out with no intention other than to quickies and those which started be one of the worst pictures of the year have not been included. The selections are in alphabetical order Here goes

"Affectionately Yours" An excellent cast sorely tried by an obvious slapstick piece, which developed its yarn by means of the most ancient gags that could be culled from Joe Miller's Joke Book and Mack Sennett's 1915 comedies

"Aloma of the South Seas" Dorothey Lamour and Jon Hall in juvenile drivel from the silent days, which tossed in a dirty remark every so often presumably in the fond hope that such cracks brought the picture up to date and made it quite sophisticated.

"Free and Easy" Robert Cummings, Ruth Hussey and, of all persons, Judith Anderson wasted in a would-be sophisticated yawn, whose writer apparently was laboring under the delusion that he is Noel Coward

"Harmon of Michigan" Poor Tom Harmon needed a lot more than football skill to make anything out of the series of cliches that it served as a story for this one Tom seemed pretty embarrassed and so were his audiences.

"Little Men" Louisa May Alcott's popular book given a few Hollywood touches and turned into a drippy drama about a bad boy who turns out to be a very good little chap after all.

"Monster and the Girl" Curious claptrap, sometimes so bad it was funny The story was something that might have originated in a marijuana dream

"New York Town" Fred MacMurray Mary Martin and other popular people as confused as their audiences at this unbelievable, muddled piece which never decided whether it wanted to be an idyll of big-city life in the manner of "Seventh Heaven," or just routine triangle stuff

"Pot o' Gold" Although this pretended to be big-time musical movie fare it wasn't even in a class with some of those little things that are manufactured for the second halves of double bills.

"Son of Monte Cristo" The "son" had nothing in common with his famous father except a name With Louis Hayward posturing romantically and Joan Bennett completely expressionless this "Monte Cristo" piece was a stody meandering mythical kingdom story in which the characters were more interested in getting together for a good talk than in any action.

"Sweetheart of the Campus"—Every other picture on this list is a masterpiece of art when compared to this awful item undoubtedly the most puerile production filmed this year.

And there they are the worst ten You can have them'

Monk Imprisoned In Cell When Bomb Hit Monastery, Rescued

LONDON (NC) A Carthusian monk was imprisoned in his cell at St Hugh's Charterhouse, Parkminster, when a raider's bomb hit the building several months ago it has just become known

The bomb a big one, fell between two cells, one of which was not occupied

Walls of the other cell collapsed but fell together to form a cavity in which the monk remained calmly awaiting his rescuers He was brought out uninjured

SEPARATELY CLASSIFIED

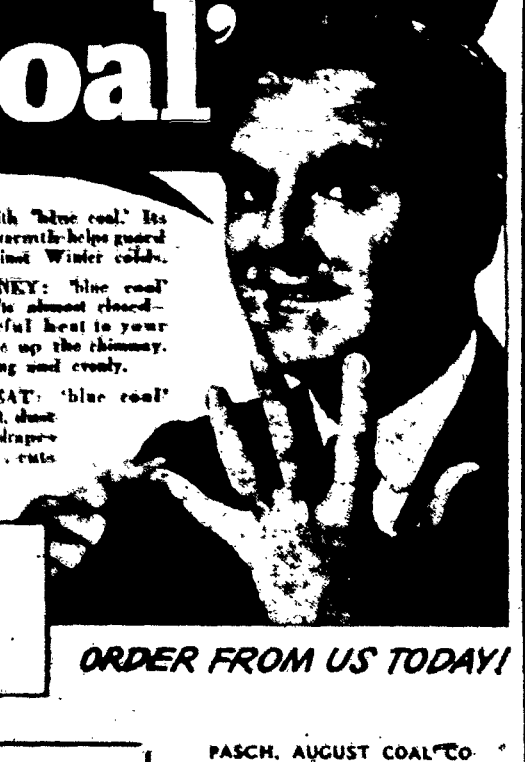
Forgotten Village The "The film conduces to a confusion of spiritual and temporal values. The films with its materialistic emphasis is susceptible of contributing the erroneous conclusions that religion is as futile as superstition

THESE 5 ADVANTAGES SWITCHED ME TO

'blue coal'



1. GREATER HOME COMFORT: 'blue coal' is not a flashy fuel that makes rooms too hot one hour, too chilly the next. 'blue coal' assures steady, even, comfortable heat at all times.

2. MAKES HEATING EASY 'blue coal' needs little attention . . . no constant tinkering with the dampers. And it can be controlled from upstairs with a 'blue coal' Heat Regulator.

3. PROTECTS HEALTH No more uneven heating with 'blue coal.' Its clean, healthful warmth helps guard your family against Winter colds.

4. SAVES MONEY: 'blue coal' burns with drafts almost closed—sends more useful heat to your rooms—less waste up the chimney. And it burns long and evenly.

5. CLEAN HEAT: 'blue coal' gives off no soot, dust or smudge to soil drapes or furniture . . . cuts cleaning bills.
