Striking Souvenir Book Recounts 50 Years of St. John's Parish

"Fifty Golden Years for God and Country," inscribed in black across the front golden cover atop a pen sketch of St. John the Baptist Church and Rectory, tell of the contents of a handsome souvenir book commemorating the church's Golden Jubilee and issued as the Golden Jubilee month of May came to a close.

A unique design of the American Flag and Cross superimposed on the letter "V" furnished the frontispiece.

The book is dedicated "to the pioneer men and women of St. John's parish who, through their zeal and personal sacrifice, built our beautiful church and bequeathed it to us."

The Golden Jubilee greetings of His Excellency, Bishop Kearney and the striking photograph of the Bishop congratulating the Rev. John B. Stammier, pastor, on the occasion of the latter's golden sacerdotal jubilee in December are prominently displayed.

Historical sketches and articles taken from the Elmira newspapers serve to tell the story of the fifty years of fruitful parish life. Photographs of early parishioners illustrate the historical articles.

Full page photographs of the church's altar, of the outdoor crib which won a city-wide prize and of other interior views of the church enliven the book.

There is a photograph of the present assistant pastor, the Rev. Raymond G. Halsey under whose direction the souvenir book was published and of former assistants, the Rev. Herbert L. Sturmer and the Rev. Jacob H. Kauben.

Prize-winning essays by Mary Catherine Agan and Charles Francis DeJardins are featured with photographs of the winners.

An account of "A Delayed Wedding" taken from the files of the Elmira Telegram, Jan. 14, 1891, provides a rare feature article to round out the book.
