Catholic Unity

"No Catholic is ever utterly a stranger to another Catholic," declared the Rev. John W. Lynch, editor of the Catholic Sun, Syracuse, in a stirring plea for Catholic unity.

The common understanding that binds Catholic men together is being exemplified in Bataan and Corregidor, Father Lynch said, where native Filipinos who have received just treatment from an understanding government, men who have felt the influence of Catholic missionaries and training, are fighting side by side with American troops for a just cause.

A return to Christ in international affairs can only bring a just peace, the Syracuse priest said, and "part of that is our job. By living the full life of a Catholic we can make our contribution to the reconstruction of the world. Let us have a crusade whereby men of Christendom are united together to walk in the path of Christ."

At the speakers' table with Bishop Kearney and Father Lynch were Father Casey, B. Edward Shlesinger, first president of the Union; Father Stauffer, spiritual director, the Very Rev. Harry C. Graham, O.P., national director; Frank E. Wolfe, president of the Diocesan Union; Monsignor Hart, Father Flanagan and Norman A. O'Brien, second Diocesan Union president.

National Director Heard

An opportunity for leaders for Christ is furnished in the forthcoming campaign for the Holy Name Society, Father Graham told the delegates. There is a special opportunity because of the impetus given their campaign by the Bishop, he said.

He explained that the Holy Name Society is a confraternity approved by the Church and is a spiritual organization differing from fraternal groups. The Holy Name Society is given the approval of the Bishop, a diploma of canonical erection and members are entitled to the spiritual benefits of the Society when a register of membership is faithfully kept.

The National Director told of the special indulgence granted the Holy Name monthly Mass because it is a public profession to the world that has forgotten God of the Holy Name man's faith in the Redeemer of the world.

Bringing Catholic information to non-Catholics by the correspondence method, the dissemination of Catholic thought by public speaking and corporal works of mercy carried on for unfortunate men were topics discussed in the convention's panel sections.

"Supplementing oral teaching by the letter" is the objective of the Religious Correspondence Course conducted at St. Bernard's Seminary, the Rev. Dr. John B. Reddington explained. Doctor Reddington was presented by Vice-President L. B. Harvey of Lima.

More than 40 groups have heard speakers of the Catholic Speakers' Bureau sponsored by Rochester Council, Knights of Columbus, Dr. James N. Eastham of Nazareth College reported. He offered the services of some 35 speakers to Holy Name branches on the various topics of Catholic living. Vice-President John W. Mattie presented the speaker.

The work being carried on at the House of Hospitality, 402 South Ave., Rochester, by the Catholic Workers, was outlined by the Rev. George C. Vogt, director. Presented by Vice-President William L. Powers, Father Vogt's appeal for co-operation with the House which feeds 150 men daily was well received.

The Union's ten years of progress outlined in the CATHOLIC COURIER, Apr. 30, 1942, was reported by Mr. Shlesinger, first president of the Union and one of its founders. Mr. Shlesinger cited the rallies held in Rochester and Elmira and the successful campaign conducted in 1934 for the CATHOLIC COURIER in his report.

This is a time of "dynamite," Father Stauffer told the delegates and "calls for unity throughout the diocese. Let us Catholic men organize now for the spiritual peace that is to come," was his message.

President Wolfe thanked all who had cooperated in making the convention a success and called for increased cooperation in the forthcoming membership campaign.

The Holy Name Union has 35 societies enrolled with an approximate membership of 18,300. Secretary Lewis A. Schur reported.
