First Communion Dress. They write: "We have formed a mission club called 'The Helpers of Christ' and are offering prayers for the missions and the missionaries. Every day we contribute a little money for the ransoming of a child or for some other way in which we can prove helpful to the missions." Congratulations, boys and girls, and best of success in your mission work.

OUR MISSION SPIRIT

Above all creatures on earth, God loves the children best; From distant lands there are new births—

Longing for peaceful rest. We're doing our best for the missions.

For our little sisters and brothers. As the missionaries are fighting for their souls

We'll adopt them as their mothers.

St. Bonaventure College Activities

ST. BONAVENTURE — Details of a comprehensive war training and civilian morale program, designed especially for the benefit of residents of nearby communities, were announced today by authorities of St. Bonaventure College.

Objectives of the program, which was worked out during conferences among college officials and civic and defense heads of the vicinity, are to assist in the protection of the civilian population by the fostering of civilian defense activities; to provide specialized courses in subjects aimed at filling vacancies in industrial and commercial fields, and to offer the facilities of the college for the use of interested groups in furthering cultural, literary and recreational activities.

At the same time, announcement of the formation of an independent civilian defense council, to function at the college under the jurisdiction of the Cattaraugus County Defense Council was made. With the Rev. Lambert Zaleski, O. F. M., as co-ordinator, the college defense council will provide protection to some 700 in daily attendance or residence here, to assist surrounding communities in the event of emergency, and to provide an instructional center for defense workers of the vicinity.

Under the plan, the college will provide rooms, equipment, and in some cases, instruction for the training of civilian defense personnel. Enrollment in these classes will be made upon certification of local defense council chairmen.

The war-training service is open to all interested persons of the territory who intend to prepare for specialized branches of military service, and for jobs in war industries. It embraces a variety of courses under the history, modern languages, mathematics, chemistry, physics, biology, commerce, physical education, sociology and education departments.

The courses range from theory of radio telegraphy and telephony, mechanical drawing including blueprinting, to industrial geography and contemporary monetary problems. Some of these courses are now in progress, and a new series will open on July 7th. There will be no charges or fees for tuition unless the courses are taken for college credit, it was emphasized.

A variety of cultural and recreational activities will be offered to provide relief from the stress of the times. These will include instruction in clay modeling, oil painting and photography, musical and dramatic offerings, lectures and forum discussions, and use of the Friedsam Memorial Library facilities.

In addition, an Americanization program embracing pre-freshman English, study of the United States Constitution, government, and American civilization, will be available.

The Civilian Pilots Training Course at the college, is now available to all high school graduates of the vicinity. Full information may be obtained from the Very Rev. Celsus Wheeler, O. F. M., co-ordinator. The Olean Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, which Father Celsus commands, is headquartered at the college.
