School Leader Extolls Character of Priesthood At Fr. Dailey's First Mass

CORNING—Relatives and friends of the Rev. Donald E. Dailey filled St. Mary's Church Sunday at 10:30 a. m. when the newly ordained priest celebrated his first Solemn High Mass in the parish where he attended school as a boy.

Father Dailey, the son of Mrs. Miles Tierney of Rochester and the late John Dailey, was ordained in St. Augustine, Fla., Saturday, May 29, by the Most Rev. Joseph Hurley, D.D., Bishop of St. Augustine. The Rev. John A. Smith, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Corning, was his sponsor at that time.

Born in Rochester, the young priest, received his early education at schools there and in Corning. Later he took up his philosophical studies at St. Michael's College in Canada and his theological course at St. Bernard's in Rochester and St. Mary's Seminary at Baltimore, Md.

Escorted by Pastor

Preceding the Mass Sunday morning a procession filed from St. Mary's Rectory to the Church which was led by four altar boys bearing the Cross. They were followed by about 60 little white clad boys and girls, another group of altar boys, a delegation from the local Knights of Columbus and finally several priests with the Rev. John A. Smith escorting Father Dailey.

Father Smith acted as assistant priest during the Mass and the Rev. Joseph F. McCarthy, assistant pastor at St. Vincent de Paul's Church, was deacon; the Rev. Thomas C. Kane, assistant pastor at St. Patrick's Church, was sub-deacon. In the Sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. James J. Griffin, pastor emeritus of St. Mary's, and the Rev. John C. Newcomb, assistant pastor.

The Mass of St. Cecilia by Keim was sung with the Proper of the Mass being sung by the Boys' Choir under the direction of Sister M. Helena and the Ordinary by St. Mary's Choir, under the direction of the Rev. John Albert, assistant pastor of St. Mary's.

The Rev. Dr. Charles J. Mahoney of Rochester, assistant superintendent Catholic schools, the Diocese of Rochester, gave the sermon. Father Mahoney is himself a native of Corning and a graduate of St. Mary's School, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah J. Mahoney of this city. Fr. Mahoney's Sermon

Using as his text the words "You have not chosen Me, but I have chosen you, that you should go forth and bear fruit and that your fruit should remain" Father Mahoney proceeded:

"We respect that genuineness of spirit with which the young neophyte prostrates himself on ordination day, and pledges the rest of his life to the service of God and his fellowman, in chastity to God and obedience to his superior, he is honored for his prudent judgment, for his patient spirit in guiding and counselling his flock in their difficulties, for his charity to the poor and underprivileged. And there are few of us who do not cherish in our hearts the memory of the kindness and sympathetic consideration of some devoted priest: who was with us when we were afflicted by the heavy hand of sickness or sorrow.

"The world, too, respects him for his position as a leader of his people as a man of learning and particularly has he endeared himself to our American people in his capacity as a teacher and educator of our youth.

"But as attractive and as admirable as all of these qualities may be they must recede into the background before the real character of the priesthood that gives it its tremendous dignity. For while we honor Father Dailey this morning for his many virtues and his generous spirit, our real purpose is to honor him because he has been supremely honored by God.

Catholic Senators Hit Divorce Bill

OTTAWA—(NC)—A bill which would enable deserted married women to apply for divorce in any Province in which they have been residing for two years or more following the desertion, was vigorously opposed by three Catholic Senators at a hearing of the Senate Private Bills Committee.

Senators Leon Mercier Gagnin, of Montreal; Athanase David, of Montreal, and Louis Cote, of Ottawa, took a firm stand against the proposed change in Decree legislation. As the law now stands, deserted married women may bring suit only in the Province where the husband has been domiciled immediately prior to the desertion.

BISHOP STRESSES DUTY OF NURSES AT GRADUATION

Duty to God, to neighbor and to self were the three duties facing new nurses, the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, Bishop of Rochester, told the 1942 graduating class of St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday night at the Juan Memorial Chapel.

An audience that taxed the capacity of the chapel heard His Excellency admonish the graduates to seek as the ultimate satisfaction in the practice of their profession, the final blessing of God.

"When these girls come here a few years ago as student nurses, one of their first acts was to attend Mass in this chapel," he said. "They learned to love God, to love and through prayer, they learned to cast their burden before God and then go forth with renewed strength.

"If I were to ask to whom do you owe credit for being here tonight I venture to say that each of you would reply, 'To God.' You come here in your hour of trouble and it is small wonder that you wish to return in your hour of success."

The graduates were presented by the Rev. Philip McGlinchey, hospital chaplain. Miss Elizabeth Kathryn Tidious was awarded the Rev. Francis J. Walker Memorial prize for the class member with the highest scholastic average.

Bishop Kearney celebrated Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Mgr. John J. Lee of Corning, the Rev. John A. Smith, Corning, sub-deacon; the Rev. Bernard G. Hanna and the Rev. Leo G. Schwab, honorary deacons; Charles Deo Jardine and Raymond Kimball, acolytes; James Lynch, who gave the prayer; Bishop Kearney, the choir of St. John the Baptist Church, under the direction of Mrs. John E. Hanson, soloist.

The members of the graduating class included:

Grace Buffalo, Rita DeJardine, Anna Marie Holleran, Rose Ledy, Helen Jean McCarthy, Helen House, Virginia Ross, Violet Osborne and Patricia Lynch, all of Elmira.

Encyclical Principle Seen As In Effect In State's New Labor Law

BUFFALO, N. Y.—In the signing by Governor Lehman of the Cullen Bill which gives the New York State Labor Relations Board the right to recognize groups of employees for collective bargaining, the Union and Labor, Catholic paper here, says a further step has been taken to emphasize the Legislature's agreement with Pope Pius XII's principle of the Vocational Group System.

The paper points out that through the efforts of the Rev. Dr. John F. Holland, of the Diocese of Buffalo, Chairman of the Board, the bill makes the principle of employee group an available bargaining agent in dealing with labor's philosophy of labor relations.
