LITURGICAL BULLETINS FOR ARMY

Students at St. John's University, Collegeville, Minnesota, Benedictine school for men, are busy these days sending Catholic literature to the Army Camps. Over 7,000 copies of a weekly liturgical bulletin, "The Week With Christ," are sent to army chaplains, and pamphlets, cards and literature are sent to St. John's graduates located in various camps for distribution. The program is sponsored by the National Liturgical Commission of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. (N.C.W.C.)

NEWSWEEK

The first ones at our door this morning are those hard-working little missionaries from the Fourth Grade of St. Monica's School. They tell us that they're anxious to find another little Chinese baby and they would like to have him baptized Joseph John. For his godparents they have chosen Fern Haber and Marwin Gollogly. Thank you, boys and girls many times over for your continued interest in the missions. You're doing a swell job.

Peter DeVita of the 5th and 6th Grades of St. John's School, Clyde tells us that the boys and girls of his class are having loads of fun watching their pennies make five dollars. And they are happy when this is accomplished, too, for it means that they can then save another little soul for God. These boys and girls are working hard and we are most grateful to them for little Clare Anne, a Mohammedan baby. Her godparents will be Nicholas Molisoni and Mary Bramer.

The Third Graders of St. Stephen's School, Geneva, are Indian minded this week. They would like to have a little baby called Stephen. You just bet that we can find a little Indian lad for you, and we shall have him baptized according to your instructions.

Just leave it to the Sixth Grade North of St. Andrew's School to come through with a request for Twins, no less. Yes sir, they want little Agnes to be named Joseph Andrew and Mary Bernadette. The godparents of one are Ernest Szymore and Christal Bennett and for the other they have Joseph Baranowski and Helen Thibault. Thank you one and all for your thought of the negro missions.

Lois Axtel, the Third and Fourth Graders little correspondent from St. Patrick's School, Dansville tells us that she and her classmates have worked very hard to ransom a little Indian baby. They want him, named Edward after their good pastor, Father Edward Ball. Good for you, boys and girls. We're mighty proud of the fine work you're doing and God will bless you many times for it.

November was sacrifice month at St. Hyacinth's School, Auburn, and this morning the boys and girls of the Seventh Grade are sending the results of their sacrifices to ransom a little negro baby from Chastang, Alabama. They want him to be called Hyacinth Stanislaus. The godparents are Theresa Wavra and Anthony Guzowicz. They tell us that this is their first ransom and they're most anxious to make many more. Good for you, boys and girls! Keep up now the good work that you are doing.

DUES

We have three schools reporting dues this morning. The first one is Holy Rosary School and they are sending the magnificent sum of $41.51; St. Patrick's, Coring collected their dues on Mission Sunday and they have sent us $114. and three months dues came in from St. John's School, Clyde to the amount of $354. Thank you all for taking care of this little item. You know it helps us immensely in spreading the work of the Association.

SEALS

From the reports received thus far it looks as though this is going to be an all-time record year in the sale of Christmas seals. We have been utterly amazed at the zeal which our boys and girls have displayed in the sale of these seals. We realize that this year more than ever before are the many orphanages in need of a little bit of help at this Christmas season. Our boys and girls have sensed that very need and they in turn have responded most generously.

The first school to send us part of their returns is Holy Family. They have deposited in our lap the wonderful gigantic sum of $100.00. Believe you me, that's going so, and that represents real mission zeal. The next school to report is St. Monica's with another grand surprise of $50.00. Following close on St. Monica's heels are their neighbors from the Immaculate Conception who have done a wonderful job and sold $46.10 worth of seals. Then we have Our Lady of Victory, a small group of boys and girls who sold $4.00 worth. St. Rose School in Lima worked hard to sell $5.00 worth. St. Patrick's, Owego, turned in $5.00; St. Mary's School in Dansville, have a surprise with $12.00; from Holy Trinity in Webster comes $10.25 for this fund. St. Thomas School have $5.00. Sacred Heart in Perkinsville sold $3.00 worth and St. Casimir in Elmira have $10.00 to their credit.

We remind all of you to send us your returns just as soon as you have finished all of your sales. And again we remind you that we have very attractive prizes here at the office and they are for your use. Just call us and we'll send your order out.
