THESE CHILDREN BENEFIT as will thousands of others from the U. S. Bishops' War Relief Collection listed in Rochester diocese for Sunday, July 26.

My dear People:

Once each year we join the parishes throughout the United States in a collection to maintain the funds of the Bishops' Relief Committee. The committee was organized to establish and maintain a fund for the relief of our stricken brethren throughout the world.

Rather than have one appeal after another on behalf of the suffering countries of Europe and Asia, the "War Emergency and Relief Collection" concentrates all these appeals in one large effort. The receipts are sent to the Administrative Board of the Bishops in Washington and are then allocated to the various worthy causes crying for help. Just recently a large sum was sent through the Vatican to the Apostolic Delegate in Japan to aid the American citizens held captive in the Far East. Another large sum has just made possible a relief program in Honolulu.

The answer of the Bishops of the United States to the appeals coming to them in the name of Christ depends upon the generosity and sympathy of our people. The response of Catholics to appeals of this kind is traditional, and I know that this appeal on behalf of every kind of human suffering will meet with your generous support. While it is true that we are being called upon to make sacrifices in our own country, these sacrifices do not compare with the unspeakable sufferings which this collection hopes to alleviate.

May God reward your generous help and may the contribution of the Diocese of Rochester to the Bishops' Relief Fund be worthy of our sympathetic priests and people.

With a blessing, I am

Your devoted Shepherd in Christ,

James E. Kearney BISHOP OF ROCHESTER

BISHOP EMPHASIZES COLLECTION'S AID TO WAR SUFFERING

An urgent appeal for funds to sponsor the suffering peoples of war-stricken lands comes this week from the Bishops, the Most Rev. James W. Kearney, Bishop of Rochester. The Bishop draws that a collection for the vital cause be taken up at all the Masses in the churches of the diocese Sunday.

This appeal is nation-wide and is made by all the Archbishops and Bishops of the United States under whose direction has been set up the Bishops' War Emergency and Relief Committee. Through this committee serving as a community chest-like organization, thousands of mercy dollars have already been sent to people made destitute by the exigencies of war.

The answer of the Bishops of the United States to the appeals coming to them in the name of Christ depends upon the generosity and sympathy of our people. The Bishops' Relief Committee in his letter. (Text of the letter appears on page 1, this issue).

Confidence that money donated will reach the war-stricken in other lands comes from the fact that the Bishops' Committee in handling the funds. The appeals for aid are pouring in to the headquarters at Washington from various sections of the world. After due deliberation and a study of the needs, the Bishops' Committee allot portions of the collections received from every diocese in the United States to the lands where help is most needed.

Appeals Increase

Last year the Bishops' Committee allotted more than $1,000,000 for war relief abroad and the intensifying of the war which has expanded beyond realization since then indicates the need this year.

Among relief agencies the Bishops' Committee has made available to the Holy See $200,000 to be used to bring whatever amount possible to American citizens held captive by the Japanese.

A sum of $20,000 has been rushed to Hawaii for charitable work connected with the war emergency. To Malta has gone $10,000 more for relief of the heroic suffering people of that much-bombed island.

Aid Sent War Zones

Polish refugees in Russia made miserable by the Nazi invader have been aided to the extent of $100,000. These refugees include 100 Catholic priests trying to minister to 2,000,000 Polish exiles and 25 other

Share-Auto Program Indorsed By Prelate

CHICAGO — The Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, has indorsed the program inaugurated under the Office of Defense Transportation for a city-wide group-riding plan.

In a letter to Philip Harrington, Administrator, Archbishop Stritch said, "Patriotism clearly dictates that we do every needed thing to conserve for our military requirements the stocks of rubber in our country. The plan you outline in your letter is reasonable in the circumstances and will be accepted by the citizens, for they are ready to sacrifice for their country."

The plan calls for "doubling up, walking whenever possible, avoiding all unnecessary trips, shopping by mass transportation and taking proper care of automobile tires."
