St. Rev. Major Donald Waggoner, whose death in England has just been announced, as early as 1884 showed the pioneer interest which led to the establishment of the Society of Catholic Medical Missionaries, of which Father Anna Dougal, M. D., is Superior General with headquarters in Fort Chase, Philadelphia. It was while he was Frigate Apostle of Kalamazoo and Kalamazoo in North India that Monsignor Waggoner realized the need for this type of mission work. (COURIER)
