

HAMPER POLAND RELIEF
WILLKIE IN ENGLAND

INTERNATIONAL

Nazis Hamper Papal Efforts

LISBON—(N. C.)—Spurred on by deep paternal affection, His Holiness Pope Pius XII is constantly bulleting an incredible variety of monetary aid and various hindrances, in his efforts to bring spiritual and material relief to the stricken Poles now spread over all the face of Europe.

The Catholic Church in Lithuania

(Continued from last week)

First Missions

Though small, and the youngest of the daughters of the Church, Lithuania was not lacking in the true spirit of Catholicism, and determined to do its share to spread the faith beyond its own borders. Again the Jesuits took the lead in this field—preparing apostles for the foreign missions. Although accurate statistics are lacking as to the number of missionaries engaged in the propagation of the faith, special mention should be made of two outstanding Lithuanian missionaries, Andrew Rudomin and Maximilian Rika. Father Rudomin (1898-1921) was a graduate of the VII and Academy and of a foreign university. The fields of his mission labors were India and China. Among his accomplishments were working in China, the Cause of St. Judas Thimotheus is being promoted, and the private cult to this hero and saintly missionary is spreading. Lithuania, having recourse to him and praying that he may obtain the honors of a saint.

Father Maximilian Rika, after pursuing studies in Rome, labored in Mesopotamia and Syria, where he established a college to train missionaries for Asia. Later he was the Co-adjutor to the Apostolic Delegate to Africa, and died in the city of Khartoum, on the Nile, in the year 1919. His disciples are working as missionaries to distant lands, the gift of faith received by itself at the hands of other missionaries.

Lithuania Rebuffs the Onslaught of the East

When Lithuania entered the Catholic Church she became one of the farthest outpost of Catholic culture, hemmed in as she was by the hordes on the East, and even to the North. Paganism recanted this strategic position of Lithuania, and only in its life in the Catholic Church, Lithuania was entrusted with important missions from the Holy See.

In 1117 we see Pope Martin V investing the Grand Duke Mincovics of Lithuania with the title of "Viceroy in temporalibus" and granting him rights over Russian territories. The Pope assigned to Vitas, the historically important task of bringing about the union of Lithuanians with the Catholic Church. Lithuania performed a great service to the Church as well as to Europe at large, when under Vitas the Great, in 1291, she withdrew the onrush and invasion of the Tartars into Europe, which had it succeeded, would have seriously arrested Western civilization. This defense of the outpost of Europe was blessed by Pope Boniface IX who declared it a holy war and the defense of the Catholic people. At this period of the world's history, Lithuania stood as an impassable barrier holding back the crazy, threatened invasions by the Tartars or other Asiatic into Europe through her doors. This historical event has appropriately been evaluated by later historians, and in recent times (1939), we read in the journal "Jews Posthumous" that for this deed alone the Lithuanian nation and its leader Vytutas has earned the lasting gratitude of all ages.

(To Be Continued)

According To The Doctor

The hygiene of respiration is only one phase of the hygiene of good living. All the methods that are available to help people live their individual lives to the fullest, their strength and health, their own welfare and that of the race are valuable. Cleanliness is a very important, but clean lines of living is more important.

Nearly all people are very careful to wear clothes that are quite clean and neat. Dust or mud upon their clothes is considered slovenly. Many likewise think it of the highest importance to health and refinement to keep the skin clean by regular baths. But there are not so many who think it of as great importance to keep the skin clean that goes into the lungs.

Now and again you will meet a daintily dressed lady or a dapper perhaps who should be horrified at the appearance on their persons of clothes of dust, dirt or smut. But a whiff of their breath reveals a repulsive, sickening odor, indicative of foulness and unclean lungs.

The five degrees of cleanliness are all equally important, cleanliness of the skin, of clothing, of digestive organs, of lungs and of conscience. The last two are in many ways more important to good living than the other three, and so to say, at times the least regarded.

Piecing together highly reliable information reaching here, the following facts are evident:

The Holy See has done much for the relief of Poles under conditions which seemed to make even the slightest accomplishment impossible.

While the Holy See has not had available the funds it would have wished for relief purposes, the limitations put on the Pope's efforts by outside forces have hindered the work at least as much as has the lack of funds.

The beneficent labors of the Vatican in behalf of war prisoners—a service eagerly welcomed by the combatant nations in the World War—has not only not being set aside but are being interfered with, and even rejected today.

Relief work attempted by the Holy See is meeting with considerably more opposition than is controlled by the Nazis than in other places.

Pope Pius XII has already expressed his deep gratitude to the American Catholics, through their hierarchy, have made available to him the major portion of his fund for the relief of the Polish people.

In addition to contributing $50,000 outright to the Commission for Polish Relief, which was able to ship clothing and medicines out of the United States, Pope Pius XII has donated to Stedley, Worcester-shire, two others are dead and one in Ireland. Two sisters became nuns.

Efforts to aid Poles in German-occupied areas have been persistent, long-continued, but largely ineffectual according to word reaching here. Apostles say their proposals of aid by the Holy See have been met continuously with counter proposals that the Vatican join its efforts with some other organization. Vatican officials received from Nazi officials replies that were late in time and dilatory in character. When other obstacles seemed to have been cleared away, such regulations were introduced which, upon study, seemed deliberately calculated to strangle the Vatican relief mission. Despite all efforts, it is unobtainable a definite answer has not been forthcoming.

The Holy See is becoming increasingly alarmed by the steadily deepening hardships facing the Polish people. Attention of the Nazi Government even was called to the issue done by the Holy See in the time of the World War to relieve the suffering of the German people respectively the children.

Learning that the Poles in Polish homes in Poland are being gassed, a central relief organization the Holy See sought to experiment with the means of distributing relief. The organizations was under the control of the occupying authorities but it seemed to offer guarantees of safe operation. A vast amount of money available to this central organization. The Holy See has been known to have extended its thanks to the Holy See but reformers are not available going details of distribution of the relief.

Efforts to Continue Although the fruits of past efforts have been discouraging and the spread of the war in Europe increases existing difficulties, the possible means to get aid to the Holy See is refused not to abandon its labors but to try by every means possible to get the relief of the Polish people. It is known that the merger of the Holy See in Poland is reserved for the occupation authorities and that forced migration of Poles into Germany is "incorporated" in the Reich has added to the suffering. It is as clear from information reaching here that efforts of the Vatican to succor Polish refugees in various European countries is being better than ever. The Holy See has been permitted to do next to nothing in aid of the at least 100,000 Polish prisoners in Germany. The work of religious aid has been impeded in every way possible. The Holy See has been hindered and limited through a small Roman Catholic mission of the Polish Relief Committee of Italy, and the Holy See has been hindered and limited through a small Roman Catholic mission of the Polish Relief Committee of Italy, and the Holy See has been hindered and limited through a small Roman Catholic mission of the Polish Relief Committee of Italy.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Even though the work has been greatly restricted, reports suggest there is evidence of the Pope's paternal solicitude among the Polish refugees everywhere in Europe and it has been acknowledged with full gratitude. Instances of special instances of relief.

Willkie With London Cardinal

In London "to see things for himself," Wendell L. Willkie of Indiana presidential candidate is pictured with His Eminence Arthur Cardinal Hinsley, Archbishop of Westminster, during a visit to the Catholic Cathedral there, recently damaged in an air raid. This is a World Wide radio photo, passed by the British censor. (N.C.W.C.)

Explains Church Attitude On Types of Government

LONDON—(N. C.)—Attitude of the Catholic Church toward different types of Government was explained in an address broadcast over the Vatican City radio station and picked up here.

New Prelate of 5 Priest-Brothers; 2 Sisters Became Nuns

LONDON—A priest in Australia, the Rev. Joseph Rowan of St. Peter's, Rockhampton, who has been named as Domestic Prelate, is one of five priest-brothers, one of whom is working at Stedley, Worcester-shire. Two others are dead and one in Ireland. Two sisters became nuns.

MARSHAL PETAIN VISITS CATHOLIC INSTITUTIONS

VICHEY France—Catholic institutions caring for the poor and unfortunate are special objects of interest to Marshal Petain, Chief of the French State. His various tours of inspection throughout France.

Mrs. Roosevelt Flays Youth Congress

Washington—Mrs. Roosevelt, First Lady, flayed the Youth Congress in a speech before the National Council of Catholic Bishops in New York City.

The speaker noted that in times of distress, many people turn to the Church, and that the Church bears their appeals.

"The Church," he declared, "will never renounce her claim to lead down the principles of Faith and to transmit to the nations her Apostolic heritage. The Church faces to prefer in the method of Government the favored by the different regimes but she will raise her voice whenever men attempt to render her mission impossible. The Church will never permit that the children of the faithful be brought up in an atmosphere of cruelty. She will never submit to the fatal uncertainty arising from the fact that the existence of Divine Law is being denied in the stations of the people so that the existence of strong and weak nations becomes impossible.

"Men must be free and therefore the Church will never submit to the claim that might is right. She will never permit that the truth and loyalty are not violated among individuals and nations. The Church will never submit to any interference in the normal development of the Christian Faith and in the natural rights of man. The Church will always protest if attempts are made to restrict Christian life by a regime devoted to the so-called forces of chaos and she will never abandon her power to teach. She will always protest against the principles of materialism being supposed to be the result of an advance mechanism of war.

The speaker said the Government decision may prove to be a failure and even generations may be raised but the Church will never abandon the mission entrusted to her by the Father. Her chief attention to the fact that in some countries it is sought to make antagonism for the Church with the slogan "Right to work" and "Right to live." The people know only too well the real meaning behind this slogan. Those who for their own personal advantage are attempting to fight religion are not only the speaker said, "since there is no doubt about the issue of any sane-sighted Christianity will win."

ENGLISH CARDINAL SEES NEW HOPE FOR FRANCE

LONDON—The best news of lawning freedom are being received here, declared His Eminence Arthur Cardinal Hinsley, Archbishop of Westminster, in a New Year's message to the people of France. The statement which was broadcast from Britain reads:

"To my friends and brethren in France and to the millions of every part of the world, I send my greetings for the New Year. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days of dawdling freedom are over. The glorious heritage of French faith and culture may be preserved to the world that the tide of aggressive barbarism may be speedily stemmed. This people is the most just and noble of the world and it is our duty to help them in their struggle for freedom and justice. We must be confident that the darkest hour is past and that the days