Seminary Sodalists Take Part In Rite

By RAYMOND KENNY

Joining with all Rochester Sodalists of the Blessed Virgin in honoring her Immaculate Conception at the celebration of a Pontifical High Mass at St. Monica's Church were Sodalists of St. Andrew's Seminary, John Norris as cross-bearer represented St. Andrew's in the richly traditional Offertory Procession which took place on this occasion. The choir composed entirely of St. Andrew's students, included John Mayer, Joseph Leahy, Donald Mulcahy, Daniel Davis, Louis Hohmann, Thomas Gould, Raymond Moon, William Hatt, and John Norris.

At the December meeting of the Mission Society, President Frank Dinolfo announced that the Christmas basket drive is being which is a cooperative effort which has become an annual feature of the Christmas season at St. Andrew's, aims to supply baskets of groceries for the poor in cooperation with the local Catholic Charities organization. It was also noted that the Mission Medical Unit under Joseph Niala's tutelage was faithfully supplying medicinal aid to the missionaries in foreign lands.

In a talk summarizing the activities of the Society, the Moderator, Father Brennan, encouraged the members to read mission magazines such as "The Epistle" and "The Shield". Father Brennan also announced that Father Kelly of Nazareth College has been engaged to speak at a future meeting.

Following the December Mission meeting, Robert Schellen's Social Committee staged a novelty "Stump the Experts" quiz program in which questions of many varied fields of activity were proposed. With John Norris presiding and Thomas Gould, Henry Atwell, Raymond Kenny, and Louis Hohmann acting as the bewildered experts, the program was replete with pleasant surprises. Other luminaries in the evening's limelight were Bugler Robert Keating; an old time barber shop quartet including Joseph Leahy, Martin Brandy, Joseph Niala, and Donald Mulcahy; also Baron Fitzgerald, William Conrad, and Daniel Hogan in pantomime exhibitions.

The Catholic Literature Society under the leadership of Martin Schnorr held its December meeting from 12:30 to 1:00 on Tuesday, Dec. 10. The program featured Thomas Gould's review of "The Duhaon Family" a novel of French writers in New England by Jacques Ducharme. Mr. Gould's report was primarily intended to arouse interest in the book, and to encourage the members to read it, in order that they may be prepared to discuss the salient characteristics of its story and style during the next meeting. Such discussions have been projected as the leading activity of the Catholic Literature group for this year. As a result of them it is hoped that the members will acquire a more intimate acquaintance with Catholic writers and a greater appetite for reading as a whole. Mr. Schnorr brought the meeting to a close after holding a shopetopen forum on the ways of means of circulating the Socially organ, "The Queen's Work".

The Publicity Committee is at this juncture launching the annual advertising campaign to finance the publication of the tender annual. This year as an incentive to more energetic activity on the part of the undergraduate agents, the Committee has authorized a ten per cent commission to the selectors of all new ads. It is hoped that the chief burden of the campaign will be handed during the Christmas recess.

Plan Catholic Press Exhibit In January

ERIE, Pa.—A Catholic Press Exhibit under the auspices of Court Erie of the Catholic Daughters of America will be held in Erie's Public Library January 29 to February 2. The exhibit will show contributions of the American Catholic Press to American life from newspapers to maps. A feature of the exhibit will be special "Children's Hours," in which stories will be told by skilled narrators.

Nazareth College in the News

By HELEN MACCHIA

Nazareth College Debate Club was held on Friday, Dec. 13. The debaters from the University of Rochester were Robert Gribban '42; Eugene Swartz '42. These were on the affirmative side, while the negative was taken by Mary Benish '41 and Nancy Dinen '43. The affirmative side discussed the dangerous position of the United States if a permanent union were not formed. It was stated that the present system of union is all right. There is no need for a permanent union, and that the U. S. should continue with the Pan-American idea. The debate was non-decision.

An old-fashioned party was enjoyed by the boarders on Monday, Dec. 16. This party, though it consisted of many square dances, was really a Christmas Party at which many Carols were sung and gifts presented to the Dean, Dr. Lint, and Father Kelly. While all were grouped around the Christmas tree in the Social Room, refreshments were served. In charge of the party were: Florence McGinnis, general chairman, decorations committee, Helen Garrahan, Mary Jane Fitzgerald, Betty Sullivan, Nellie Gregory, Catherine McCarthy, Agnes Murthy, Lucy Argentieri, Invitations, Anne Murtha, Patricia Barry, Clarise Martens, Florence Sina, Janet Knapp, Helen Collins, Entertainment, Rhos Dever, Connie McCaughy, Ellen Flinn, Mary Foster, Rita Kelly, Peggy Moore, Nancy McCaffrey, Refreshments, Barbara Kelly, Mary Anne Burns, Mary Josephine, Marie, Helen Audler, Helen Hammond, Betty Riley.

The patrons and patronesses of the Nazareth College Dance, to be held on Dec. 27, are as follows: Dr. and Mrs. Aaron I. Abell, Dr. and Mrs. James Eastham, Dr. and Mrs. A. Gordon, Dr. Karl Meng, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Andros, Mrs. Martha Morgan, Miss Rosemary White, Miss Marjorie S. Roehner, Miss Angela Guzzetta, Miss E. Fike, Miss R. Barry, Miss L. Kercher, Miss H. Eberle and Miss J. Flannigan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Weis, Mr. and Mrs. W. O'Brien, Mr. J. Palazzo, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kelly, Mrs. M. C. Green, Mr. and Mrs. F. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. W. Conley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dunigan, Dr. and Mrs. J. Foley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. F. Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. W. Fleckinger, Mr. and Mrs. McNally and Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan.

In the midst of all the Christmas parties, dinners and various other forms of entertainment, the students have remembered that they really would not possess the true spirit of Christmas if they forgot the poor and needy. As a result, they have been plying up and each girl is bringing her own contribution for the twenty Christmas baskets which the College sends yearly to poor families in the city. The list of committees for the Christmas Baskets is as follows: Anna Stahl, Mildred Ball, M. Pallara, Catherine Meisenahl, Irene Wegman, Shirley Lane, June Dispensa, Margaret Volpe, Virginia Bauman, Angelina Comfort, Rita Fischer and Mary Lou Forward.

Christmas Party For Children At Theater

Children in the neighborhood of the Liberty Theater are invited to a free Christmas Party at the theater, Driving Park Avenue on Friday afternoon, Dec. 20 at 3:30 p. m. St. Andrew's Parish CHRISTMAS ACTIVITY

Sodality of Our Lady gathered on Monday evening for the December meeting with the Hall decorated by an attractive combination of a blue background star-studded shrine of Our Lady and brilliantly lighted Christmas trees on either side of the Sodality Banner.

The base of the banner was draped with canned goods brought by the eighty members to be used for the Christmas baskets.

The meeting got under way at eight o'clock in the church with special prayers in honor of the patroness, and at 8:30 the Sodality adjourned to the hall for the business meeting, at which Elizabeth Conestible presided.

Committee reports were given by Rosa Williams, June Williams, Betty Harle, Agnes Stork, Jennie Tibbault, Catherine Heiser, Dorothy Leeb, Betty Damascake, Jarz Gierk, Catherine Baerachmidt and Rita Rainone.

Following the business meeting, the members gave their wholehearted attention to a most enjoyable social program. Under the direction of Dorothy Staub, gifts were exchanged, dancing, including old-fashioned square dances, and games followed.

Committees for the Christmas party included Helen and Marion Weidenhorner, co-chairman; Ruth Ploster and Marion Voelinger, refreshments; Audrey Leeb, Theresa Herderson and Betty Schneider, program.

The Third of St. Andrew's Monthly dances is scheduled for Friday, December 27 in St. Andrew's Hall. Dancing will be from 8 to 12, and music will be provided by the Duke of Edinboro. Tickets are 35 cents per person, and may be obtained from the committee members.

The following have been appointed to take charge of the affair: General co-chairman, Ruth Ploster and Eudie Clifton, co-chairmen, Marie Tarraglia and Joe Soopa, door, Margaret Julian and Jay Kub, floor, Betty Damascake and Fred Clement, publicity, Katherine Mattie and Bob Reinert, checkers, Rosa Williams and Edna Kolb, refreshments, Catherine Heiser and Richard Gale, favors.

FORESIGHTED PLANNING FOR HOME LOANS

Often you see over-zealous, but unskilled, folks tackle the building of a home themselves. When built it looks haphazardly planned. Foresighted, prospective home owners make better plans. They know a home must have a good foundation and be constructed properly, and above all financed soundly. Before they buy or build, they look into the matter of a home loan. They're guided by sound practices instead of emotional appeals about home ownership. It should be obvious that Monroe officials have gained valuable experience in granting thousands of home loans during the past 90 years. By taking advantage of that experience many have saved themselves future worry and strain on their budgets. When Monroe grants a home loan, they take into consideration prospects for your future, your present income, carrying charges, taxes and upkeep. That's why so many who have obtained loans at Monroe tell you home ownership has never burdened their income.
