"Christian Heroism"

Rev. Robert J. Martin, O. F. M., of the Catholic University of America faculty, who will conduct a series of six radio addresses over the NBC "Catholic Hour" program, which is produced by the National Council of Catholic Bishops. "Christian Heroism" will be the general subject, beginning Sunday, April 13. (See photo, p. 17.)

Hitler Fears Christian Schools, Asserts Raja

TRICHUR, India. — Paying tribute to the work of Catholic priests and Sisters in the field of education, His Highness Sri Rama Varma Thampuran, of the Cochin Royal Family, declared that Hitler "must have been more afraid of Christian Churches and schools than of the armies of his enemies, because he aimed at the destruction of the former before anything else."

The Hindu Raja made this statement when he presided over a large gathering at Sacred Heart High School here, which is conducted by the Carmelite Sisters and is the largest school for girls in the State of Cochin. The Raja said "the noble labors of religious Sisters in imparting sound instruction to the girls under their care are well-known all over India." "It is only such schools as this that can impart religion and moral character," he added. "Institutions like this conducted by religious devote all possible attention to the proper formation of the characters of those entrusted to their care."

You need not sensibly feel contrition. It is an act of the will, and regards the past and the future; rejects the past, resolves for the future.

were many other and more important revelations. For instance, the question of the Sabbath came up. In the plan proposed by The World Calendar Association, there would be a "Year Day" between the last day of December and the first day of January. It would not be counted as a day of the preceding week, nor the following week.

This necessarily led to the question: Is a seven-day week of divine origin?

And that again led to the question of the change of the Sabbath from the last day of the week to the first. And it had to be asked: who made the change? And by what authority? In the Old Testament the Mosaic law on this subject is perfectly clear as to the day and as to the many details for its observance. There is not a word in the New Testament to show that that law was repealed by Christ or his Apostles acting by His Authority. Yet the Sabbath is observed by all Christians—except the few Sabbatarian sects—on the first day of the week. And no Christian group (except those mentioned) pretend to observe all the details laid down in the Mosaic law. Again, by what authority? These and a hundred other questions were raised by the discussion. One thing was made perfectly clear as a result: That there never had been a more universal, more ignorant, more unchristianized body than that one of the religious world of the sixteenth century, namely, that in the Bible and the Bible alone we must learn what we have to believe, and to do.

Good Vision... Every Person's Right

Blinding sunlight, close printing, dim objects... In time they may impair your vision, lessen your efficiency. Then your Oculist (eye physician) is needed to prescribe corrective glasses. Ask him about our services, the fairness of our prices—the accuracy and precision of the work done by our opticians. Entrusted to us, his prescription will be filled faithfully and well.
