From Rochester's Mission Field

Word comes from the mission band of the Sisters of St. Joseph in Selma telling of the progress in mission work. Early this month we learned "It doesn't look like the Sunny South this morning. A steady downpour has turned to snow. No wonder the colored folks prefer the summer heat. Their houses, if they may be called such, are not made to withstand a low temperature or much rain. Thanks to the help received from the North by way of clothing and money we have been able to supply a bag of coal here and there, along with food to those who are in extreme need.

The number receiving instructions in the Catholic faith is increasing rather than diminishing. There are always some to take the place of those who complete the course of instructions. The immediate causes of this are varied; such as, attending a funeral and hearing the sermon, witnessing acts of charity and the like. But the remote or strong force we attribute to the prayers and sacrifices of our friends in the North. Little could be done without them.

Up to the present our Sodality has been concerned chiefly with the spiritual side. Now the members feel that they should do something in the way of supporting their church. For that purpose a series of social events will have a beginning next week. With a very small admission fee, an opportunity will be given to many to attend.

Of the Stuff of Heroes

An exciting encounter with Japanese gunboats that left him afloat in the China sea for six hours is told by the Rev. Joseph Sweeney, Director of the Maryknoll Leprosy Asylum in South China. Father Sweeney wrote the letter Oct. 15 at the asylum. "Getting back here from Hong Kong was a job. When I finally found a boat I took a big stock of badly needed medicine with me but lost all when the Chinese blockade runner on which I was a passenger was attacked by two gunboats and when the Chinese boat was run down, after a half-hour's steady machine gun and cannon fire, I thought the show was ended and took to the sea.

"But it seems the fellows on the blockade runner had hand grenades with which they upset the attackers and thus were able to beach their boat and make their escape. It took me a six-hour swim before I landed on a desolate island. On the third day I was rescued by some Chinese who hid me until we could get a sampan that ran me home to the leper asylum. Deo Gratias. It seems a miracle to be alive."

Up In Flames

As told us by Father Charles Meus of the Catholic Truth Society of Hongkong: "On the same morning (Dec. 3) began the siege of Hongkong. Aerial torpedoes and incendiary bombs took a heavy toll of lives and property, and there, too, the brave little Catholic Truth Society suffered disaster! The fruit of many years of hard, painstaking efforts, entire stocks of Catholic literature in the Chinese language went up in flames. Ready for publishing, the translation of many modern Catholic masterpieces, were lying in manuscript form on the shelves of the written word. Karl Adam, Fulton Sheen, Hilaire Belloc, Alexis Carrel, Maritain, Chesterton, and others were ready to be garbed in the modern Chinese language for the Catholic emancipation of the five-hundred million hungry intellects of the great Chinese republic. These too were doomed, and went up in smoke in the general holocaust. Great financial support had been expected by the Catholic Truth Society of Hongkong, in its worthy effort to compete with the growing menace of pagan literature translated from the West by the sale in America of the new edition of "China Through Catholic Eyes." I decided to save the life of the ruined Catholic Truth Society of Hongkong with the help of Almighty God by the reprinting of an American edition of the book for sale in the United States." Note:

This edition is now on sale at $1.50 per copy.

Holy Week

We ask all friends of the mission during Holy Week to meditate upon the purpose of Christ's Passion and Death which is likewise the purpose of the missions—the salvation of souls. We ask them to unite their prayers with the prayer of Christ that the salvation which He purchased through the supreme sacrifice may be extended to all men.
