

Catholic Courier

Published Every Week for March 27, 1941. Volume 13, Number 13. With the approval of the Most Reverend James Edward Kearney, D. D., Bishop of Rochester.

In Every Home

Bishop Kearney has urged that there be a COU-RIER in every home. You have read the slogan time and again. Perhaps you have just passed it over without any thought as to meaning; perhaps you have passed it by as a fine ideal, but one that could never be reached.

Protecting Our Soldiers

To protect our country against all dangers by a defense program that includes the production of war materials on a scale never before attempted, as well as the raising of an army through conscription that will insure the gathering together in camps and cantonments of over a million soldiers, it is a policy that has been approved by Congress and is now the law of the land.

The Mother Of A Priest

The priestly vocation is a special blessing that calls on a man to leave home and parents and kindred. To follow Christ, not as a layman, not as a religious brother, but as one who shares in the priesthood of the Great High Priest Himself.

Jesus Hid Himself

The closing words of the Gospel for Passion Sunday are reflected in the words of purple in which we begin the closing days of Holy Week. "Jesus hid himself." The reason He hid Himself was that He did not wish to put Him to death. Their anger at His direct words to them, upbraiding them for not recognizing His word, led them to pick up stones to cast at Him.

Christian Worship

By REV. BENEDICT EHMANN

Price answers to a recent magazine forum on Why I Go to Church brought comments like these from non-Catholics: "green pastures where one's soul can be restored." The church binds us together at the point where we cannot lay a most sublime. It helps to give me a sane perspective. "It renews my faith in humanity and its destiny." "It gives us a weapon against the powers of darkness coming in on all sides."

Definition! Definition!

By REV. JAMES M. GULLIS, C.S.P., Editor, The Catholic World

When we were students of Scholastic logic the importance of definitions was stressed upon us day in and day out. "You have used such and such word," the professor would say, "now, just what do you mean by that word?"

Challenge To Genius

By REV. DANIEL A. LORD, S.J.

The fight being waged at the present moment between the musicians' union and the concert artists of the country is not altogether a new one. Years ago when I was in college, one of the musical geniuses arising in the country, Kubelik, I think it was, a shy, retiring, unassuming, child violin prodigy, in my native Chicago, the musicians of the city demanded that he join their union.

The Collection Basket Tells

"How's the weather coming, Fran? Think you I have it ready for the next shipment?" "I hope so, Cede. I got a nice one with the light blue. But it doesn't show very much, do you think?" "It's not too bad. Here, give me some of the navy. I'll work on that."

Special features and subscription information for the Catholic Courier.

A Timely Pastoral: A Lenten Pastoral Letter from Bishop Kearney will be read on Sunday, March 30, at 10:00 a.m. in every church.

Planned Parenthood: It is what they profess: Planned Parenthood. In what they mean: Perhaps the planning has been carried to an extreme in the apartment house in New York that has fifty six boys and two babies.

Chances of this disease will do well to fix in their memories the solidly constructive message that will come to them Sunday from the Most Reverend Bishop.

Our Annual Calendar

Assurances of a hearty welcome to our readers: the Annual Calendar book of the CATHOLIC COURIER has gone to press in every part of the diocese. It is a message of good-will and cooperation from the diocese to you.
