As Easter morn dawns, most of the nations of the world will still be at one another's throats, locked in mortal combat. It seems so incongruous that Easter, a feast of joy and peace, should witness a world at war. But such is the fact. And the possibilities of ending this devastating debacle immediately are indeed very slight. From all appearances, it will continue until one or the other has been practically annihilated.

It is a sorry scene that meets our gaze, one that might make even stout hearts quake with fear and despair. However, we might well take our cue from the experiences of the Apostles themselves. That first Easter, glorious though it was, did not mark the end of their personal trials and difficulties. Their hardships were multiplied; their sufferings increased as they went about their work of preaching Christ Crucified. They found real lasting peace only in martyrdom, for as the Master had taught them "you must lose your life to find it."

What that Easter did bring to them was hope and reassurance. The Risen Christ was not only an irrefutable proof of His Divinity but also a promise to men of eternal life.

Though the present, and indeed the immediate future, look black and foreboding, have confidence that the Risen Christ is with you, His friends. In His own good time present despair will give way to an eternity of happiness.

It is our prayer, in union with the Shepherd of Christendom, that Peace be restored and that you may enjoy to the fullest measure the blessings of this Holy Season. A Happy and Joyous Easter.

One extra plane... or extra tank, or extra gun, or extra ship completed tomorrow may, in a few months, turn the tide on some distant battlefield; it may make the difference between life and death for some of our fighting men."
 —PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

BEHIND the guns now blazing to defeat the Axis powers, another war is in full swing—the war of production.

It is this war of production which will ultimately decide the power of our armed forces to crush the enemy; it is this war in which American industry and labor are playing the leading roles. And it is this war that the Rochester Daily Record covers for the people of Western New York.

In addition to many daily defense news stories—official stories originating with the War Production Board, the Office of Price Administration and other Government agencies—the Daily Record publishes a full page of WPD news every Wednesday.

If you want accurate coverage of the War of Production in order to do your part more intelligently, more efficiently and with greater information, you need the Rochester Daily Record now. Why not call the Circulation Department at Stone 2025 today? Regular daily delivery to your office, factory or home will commence tomorrow morning.

Are You A Hoarder?
 We are constantly being warned that it is our patriotic duty to avoid hoarding. To emphasize this point a group of New York stores recently printed an advertisement showing a man and a woman who had hoarded unnecessary supplies being decorated "for distinguished service to the Axis."

Now just as material resources are needed in wartime, so spiritual resources are required to fight the enemies of Our Lord, and we deserve censure if we hoard our spiritual riches and make no attempt to share them with the rest of mankind. The Catholic faith was meant to be shared with others, and one of the most satisfactory ways of doing so is to aid the missionaries in their endless war against the forces of pagan superstition and false beliefs.

You can help them by joining the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, and you will also benefit from the efforts of the missionaries. Like all good soldiers, they are fighting your war too by spreading the true faith and by keeping the enemies of God from making further progress.

Did You Know That?
 The Chinese discovered the circulation of the blood more than two thousand years ago?
 An American seminary recently lost one-third of its student body to the army?
 Queen Isabella first used the "V for Victory" slogan in 1492 to celebrate a victory over the Moors?
 There are 80,000 Catholic Indians in the United States under the care of the missionaries?
 Good Friday is now observed as a legal holiday in thirteen states?

Wouldn't you like to have the peace of mind that comes with knowing that your son in the service is sharing in the 15,000 Masses offered annually by the missionaries? Membership for one year is $1.00. Could you think of a better investment?
