

POPE RECEIVES SPANISH FOREIGN MINISTER

VATICAN CITY—His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, on June 31 received in audience Ramon Serrano Suñer, Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Because of the Pope's recent indisposition, the usual external solemnities were omitted. Following a private conversation between the Pontiff and Sr. Suñer, Sr. Suñer was introduced and presented to the Holy Father. The Spanish Foreign Minister wore the insignia of the Grand Cross of the Order of Pius conferred upon him by the Pope.

PRAISE IS A STIMULANT

By FRANCES DUNLAP HERRON

Issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 10th Street, New York City. These articles are appearing weekly in our columns.

Mrs. Nowell had been called to take charge of one of the primary rooms in the local School for half a day so that the regular teacher, Miss Nye, might attend a meeting.

"I've told the children that I would ask you to put on the board the names of those boys and girls who—" began Miss Nye, but just then they were interrupted. "You were going to say," reminded Mrs. Nowell, after the intruder had departed, "that you had told the children you would ask me to put on the board the names of those who prove troublesome."

"No, no, the names of those who are especially good!"

"Yes, of course," Mrs. Nowell answered thoughtfully. "It used to be the stupid, noisy, indolent students who were notified—made to stand in the corner, wear the dance's cap and had their names on the board. But this new way seems much better—now that I'm getting used to the idea."

"I think you'll find it works," laughed the young teacher, pulling on a pretty white hat over dark curls.

About twenty-five boys and girls, six and seven-year-olds, greeted Mrs. Nowell as she stepped into the pleasant, airy room, gay with pictures, flowers and sunlight.

She began at once to work through the program set out on the desk. Having been a teacher before marriage, she did not find this difficult, and the afternoon sped by.

"I hope they were good?" remarked Miss Nye to Mrs. Nowell, when she came in at the end of the day.

"Good as gold! Don't know when I've had such a pleasant afternoon! And—well—I wrote all their names on the board as you see!" added Mrs. Nowell.

Both women laughed. "Your method worked to perfection. All the children were determined to get their names on the board. Not one of them seemed interested in thinking up mischief."

This way of dealing with boys and girls is being used more and more.

That one-time popular book in which Tommy played with matches and ended by burning himself up, and proud Jane stretched her neck so hopelessly she had to have a chair to carry her head on, is quite out-of-date. Now boys and girls are motivated by thoughts of goodness, kindness, heroism and bravery, in story and picture, rather than their opposites.

Celine praise is a stimulant even for adults, with children, if wisely administered, it is decidedly beneficial. As a result of judicious comments on his desirable behavior and his successes, a child's self-respect is built up; the opposite course tears it down. It is wise always to spotlight the desirable rather than the undesirable. For the small child—with his faith in adults and his tendency toward hero-worship—praise is one of the strongest influences either a mother or teacher can use. But it must, of course, be warranted and not overdone. One middle-aged woman, looking back over her childhood, declared that her most vivid memories were of words of praise from her mother. They had lived enshrined as something beautiful and inspiring, all through the years.

By expecting goodness we have already gone quite a long way toward getting it.

A Year's Supply

It costs Eight Dollars to buy the candles used in one of our missionary chapels for a year. These candles are used at Mass and Devotions. Give this gift to a poor mission. They will burn for your intentions.

FATHER WILCOCK, S.J., PLANS FOR RUSSIANS

Our readers are acquainted with the wonderful work of the Jesuit Fathers for the Russian Refugee Catholics in Shanghai.

Father Wilcock, S.J., local superior, writes: "Our work has been blessed and has progressed. Even the municipal authorities, Orthodox Clergy and Russian press show a friendly attitude toward the Church and Russian Catholics."

"Relying on God, I have just opened a resident school for Russian boys. For this reason above all others—to foster vocations for the priesthood. It is at this formative age vocations are manifested."

"Later, as priests, they can be real apostles for the future of the Church in Russia. That is my plan, that should be our common hope."

"In my mission now, I have 70 boys in whom I am especially interested to foster a priestly vocation, or train for Catholic leadership. When the opportunity comes, they will be missionaries for God and His Church among the Russian people."

"But, I have no means to pay the cost of their care and schooling, which is Seven Dollars a month for each one, or Eighty-four Dollars a year. So much can be done for a little, if one has that little. Surely God will bring it to us."

Will you help make workable the apostolic plan of this wise, zealous, saintly missionary?

Please give a donation to train Father Wilcock's boys—and help accomplish this worthy objective for God and the Russian people.

USED AT MASS

Would you give these necessities to a mission chapel?

A Chalice.
Set of Altar Linens.
A Missal.

Set of Vestments.
They can be purchased in the Near East for $45.00. They will be used at Mass every day. Give that combined gift to a needy mission chapel.

OPEN ALL YEAR

During the summer months we receive few donations. People may forget the missions are open and work all year round. Send a donation to our Stringless Gift Fund to aid the poorer of poor mission centers.

MEANS OF SALVATION

July is the month of the Precious Blood. Our Blessed Saviour shed His Blood on Calvary for the redemption of all peoples. But it is terrible to realize that so many have never heard of Christ's Sacrifice and are unable to share in its benefits. Our work is to bring the means of salvation to the poor peoples of the Near Eastern countries.

One of our greatest needs is for chapels where our missionary priests can offer the Holy Sacrifice and preach to the people the truths of the Gospel. Where there is a chapel, there is the beginning of a new parish. You can build a chapel which will meet the needs of a mission congregation for only Five Hundred Dollars.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

What are the Gregorian Masses? When are they offered? How many Masses are offered? These and many other questions are answered in a booklet on Gregorian Masses. Write for a copy and we shall mail it to you.

A MISSIONARY'S WISH

It is fortunate as to have a mission chapel every missionary priest wishes to have in it an attractive Altar. Some of our chapels are without an Altar. You can give one for a donation of Fifty Dollars.

FOR YOUR FAMILY

Enroll your family in our Association. They will share in the Fifteen Thousand Masses offered every year for our members. Family membership offering is $5.00 a year.

VESTMENTS

A nice gift to the missions would be a Set of Vestments. In many of our chapels we have only patched and worn vestments that should be burned. Twenty Dollars will buy a suitable set.

PYX

The pyx is the vessel the priest uses to bring Holy Communion to the sick. Every priest should have one for sick calls. This gift you can give by a Five Dollar donation.

YOU CAN HELP

You can help the missions by joining our association. Dues are but One Dollar a year.
