Feast of St. Joseph Marked At Nazareth Motherhouse

The Feast of Saint Joseph, Patronal Feast of the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph, was solemnly celebrated in the Holy Family Chapel in Nazareth convent on Thursday, Mar. 19, at 11 o'clock.

His Excellency, the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, D.D., celebrated Solemn Pontifical Mass, assisted by the following:

Assistant Priest, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart, V.G.; Deacons of Honor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William F. Bergan, Chancellor of the Diocese, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George V. Burns; Deacon of the Mass, the Rev. Francis Hoefen; Sub-Deacon of the Mass, the Rev. Daniel E. O'Rourke; Master of Ceremonies, the Rev. Lawrence B. Casey; Second Master, the Rev. Joseph J. O'Connell.

Acolytes, the Rev. Leo C. Mooney and the Rev. Gerald T. Brennan; Thurifer, the Rev. John E. Randall; Book-bearer, the Rev. Donald J. Murphy; Candle-bearer, the Rev. James F. Slattery; Cross-bearer, the Rev. John J. Malley; Fire-bearer, the Rev. L. Emmet Davis; Gremial-bearer, the Rev. Francis Crisantielli.

The following were also present in the Sanctuary: The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph S. Cameron, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles F. Shay, the Rev. Joseph H. Gafell, D.D., the Rev. Thomas F. Connors, the Rev. George V. Fredmore, the Rev. Francis Laddy and the Rev. John A. Morgan.

The Mass, sung by the congregation of over four hundred Sisters, was rendered in the beautiful Gregorian Chant of the Church; the Proper of the Mass for the Feast of St. Joseph was sung by a Schola Cantorum of about seventy-five voices. At the close of the Mass Bishop Kearney gave a very inspiring and encouraging talk to the Sisters.

In conclusion he said: "At a time when the enmity of the Priests and Pharisees was gradually increasing against her Divine Son, it was Joseph who talked to Mary and calmed her fears and was a source of encouragement and consolation to her. So you, too, share that vocation with St. Joseph, as members of a Community especially dedicated to him.

"You have a similar contribution to make to your little Nazareth where your pupils gather about your desk and where you try to see in each child your responsibility and your life work. This is particularly true in these times of

Son Officiates At Rites For Mrs. Frank

With 18 priests in attendance, funeral services for Mrs. Josephine Sauer Frank, mother of the Rev. William F. Frank, pastor of St. Pius Church, Coboccon, were conducted on Monday, Mar. 23, 1942, at 708 South Avenue and at St. Boniface Church.

Mrs. Frank, widow of the late Theodore Frank, died Mar. 18, 1942, at the residence, 406 Gregory St., at the age of 91 years. During her long life she was a devout Catholic and was an exemplary Christian mother.

Solemn Mass of Requiem was offered in St. Boniface Church by her son, Father Frank, assisted by the Rev. Eugene Golding as Deacon and the Rev. Francis Taylor as Subdeacon.

In the Sanctuary were: the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart, V.G., the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John F. Boppel and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles F. Shay.

Present also were: the Rev. F. Williams Stabder, the Rev. Michael J. Krieg, the Rev. William W. Hessel, the Rev. Arthur F. Florack, the Rev. William M. Cannon, the Rev. Adelbert J. Schneider, the Rev. Raymond W. Lynd, the Rev. John Smith, the Rev. Lawrence Samson, the Rev. Joseph Merkel, the Rev. Raymond Wall and the Rev. Joseph Donovan.

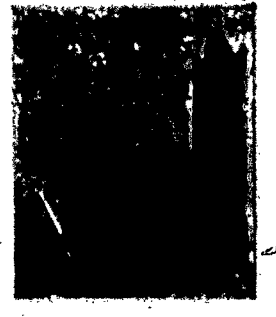

Interment was in the family plot at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Besides her eldest son, Mrs. Frank is survived by one daughter, Mollie; two other sons, George C. Frank of Long Island and Joseph C. Frank of Rochester, and two grandchildren.

stress and trial—and, therefore, we are happy to join with you this morning as you return to your Motherhouse Chapel, in order to gain increased inspiration, that while honoring St. Joseph at this Mass, you may ask of him the strength, power and influence necessary to carry on the work to which you have dedicated your lives."

ington, who play with rich understanding. Kathryn Grayson's singing is again beguiling.

"The Lady Is Willing"—B

Never quite making up its mind whether to be comedy, bedroom farce or mother love drama, "The Lady Is Willing" is an example of a picture that is neither fish, fowl nor good, red herring. Madlene Dietrich plays an actress named Miss Madden—"Madden" with that heavy Teutonic accent—who finds a baby, has her maternal instinct aroused and then discovers that in order to keep the baby, she will have to find a husband. That's where Fred MacMurray comes in. The two stars are able enough. Stanley Ridges is good in a supporting role and Arline Judge returns to the screen briefly and unimpressively. There is also a baby who will cause the usual amount of exclamations and clucking. It's good to see Alice MacMahon again—there's something warm and real about her that has been missing from the screen since she has been absent. One only regrets that her role in "The Lady Is Willing" doesn't give her a stronger part in which to return to the screen. Incidentally—if anyone cares—she's our choice for the much-vaunted role of Pilar in "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

"Valley of the Sun"—A-1

Here's a quote from the review of "Tanya" which appeared in this department last fall: "If we must have Westerns, let's have them all like 'Tanya.' Or we should say, let's have George Marshall direct them all—and they will be pretty much like 'Tanya.' Marshall, who also directed such pictures as 'Dusty Riders Again,' knows the difference between slapstick and good comedy, and he brings it all humor naturally, not at the expense of action."

Excuse it, please. George Marshall's new Western, "Valley of the Sun," attempts the same formula but this time it doesn't come off. The picture is a confused mélange of the usual Western action and comedy that is definitely slapstick—nothing else. Marshall gets little help from his shopworn story and some of the actors—Lucille Ball, James Craig, Dean Jagger or Sir Cedric Hardwicke, in a particularly deplorable role—rise above their material. There are some lively moments—some good fights, a couple of picturesque Indian war dances, a contest for superiority between an Indian and a white man. But a few good scenes don't make a good picture.

"South of Tahiti"—A-2

One would imagine that "South of Tahiti" is meant to be a satire on the Dorothy Lamour jungle princess type of picture. Certainly it wasn't meant to be taken seriously, but it isn't very funny either because the humor is sophomoric horsplay of the most elemental type. Brian Donlevy and Fred Crawford are good actors who are wanted here and the directing will be rewarded with a few glimpses of post-war Jerry Arnolds, who started out as promisingly as John Barrymore's leading lady a few years ago.

(John Springer remembers about the Church's Lathrop-Cary Grant Great Screen, "The House of Wax" on the World's Movie Mystery, program, Monday evening 10:30.)
