Knowledge Of Missions Given To Thousands By Convention

(Continued from Page 1) Apostolic Delegates to Japan and China and former Bishop of Rochester, in the sermon carried to all sections of the field by amplifiers. The convention was held at the Columbus Civic Center and was the largest ever held in the city. The convention was held at the Columbus Civic Center and was the largest ever held in the city.

Literature Demand Exceeds Supply

Success marking the 12th Convention of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade is evidenced, veteran missionaries believe in the unexpected and extensive demand for missionary literature at the various booths in the Columbus Civic Center exhibit. Booths like those of Extension, the Maryknoll Fathers and the Passionist Fathers ran out of their supply of literature on Saturday. The Redemptorist Fathers' booth reported 4,000 pieces of mission literature picked up in an hour.

Local Dioceses Particularly Interested

Local dioceses were particularly interested in the exhibit of the Sisters of St. Joseph, St. Joseph's Academy, Nazareth College, Niagara University, Nazareth Academy, Our Lady of Mercy High School, Academy of the Sacred Heart, Aquinas Institute, St. Joseph's and St. Mary's Commercial schools. Acting as ushers were students of Aquinas Institute who did yeoman service in giving first aid to those persons overcome by the heat, assisted by the bus drivers who brought the various school delegations.

At the Mass Archbishop Spillane

At the Mass Archbishop Spillane presided at the Columbus Civic Center. The Mass was celebrated by Archbishop Spillane and was the largest ever held in the city. The Mass was celebrated by Archbishop Spillane and was the largest ever held in the city.

Campers Listed At Stella Maris

Welcomed by warm sunny weather, the camping season at Camp Stella Maris opened last Sunday. The present one-week encampment will be followed by two two-week and one one-week periods for boys. The second and third weeks of August were reserved for girls.
