St. Bonaventure College Activities

ST. BONAVENTURE -- A program of sports activity and physical education was made compulsory today upon the St. Bonaventure College student body for the remainder of the present semester by the Very Rev. Thomas Plassmann, O.F.M., president as a wartime measure.

In compliance with the order, Athletic Director Carroll Mike Reilly, and Physical Education Director Ed Jontos, aided by a committee of student senators have planned a program of a dozen or more varied sports activities. At the same time it was announced by Mr. Jontos that effective immediately, physical education classes will be extended to a minimum of three each week for each student.

Sports activities planned under the "emergency" program are: volleyball, baseball, billiards, table tennis, a-f, track, boxing, wrestling, swimming, tennis and hiking. It is expected that a system of points whereby competition for a class award may be brought about will be devised. In addition, a program of Red Cross sponsored life saving and first aid classes will be offered.

In a statement to the collegians, The Very Rev. Father Thomas added: "The duty incumbent upon every man of taking proper care of his body, and of using every reasonable means toward preserving his health is now taking on an added obligation which arises from the present national emergency.

"Our national needs require sacrifices, and the foremost sacrifice is that every young man fit himself physically to whatever duty his country may assign him. I enlist the co-operation of the entire athletic staff with the request that it organize a program of sports and physical exercise which will afford opportunities to every student in the school, and I hereby make participation in one of these exercises compulsory for each and every collegian."

With St. Andrew Seminarians

By JOSEPH W. DAILEY

Last Sunday the monthly day of recollection was held at St. Andrew's Seminary. The day was composed of two conferences, given by the rector, the Rev. Edward M. Lyons—High Mass at St. Patrick's Church, the recital of the rosary and visits to the Blessed Sacrament.

The day was most fittingly closed with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

It was indeed apropos that the First Sunday of Lent should be assigned for this particular day of retreat since it afforded the Seminarians an opportunity to search their souls and find wherein they had been lacking during the past months and to make resolutions to overcome these faults during Lent, the season of mortification and penance.

On Tuesday, Feb. 17, the three upper years of St. Andrew's had the pleasure of hearing Msgr. Luigi Ligutti who spoke to them on Rural Life. The Monsignor captivated all with his wit and charm and at the same time aroused in the Seminarians an interest concerning the plight of the Catholic Church in the rural areas of this country.

On the evening of Feb. 20, the aulin of St. Andrew's Seminary was the site for the monthly meeting of the Mission Society. John Coonan, the President, presided at the meeting which was well attended. John Connolly of the Fifth Year gave the students sound, solid reasons why there should be a larger native Negro clergy. The orchestra then entertained for a few minutes, and the dramatic Society staged a pantomime. Leo Sullivan and Richard Orlando made this venture a success. The foul-shooting contest was then held. Joseph Dailey emerged the winner closely followed by James Marvin.

A basketball game was played between the the Fifth Year and an All Star Team from the High School Department. The College Freshmen remained the champions of the school by defeating the All Stars, 26 to 28.
