for the Harvest Festival on Oct.

2, 2, 4. This social affair will be held these three evenings in the School Auditorium and according to all indications promises to be very successful. On next Monday evening the group of volunteer workers will decorate the audi-torum and the booths to be used for the festival. The various booths will be in charge of the different societies in the parish, assisted by other individuals who have offered their services. Don't forget the dates -Oct. 2, 3, and 4-and the place -the School Auditor ium at Monroe and Oxford. Come and bring your friends for an en-joyable evening.

The Senior Sodality held its first meeting of the year Wednesday evening under the direction of its new prefect. Dorothy Hughes.

Plans were made for the coming year progresses.

The Junior Sodality will have its first meeting of the season next Monday evening. The meeting will open with devotions in honor of the Blessed Virgin in Church at 8 o'clock followed by the business and social meeting in the Church hall. Any high school girl, especi-ally those attending public high school, who would like to join the Sodality, is invited to attend this
