Church To Combat Foes Of Youth, Says Bishop

NEW ORLEANS (NC)—A drive "directly at the problems of youth in a new day" to resist the "insidious influence of a secular society" is to be made by the Church, the Most Rev. John A. Duffy, Bishop of Buffalo and Episcopal Chairman of the newly-established Department of Youth of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, declared in an address delivered here.

Bishop Duffy spoke at the closing session of the first annual national conference of Diocesan Youth Directors, which was attended by 102 priests from 70 dioceses. Other speakers were the Most Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, Archbishop of New Orleans; the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, and the Rev. Lawrence Schott, of Harrisburg, Pa. Also on the speakers' platform were the Most Rev. Francis C. Kelley, Bishop of Oklahoma City and Tulsa, and the Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez.

The Rev. Paul F. Tanner, of the N. C. W. C. Department of Youth, was executive secretary of the two-day conference. John Zimmerman, WPA Director of Recreation in Louisiana, served as chairman of the closing meeting.

Spiritual Guidance

"We have a set-up," Bishop Duffy said, "to drive directly at the problems of youth in a new day, faith and good works joined together resist the insidious influence a secular society has impressed on the tender mind of youth. Through the sympathetic understanding of priests and through religion, youth shall come out of the darkness into sunshine. There must be a passing on in spiritual guidance from parents to children, from teachers to pupils, from companions to companions."

Declaring that "we have no right in the youth movement unless we elevate it, sanctify it, consecrate it by spiritual motivation," Archbishop Rummel said:

"We have no right in education unless there be religion in it. We have no right in any movement unless we unite men to God. I feel that the laity in looking for the Church to interest itself directly in the welfare of youth. I do not know of anything that has been accepted with greater enthusiasm than the youth movement. Old priests and young priests have worked to provide playgrounds and halls for youth. The purpose of the recreational program is said to be to provide for the leisure time of youth, but it seems to me the youth program takes care of the leisure time of priests, who give to youth the time they could use for rest, diversion or study.

"Religion is taught not only in the church, the sacristy and the confessional, but in places of recreation as well. Through campus and through gymnasium many girls and boys find their way back to God."

Bishop Sheil paid tribute to the memory of Knute Rockne, famous football coach of the University of Notre Dame, and the men he trained, who, he said, "exert the influence of secular universities."

Other Pictures

If you happen to see the new Fane Withers picture, "Youth Must Be Served" (A-1), be sure and arrange for somebody to wake you up for the Catfish number. It features a colored singer, Charles Holland, whose voice really gets you. After the number is over, you can go right back to sleep. Pleasant dreams!

Holland's voice is also heard in "Hullabaloo" (A-1), but this time the picture turns out to be not too bad. The story is rather silly and Frank Morgan's constant titter is a little wearing. But there are excellent specialty numbers profusely scattered through the picture. These include numbers by Holland, impersonations by Morgan, the singing of little Leni Lynn and two songs by a newcomer from the stage, Virginia O'Brien, a comely deadpan who does strange things to songs—things that must be seen to be believed.

"Quix Kids' Become Boystown 'Citizens'

NEW YORK.—Honorary citizenship of Boystown was presented by its founder, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Flanagan, to children appearing on the "Quix Kids" radio program. The presentation followed an address by Monsignor Flanagan, who was a guest on the program.

"At our Boystown council meeting last Monday night," Monsignor Flanagan said, "these fine children on the Quix Kids program were elected honorary citizens of our unique little village. I take pleasure in presenting each of them with honorary citizenship certificates of the City of Little Men—Boystown."

Critic To Write Music For Fordham Production

NEW YORK, — (NC) — Virgil Thompson, music critic for the New York Herald Tribune, will compose the music for a spectacular production of Sophocles's "Oedipus Tyrranus" to be put on as a part of the centenary celebration of Fordham University.

A cast of several hundred Fordham students will perform the play outdoors on the Fordham campus in the original Greek. The date will be sometimes in May.

STUDENTS EDIT WEEKLY PAGE IN SECULAR PRESS

In order that the youth of Spokane might express themselves in print, students of Catholic high schools there convinced the editor of a local secular paper that he should allot them a weekly section. The experiment proved successful and all the high schools of the city are now represented in the Creative Writing Page editorial board, pictured above. (N.C.W.C.)

Aquinas Notches Two More Wins

Two victories were chalked up in the win column by Aquinas Institute cagers over the week-end.

At Sodus on Dec. 20 the Irish we found a strong opposition in the veteran high school team out, won out 26 to 18. Luminary of the encounter was little Davey McNally who at forward captured high scoring honors with seven points and featured in the floor play for the Maroon and White. The VandeVolde brothers featured for Sodus, each garnering five counters.

Returning to the home court, Monday night Aquinas was held in check for three quarters but put on the steam to win over Irondequoit High by a score of 32-24.

Neal Culhane, Pete Ciaccia and Jerry Klein were the sharpshooters for the Dewey Avenue quintet. Hub Bohrer, Irondequoit's left-forward had high scoring honors for the game with 10 points on five field baskets.

One Point Loses For Holy Family

AUBURN With old-man hard luck dogging them, the Holy Family High cagers lost a heartbreaker to St Patrick's High of Syracuse, 24-23, on Fulton Court.

Failure to make good from the foul line cost the Purple Eagles the game. The Auburn five made good only three out of 16 free throws. St Patrick's team had better eyes for the basket sinking in eight points out of 16 tries from the charity line.

O'Hora paced the Holy Family outfit with four field goals Doyle with two neat field goals and Flynn tied for second honors with six counters each. Cole with eight points and McInerney with seven starred for the Syracuse outfit.

Archbishop Dedicates $50,000 CYO Gym

LOS ANGELES.—The Most Rev John J. Cantwell, Archbishop of Los Angeles formally dedicated the new $50,000 gymnasium of the Catholic Youth Organization here, regarded as a model of its kind, before representatives of all the parishes in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Holy scripture, said Archbishop Cantwell, does not disdain the athlete and frequent reference to his achievements are found, notably in the Epistles of St. Paul. The ideal of the best philosophers calls for a sound mind in a sound body and the Church today manifests a particular care over and interest in the development of the youth, His Excellency added.

Discuss More's Purgatory Defense

SAN FRANCISCO — The vigorous defense of the doctrine of purgatory made by St. Thomas More is the theme of a series of discourses by eminent members of the San Francisco Bar Association this month at All Souls' Church.

Speakers include Maurice Harrison, former Dean of the University of California Law School; Dean Edward A. Hogan, Jr., of the University of San Francisco Law School, and Attorney John P. Doran, University of California law graduate who was recently honored by the University of San Francisco with a Doctorate of Law.
