What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The giant four-motored Navy Patrol Bombers are the world's most powerful planes. They cost approximately $700,000 each. The Navy also has a lighter Bomber called the Scout Bomber which costs about $143,000 apiece.

The battle for Britain was almost lost because England had none of these giant four-motored planes with which to fight back. We need thousands of them and they are coming off the assembly lines in our production plants at a high rate of speed today. You can help buy these for your Navy by purchasing War Bonds and Stamps every pay day. Put at least ten percent into Bonds or Stamps and help your country go over its Quota.

alter hurt it for decent managers who want to use it for legitimate reasons.

A year or so ago one manager came in with a few weeks of reviews of old films of merit you were apt to see "Goodbye Mr. Chips" and "Loves of a Bengal Lancer" on one program for instance. He couldn't make expenses.

Now Altobell and his company are trying to buck the bad reputation of their theater, although actually it is an excellent house for a stock company as far as acoustics, staging and seating facilities are concerned. However attendance is beginning to pick up. Altobell's company has become well known in its years in Avon and as long as his capable group continues to present first-rate plays as they have been doing, the venture should end up profitably. The current play "Rope's End" is a psychological thriller by Patrick Hamilton and since the same author's "Angel Street" scored such a hit there has been a revival of interest in the earlier melodrama. For the balance of his season, Director Altobell expects to choose from among several recent popular Broadway plays, with "Children's Hour," "Jaggon," "Watch on the Rhine" and others under consideration.
