

AT AQUINAS INSTITUTE

By DICK JEFFERY

Modern Education Discussed

Members of the ever-popular Round Table Discussion Club convened at Nazareth Academy on Tuesday last, taking as their topic "Education." Under Claire Russer's gavel, the Nazarenes present offered to give their view-point on modern education, touching especially on the liberal arts. James Whalen presided on the Aquinas side of the round table.

An interesting advantage of the present topic for discussion is that the high school students hoping to attend college may become better acquainted with the educational set-up of American nonsectarian and Catholic colleges.

Juniors Display Journalistic Talent

It has long been a custom at Aquinas that the March issue of the "Maroon and White" be edited by Juniors who are interested in journalism, and hence the March issue has come to be known as the "Junior Issue."

William Kraft of homeroom 316 has been elected Editor-in-Chief of this year's Junior edition, assisted by Joe Cattalini as managing editor. The officers of the staff have promised that they will do their utmost to make the March edition as fine as, if not superior to, the previous issues.

Principal Offers Lenten Masses

In response to Bishop Kearney's plea that each Catholic attend daily Mass during the present world crisis, Father O'Loane has been offering Mass at 8:25 A. M. each school-day in the auditorium, and will continue to do so for the remainder of the Lenten season. The Mass is said for those students who find it impossible to hear Mass in their parish churches on school-day mornings.

Fresh Orators Speak

Enthusiasm over the records of past freshman classes, this year's "fresh" have proved themselves equally proficient in scholarship and athletics, but especially in the matter of public speaking. Proof of this is the annual Freshman Oratorical, held last Thursday, in which the speakers expressed their opinions in informative and humorous topics.

Those chosen to represent their class were Willard Galvin, Joseph Guerinot, Robert McCarthy, James McGurkin, Paul Schnacky, Matthew Van Order and Edward Wayda.

COLLEGE GIRLS TO LEARN DEFENSE OFFICE ROUTINE

CONVENT STATION, N. J.—An office machines course is being offered during the spring semester at St. Elizabeth's College here for students who plan to devote their summer months to volunteer clerical work for the USO, the Red Cross and other defense activities. Students will be taught to prepare letters and use the questionnaires and forms of various defense agencies.

When you retire to bed think over what you have been doing during the day.
