Owego Boy Wins Diocesan Spelling Contest Honors

Captures First Prize In Catholic Courier Sponsored Matches

St. Patrick's School, Owego, won diocesan honors when its contestant, Thomas O'Connor, refused to be spelled down last Saturday and won the first prize after a two and a half hours' ordeal.

Young Thomas O'Connor with 22 other contestants from as many Catholic schools of various parts of the diocese, vied in the diocesan finals at De Sales High School, Geneva, before an audience of friends and teachers.

Doris Konis of St. Boniface School, Rochester, was runner up and won the second prize. Eleanor Chapuis of Holy Cross School, Rochester came in third.

The spelling demons like "sleve" and "reeve" held no terrors for these spelling champions but the "Philippines" and "Portugal" took their toll.

This spelling contest sponsored by the CATHOLIC COURIER under the auspices of the Diocesan Superintendent of Schools proved a very worthwhile innovation according to Father Duffy. Through it a new interest in spelling was stimulated. The experience of the children who, successful in regional contests, made the finals in Geneva, was an important and enjoyable one. Following the contest, the contestants were entertained at lunch at the Geneva Hotel in Geneva.

SCHOOL-WIDE SPELLING BEE PLANNED

Fathers Regan and Murphy have made arrangements for a school-wide spelling bee, to be held at a general assembly later this month. G. and C. Merriam Co., sponsors of the battle of words and publishers of WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY, have donated three prizes for the three top-ranking spellers at Aquinas: one gold, one silver and one bronze medal.

Monday the nine students representing the freshman class were examined as to their spelling ability, and Roger Lafferty of 105 and Salvatore Romeo of 208 emerged victoriously. They will compete with the two winners from each of the sophomore, junior and senior classes. Eliminations in each of the classes are now being conducted by Father Haffey.

ENGLISH SCHOLARS HEAR "MACBETH"

These seniors whom Father Regan teaches are being given an extra treat this week. By special arrangement, Father has been able to procure records of Shakespeare's immortal "Macbeth," with Maurice Evans in the title role, and Judith Anderson as Lady Macbeth.

Father hopes that this unique plan will enable the English scholars to better understand the beauty of Shakespearian drama.

Bison-Wing Rivalry Renews

Baseball rivalry between Rochester and Buffalo will be renewed in traditional intensity at Offerman Stadium, Buffalo, Sunday, May 17, when the Red Wings and Bisons will clash in a double-header for their first encounters of the 1942 season.

Several hundred Rochester fans are planning to go to the Windy City for that double bill, probably by rail. The Offerman Stadium management is endeavoring to arrange a railroad excursion with a special roundtrip rate for the accommodation of Rochester fans. If the New York Central can furnish the service, under existing wartime restrictions, the excursion will become a certainty. The Wings are also scheduled to play in Buffalo on May 19.

The Red Wings will wind up their first home stand of the current International League season with a series of three single games with the Toronto Maple Leafs, May 14, 15 and 16, the last day falling on a Saturday, with the Knot Hole Gang on hand in all their vociferous enthusiasm.

Baseball vagaries, so far, have shown the Red Wings to be a powerful hitting team with the pitchers not doing so well, although the pre-season dope was that Rochester flingers would be getting the headlines, with fence-busting not so much in evidence. However, the Wing batters have been getting extra-base knocks with regularity and the fans are enthused over the punch at the plate shown by the team. It is punch that has given the team a chance to win in almost every game played so far and it bodes ill for the opposition for the remainder of the season.
