacrifices for sin, who can have compassion on them that are ignorant and that err, because he himself is compassed with infirmity." Cold, indeed, would be my own heart and dull my own faith, if I did not emphasize the truth contained in the words, "He himself is compassed with infirmity."

You and I have attended the obsequies of many priests at the Diocese of Rochester. They were the preacher. His faith and his love for the dead obliged him always to emphasize that truth. He found fault with the envy of the laity which made so secure the human frame, and he destroyed the priest into the Kingdom of God beyond the stars, that they excluded him from the charity of their prayers. God might have chosen angels for his priesthood and his episcopate, but he chose men and they are compassed with infirmity.

This is why every bishop and every priest faces God's judgment with a sense of awe and reverence and a sense of awe. At the story of his priesthood and his episcopate unfold themselves, there is bound to rise up the contrast between the resolutions he took on his ordination and his fidelity to what he hoped to do. The nearer one is to the Sun of Justice, the more clearly does he perceive his own failings and shortcomings.

It is this which destroys in the deeply spiritual and religious man any inclination to pride or self-satisfaction. How true this was of Archbishop Hickey! The more he was, who have been his priests and his people, will give him the gift of our prayers and communions and our Masses, so that whatever was the result of human frailty, may be destroyed in the fire of Divine love.

The good priests and the people of Rochester are gathered in this Cathedral today to pay a last tribute of reverence and affection to their departed chief. They know that his work in this portion of the Lord's Vineyard is finished and their emotions are stirred because they know that his voice has gone silent at the hour of death and they know that they shall see his face no more. In a few moments, his dead body will be laid away with the great Bishop McQuaid and the zealous Bishop O'Hara of happy memory. We would remind those near and dear to him, as our Divine Lord reminded Martha and Mary that their brother shall rise again: "For we know, if our earthly house of this tabernacle be dissolved, that we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in Heaven." (Cor. II-V, 1)

PEACE ETERNAL

We would remind you that in a sense, a Bishop may die and yet live on. Like the old Roman poet, he can say: "I shall not all die." The sacerdotal unction received at a Bishop's consecration and that has overflowed on those whom he has ordained and confirmed continues to exercise his life-giving influence, even after his death. Every Mass said, every Absolution pronounced, every Eucharist offered, every Extreme Unction administered by one of our priests who has received his power through our late Bishop, is a continuation of his life and his work in our midst. "I shall not all die."

Archbishop Hickey has gone. In life, he taught us priests, "Carefully study to present thy-

Nazareth College Pays Tribute To Founder

A Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated at Nazareth College on Friday, Dec. 12, for the repose of the soul of the late Archbishop Hickey. The celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Leonard Kelly, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Edward J. Lutz of the College and the Rev. Joseph J. O'Connell of Nazareth Academy. Students served as Deacon and Sub-deacon, respectively. Students of St. Andrew's Seminary assisted during the Mass. At the close of the Mass, Monsignor Burns, rector of the Sacred Heart Pro-Cathedral, gave a short talk in which he eulogized the late Archbishop. The entire student body was present in the college chapel for the Mass.

Sister Teresa Marie, Dean of Nazareth College, issued the following statement following the Mass:

"Nazareth College paid its tribute of reverence and devotion to its beloved founder, Archbishop Hickey, on Friday morning, when the students and faculty assembled to participate in the rites of the Solemn High Mass which was offered in the College Chapel for the repose of the soul of the great churchman.

"Although for some years the condition of the Archbishop's health prevented an intimate personal acquaintance with their founder, the college students knew him as the saintly Archbishop, living in retirement after a full life of devoted and exemplary service to the Diocese of Rochester. They knew of his anxious care for the growth of Catholic education on all levels, for meeting the needs of the growing Church by forming new parishes and building churches and especially of his care for the expansion of the Kingdom of God in the hearts of his fold. They knew him as a saintly man to whom personal holiness was the highest and most complete interest in life.

"Those of the faculty who knew the Archbishop as Father Hickey and as Bishop Hickey, have memories of him as a priest with Apostolic zeal, the affection for his people, especially for the little ones, as a priest and Bishop deeply interested and active in civic welfare, highly respected and loved by the people of Rochester generally."

Ave Maria

Whose with love "Hail Mary" said
 God and Our Lady honoreth
 And thought he came in poverty
 Yet shall there nothing lacking be
 For by that Ave's gracious word
 He minded Mary of her Lord
 And by it, with high Gabriel,
 Right joyful tidings he doth tell
 He telleth Heaven's messenger,
 Carrying peerless gifts to her—
 A golden robe, a cup of spice,
 A gleaming pearl of untold price,
 A crimson rose of loving kiss,
 The melody of saints in bliss—
 These offereth he that Mother
 Kind,
 Who shall a nobler treasure find
 Or ever dream on what bright
 wifes
 His soul recounts Godward, as he sings
 The loveliest of created things!
 M. V. Garland, in "Blackfriars"

Conduct Final Rites For Mrs. Bolger

AUBURN. Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Bolger of 2 North Street, wife of John Bolger, were held Monday morning, Dec. 14, at the home of her son, John Bolger, 10 Mattie St. at 9:30 o'clock, with services at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. At the church a high Mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Joseph McManis. Rev. Dr. W. E. Cowen, pastor of St. Mary's Church, was present at the sanctuary during the church services.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery where the final prayers were offered by Rev. James Cuffney, assisted by Rev. Leslie Whelan. Bearers were John Bolger, Jr., Herbert McGeer, Robert Armstrong, James Dowling, Joseph Burns and John Jones.

self approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly handling the word of God." (1 Tim. II, 15)

Truly may we say those words of St. Paul about him, that he needeth not to be ashamed for he was a workman that rightly handled the word of God. May the angels lead him into Paradise, at his coming, and may the choir of angels receive him and with the once poor Lazarus may he have eternal rest. Amen.

Streets Named Seton And De Paul

EMMENBURG, Md.—Mother Elizabeth Seton, founder of the Daughters of Charity of the United States and St. Vincent de Paul are honored in the renaming of streets here.

Frederick Street has been renamed by the Taxpayers' Commissioners "Seton Avenue," while Green Street is now "De Paul Street" in honor of the great Saint-founder of the Sisters of Charity in France.

Two other streets in the town were renamed at the same time.

Leaders at Mass

London Dr. Beams, president, and Mrs. Stranek, prime minister, of the Catholic Women's Union Mass at St. James' Church, Spanish place, here, to celebrate the 2nd anniversary of the independence of their country.