the French, had become the most influential man in North America (Parkman's Patriots, Vol. II, p. 301).

Our Seneca and Rochester area history which has been brought out in this series of articles in the COURIER annually since 1933 shows a series of events which culminated in the largest cause of the American Revolution.

Seneca Nation's Destiny

Beyond the thin fringe of settlements on the Atlantic Coast and in many situations more than equal to them in importance, hardly any other region in America made so large a contribution to the shaping of this country as our own Seneca and Iroquois country and the south shore of Lake Ontario.

There were indeed many important battles in the Lake Champlain region of New York, but in most cases the contest had for its background the far trade which went through Lake Ontario and the road to the lands conquered in the Ohio Valley and Kentucky by our ancestors. The fact is that our Seneca and Iroquois history, just as our Seneca and Rochester history, is destined to become the history of the world.

It is the history of the Seneca Indian Company, which was founded in 1812, and which still exists. All the way from the time of the Seneca Indians to the present day, the Seneca and their descendants have been the leaders in the development of the Seneca Falls area.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

The frost sent us messengers
One of her sturdiest sons:
A pine, a hemlock, or a fir,
To cheer God's little ones.

Erect in his green library
He proudly looks about:
"Who else could be a Christmas tree?"
His dark boughs almost shrouk

"I love to wear this finery,
These gold and silver things;
For joy the very soul of me.
Strange wordless anthems sing."

"I listen to the Christmas hymns
Sung loudly by young and old;
I tremble in my brown young limbs
Remembering tales oft told."

"I love to shelter Isakkin,
Joseph and Mary dear.
There was no place to take them in,
With His first smile and roar."

"It does not give me sorry moods
That short my life must be:
Of all the young trees in the woods
I am the Christmas tree."

Father Lusk, S.V.D.
