

Marymount Scholarship Open

TARRYTOWN.—The Butler Memorial Scholarship Committee of Marymount College announces the scholarship examinations which will be held at Marymount College Extension, 1027 Fifth Avenue, New York City, on Saturday, April 18, from 10 to 4 P. M.

Two tuition scholarships amounting to $1,800 for four years have been established as memorials to Very Rev. Mother M. Joseph Butler, founder of the College and to Mr. James Butler, first benefactor; a third was founded by the Mothers' Auxiliaries and a fourth, a gift of the Marymount Alumnae Association, is intended primarily for the children of graduates. A limited number of bursaries of smaller value (tenable either in the Faculty of Arts or Science) are also available.

Candidates must satisfy the regular requirements for entrance to the College. They are requested to submit a formal application, an official transcript of the work covered in High School and a letter of recommendation from their principal. Awards will be based on the high school record and recommendation of principal, an English essay, a scholastic aptitude test and general culture test.

In the case of students who live in distant cities, arrangements may be made for school authorities to administer the examination. Principals desiring to hold the examination in their school should apply to the committee before Apr. 1.

All communications should be addressed to the Butler Memorial Scholarship Committee, Marymount College, Tarrytown-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Teacher-Author Awarded 16th Lactare Medal

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — (NC) — Helen Constance White, teacher and author, of the University of Wisconsin, was announced as the sixteenth Lactare Medallist of the University of Notre Dame, the thirteenth woman to receive the Medal, which was first awarded to John Gilmory Shea, historian, in 1832.

In announcing the selection of Miss White, the Very Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., President of the University, said:

"To the gifted and scholarly Helen Constance White, a brilliant professor in English at the University of Wisconsin, and the author of several important literary works, the University of Notre Dame is proud to award the Lactare Medal for 1942. Miss White's literary successes have been remarkable, but none more so than the devout Catholic life which she has achieved and which she admirably exemplifies through her talented mind and heart."

The Medal was inaugurated in 1837 by Notre Dame to give each year some recognition to an outstanding member of the Catholic laity in the United States. It derives its inspiration from the Golden Rose, awarded each year on Lactare Sunday also, by the Pope to a layman.

Books in Constant Demand
Miss White is a frequent visitor at St. Mary's College here, and a close personal friend of Sister M. Madoleva, C.S.C., its president. Her books in the Notre Dame library are in constant demand.

The Medallist was born in New Haven, Conn., in 1896, and was educated at Radcliffe College. After taking her M. A. there and teaching at Smith College until 1919, she went to the University of Wisconsin, where she received her Ph.D. in 1924. She is widely known in educational work, and is a prominent member of the American Association of University Women, the Modern Language Association, the Modern Humanities Research Association, and the American Association of University Professors. She has held several outstanding fellowships at Wisconsin, including two Guggenheim and a Henry Huntington Library award.

Miss White achieved a place in literary world with "The Mysticism of William Blake," in 1927; "English Devotional Literature, 1600-1640 (prose)," which was published in 1931; "A Watch in the Night," considered to be one of her best works, in 1933; "Not Built With Hands," in 1935; "The Metaphysical Poets," in 1936, and "To the End of the World," in 1938. In 1930 she was editor, with F. Foster, of "Victorian Prose."

Following is a list of the women who previously have been awarded the medal: 1832, Eliza Allen Starr, art critic; 1889, Anna Manson Dorsey, novelist; 1893, Mrs. James Sadlier, novelist; 1895, Mary Gwendolin Caldwell, philanthropist; 1907, Katherine E. Conway, journalist; 1909, Mrs. Frances Ternum (Christian Reid), novelist; 1911, Agnes Repplier, author; 1915, Mary V. Merrick, philanthropist; 1921, Elizabeth Mourse, artist; 1927, Margaret Anglin, actress; 1934, Genevieve Garvan Brady, philanthropist; 1939, Josephine Brownson, teacher.

Merit of Prayer

We must never think that by going to Communion for others or by praying for them we lose anything. We need not fear that by offering to God this Communion or prayer in satisfaction for the sins of others we shall not make a satisfaction for our own. The merit of the Communion and of the prayer will remain with us, for we cannot merit grace for one another; it is Our Lord alone Who could do that. We can beg for grace for others, but we can never merit them. The prayer we have made for them increases our merit both as regards the reward of grace in this life and of glory in the next.

NEW IDEAS A Novel Gift Idea FOR HOME-MAKERS

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

New Cushions Come in Pairs
The cost of a handsome pair of cushions will be little if you shop around for remnants of silk or brocade; and for harmonizing crepe or taffeta to make a fold edge as shown here in the sketch. A yard will make two 18-inch cushion tops and the same amount for bottoms. Five-eighths yard of crepe or taffeta will make the fold-around bottom cushions.
