By DOLORES HOFFMAN

O Banquet of delight, O Feast of love, O Nuptial Divine,
Come feed my soul upon this Flesh and Blood of Thine.
Take up Thy abode forever within my grateful heart
And shed it close to Thee so it will never more depart.

O taste and see how sweet this Food can be,
The Lord of Hosts descends to you and me.
Therefore we want to kneel and prostrate proclaim
Holy, Holy, Lord of Hosts, blessed be Thy Name.

To Lucille Heinlein was awarded the second prize, in recognition of her splendid work on a set, patterned on The White Hand, which was recently staged by St. Andrew's Sodality.

NATION COMMITTEE ON SHRINES IN THE HOME

"One day in May, three little children were minding their sheep in a village in Portugal (Fatima) To these little ones Our Blessed Lady appeared (as she did to Bernadette at Lourdes) and taught them how to pray the Rosary. You remember how Bernadette, at her first startled vision of Our Lady began immediately to say her Rosary, and that Our Blessed Mother, making the sign of the cross, ran her fingers over her own beads?

This indeed is proof of how dear to her is the recitation of the Rosary. It is her Hall-mark. It is the refuge of saints and sinners, the one sure remedy for foiling the tempter when he feels sure of his prey.

Beginning in our own homes, then extending our efforts to our parishes, our districts or deaneries, and our diocesan councils, we can link up the homes of the nation with shrines and rosaries.

And through the National Catholic Community Service, let us now offer our help to our Bishops, and the Army and Navy Chaplains. We may extend the shrine movement to camps and tents, beginning with our own Catholic sons, relatives and friends, until all Catholic soldiers and sailors are reached.

Every Catholic soldier should go to camp with his Rosary, his prayerbook, medal and scapular. This committee wants especially to start an "army within an army"—the Army of the White Knights of Our Lady, Catholic soldiers pledging themselves to purity.

Don't say it is impossible! Nothing is impossible to Christ and His Blessed Mother. This is Their work—this is our privilege, our opportunity, our duty."

MARGARET BELL HOOD,
National Chairman,
Committee on Shrines in the Home

N.C.C.W. Institute on Industry

From June 15 to 21, 1941, will be held the fifth annual Institute on Industry, sponsored by the National Council of Catholic Women in co-operation with the Department of Social Action, N.C.W.C. and the National Catholic School of Social Service.

This Institute is designed to acquaint young women workers with the Catholic principles which should motivate social action.

Among the topics taken up at the round table discussions are the labor movement, wages, trade unions, social legislation, unemployment. Practical sessions on parliamentary law and public speaking will be included.

Attendants at the Institute will be given a brief history of the labor movement, an insight into the problems of industry, a knowledge of opposing viewpoints—with a view to acquainting them with the facts and teaching them to evaluate problems in the light of Catholic teaching.

While the Institute was founded primarily for young women working in industry, others interested in industrial problems may also attend.

Most encouraging to those in charge of the Institute is the fact that interested individuals and labor and trade unions have provided scholarships. The members of the Committee on Industrial Problems of diocesan councils have stimulated attendance, and have, in some instances provided transportation or formed motorcades.

Co-operating with the Chairman of the Women's Committee of the Ninth National Eucharistic Congress, to be held in St. Paul, Minn., June 23 to 26, we have forwarded to the presidents of our affiliated organizations an invitation to attend the Congress, together with descriptive literature.
