NCCW 'Call To Youth' Radio Addresses

Criticizes Sports Programs In Which Few Take Part

Athletic systems that afford only the few opportunity for active participation were criticized Saturday by Miss Anne Sarachon Hooley, Chairman of the Youth Committee of the National Council of Catholic Women, in the national "Call to Youth" broadcast.

Miss Hooley's address on "At the Crossroads," opened the fifth annual series of radio broadcasts sponsored by the National Council of Catholic Women and was carried over the Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company.

Citing the changed conditions faced by youth today, Miss Hooley said there has come about "the shifting of accent in the word recreation."

"This change" she said "is more than a phonetic one it is of the essence. How long is it since you have heard anyone test the value of a proposed recreational activity with the question, 'Does it recreate the participant anything of lasting joy or beauty or strength?' If we maintain that we use sports as a means of recreating health and fair play, then we cannot turn them into contests and tournaments which, to be sure gain columns of newspaper publicity and coveted medals, but which really make of the larger portion of the group cheering spectators and occasionally expose even the few participants to undue tension. If we maintain that we use social affairs for recreating joy and beauty, we cannot confine them to machine-made commercial amusements which neither stimulate to beauty nor bring any permanent joy."

Miss Hooley said a youth program, if it is to justify the enormous expenditure of manpower for leadership and finance for carrying it on must be more than sports and parties. It must afford the one great experience of life which she declared and that is "full share in the glory and the damange of the mission of living."

And the extent to which all these other experiences approximate happiness is determined by the role in which they are used for this one great purpose" she added

ROCHESTER DIOCESAN COUNCIL

National Council of Catholic Women

Office: 536 Columbus Civic Centre, 50 Chestnut Street

It was heartening to see the large number in attendance at the Discussion Club Conference held at the Columbus Civic Centre on Sunday last.

We hope that many of our members will plan to join one of the parish clubs.

We quote from the introduction to Father Ehmann's Discussion Club text The Redemption It may have been a long time since you reviewed the doctrine of the Redemption. You cannot be a genuine Christian unless you have its essence by heart Pray to the Holy Ghost each time you attempt to study or discuss it and to Mary Mother of Our Redeemer Who kept all these words pondering them in Her Heart."

We are happy to announce that the Fifth Annual Call to Youth series of radio broadcasts will be carried by our local Station WHAM every Saturday during February, March and April, at 12:30 P. M. E. S. T.

In this troubled age it takes real courage for youth and leaders of youth to carry high standards in all they do "For God and Country." For this reason the theme chosen is "Today's Apostolate—Youth Lives the Twentieth Century following in the footsteps of last year's program "Eternal Heroines."

Youth sponsors youth leaders, youth groups, schools, clubs, parents, teachers, individuals all will enjoy and profit by these broadcasts and are urged to listen.

Once again the Call to Youth will be under the direction of Miss Anne Sarachen Hooley National Youth Chairman, who is slated to give six of the addresses. Members of the hierarchy having a special interest in youth and nationally prominent members will contribute to the series.

Miss Hooley opened the series on Saturday last with an address "At the Crossroads." (See this Page)

Most Rev. Francis Kelley, National Chairman of the Department of Lay Organizations, N.C.W.C. well known author and lecturer, will give the address on Saturday, Feb. 8.

Copies of the talks may be secured each week by writing WHAM.

A Most Reverend Archbishop speaking of N.C.C.W.'s efforts to set standards for a girls' youth program by training adult women sponsors has said "You may know the extent of good which this work will accomplish but remember always that the Divine Friend of Youth and His Little Ones will hold you nearer because of your contribution of these standards."
