'The Eternal Gift' Ticket Sale Swells Chapel Fund

Bulk of the proceeds from the advance sale of tickets for "The Eternal Gift," motion picture of the Mass, opening May 14 at the Regent Theater, will be used to build a chapel for St. Joseph's House of Hospitality, it was announced by the Rev. George C. Vogt, diocesan director, Confraternity of Christian Doctrine and spiritual director of the Catholic Workers' Group at a ticket committee meeting, this week.

Mrs. William Croston, general chairman of the ticket committee, urged workers in each parish to contact their pastor to seek cooperation in the advance sale of tickets. Arthur P. Farren, co-chairman, reminded everyone that the opening date of the picture had been set Thursday, May 14, instead of the previous date.

Co-Chairman Farren expressed the hope that every Catholic will see "The Eternal Gift" during its week's run at the Regent and added that he hoped many would bring non-Catholic friends. The picture, he said, would serve as an introduction to the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass to any interested non-Catholic. The fact that Monsignor Sheen explains the Mass throughout the picture should attract many, he said. He announced, too, that the companion feature will be the latest Aldrich family picture.

Mrs. Frances Clare O'Reilly, chairman of the parish ticket committee, named several more parish chairmen. Added to those already announced are: Miss Beth Ekmann, St. Francis of Assisi; Miss Virginia Bogdan, St. Lucy's; Mrs. Barbara McCullough, St. Patrick's; Frank Hauser, SS. Peter and Paul's; Bernard Lancer, St. Mary's; Milton Press, St. Thomas; Miss Mary Agnes Dougherty, St. George's; Mrs. Rosemary Croston, Our Lady of Perpetual Help; Miss Anne Zagreb, St. Bridget's, and Miss Jean O'Reilly, Our Lady of Good Counsel.

Mrs. Croston announced that tickets may be obtained at St. Joseph's House of Hospitality, 402 South Ave.; at Charles A. Tucker's Church Goods Store, 74 East Ave.; at Trant's Religious Artiles Store, 94 Clinton Ave. North; at the lobby desk of Columbus Civic Centre, or from the parish chairman.

A.O.H. Ladies Anniversary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the First Division, Rochester Chapter Ancient Order of Hibernians, celebrated its 47th anniversary on Tuesday, Apr. 14, at a banquet in the Hotel Seneca Palm Room.

Guest of honor for the occasion was the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, Bishop of Rochester. His Excellency spoke at great length about the ballads of Thomas Moore, their value in preserving the beautiful music of the bards of Ireland, and how they thus strengthened the souls and spirit of the Irish in their many hours of adversity. Bishop Kearney further expressed the hope that the Irish-American people of today would continue to honor and live up to their heroic history of unflinching courage in time of distress, by standing firm in the present emergency and coming trials.

Rev. Michael O'Brien, county chaplain of the Hibernians, spoke to the assembled group on the necessity of cooperation and united action among all the Hibernians. He also sang two Irish ballads which more than pleased his listeners.

Other guests included at the speakers' table were Mrs. Wenzel, president of Auxiliary No. 1; Mrs. O'Hara, president of Auxiliary No. 2; Mrs. Shannon, county auxiliary president; Mrs. Ashton, past state president; Mrs. Fenelon, past county auxiliary president; Patrick O'Hara, president of the Men's division No. 2, and John Crowley, past president of the Men's division No. 2.
