September and Our Seminaries

SEPTEMBER and our seminaries go together in the diocese. Very early in his episcopate Bishop McQuaid chose this month as Seminary Month. Bishop and priests placed before the people the work of the seminaries, their place in supplying the parishes with priests; the essential part they play in carrying on the affairs of the Church.

There was no St. Bernard's Seminary in those first years of the diocese. There was no St. Andrew's Seminary. But there was in the mind of the Bishop a clear picture of the need for both.

Soon that picture gave way to reality in the opening of St. Andrew's Preparatory Seminary. Its beginnings were humble, its equipment more than moderate, but it had the essentials of a true school for students for the Holy Priesthood, — a zealous founder, a capable faculty, a devoted though small student body, a suitable home for its initial classes.

The fine St. Andrew's Seminary of today with its St. William House to care for out of town boys with its complete course covering four year of high school and two years of college in keeping with Church regulations and also with those of the New York State Department of Education, with its enlarged faculty of Priest-Professors all holding State Degrees, is a far cry from the earliest St. Andrew's.

Great leaders came forth from the earlier school; great leaders shall come forth from the St. Andrew's of today. The names of Hanna, Hartley, Meehan, Curran, Nelligan, Hickey, Wirth, Petter, Gessell, Boppel, are among those on the early list of its graduates. St. Andrew's Seminary was the fulfillment of the ambition in the mind of a young Bishop to set up a school to foster vocations to the Priesthood, to give young men from all our families the opportunity to fit themselves to follow their vocation. Each September the Bishop with his priests placed before the people of the parishes the needs of his new Preparatory Seminary; each September the people gladly and generously arose to the opportunity to support St. Andrew's and its important work.

Many years before the stately buildings of the theological and philosophical seminary were to arise on the Lake Avenue Boulevard, the project was aired yearly in the seminary letter. Bishop McQuaid was pleading for funds each September with which to build, with which to prepare future Professors, with which to carry on toward fruition the dreams he dreamed for the Church in his diocese. September saw the annual Seminary Appeal, September witnessed the annual gift of all the people to the Seminary Cause.

For forty nine years now, St. Bernard's Seminary has been not just a dream, but a living actuality. From this diocese, from dioceses nearby, from dioceses to the North, the South, the East and the West, from Canada, from the islands to the South, from the far-away Philippines, young men have come to sit at the feet of the Masters of Learning whom Bishop McQuaid and his successors have placed in the Professorial Chairs of a celebrated institution. Each year has seen an ever-increasing number of priests graduated from St. Bernard's to go forth as priests of God to labor for the salvation of man's souls.

September has seen its annual Seminary Appeal: September has witnessed the generous response of a faithful people! All the zeal of Bishop McQuaid would have gone for naught were it not for the sacrifice made by every home to support the seminaries. All the ability of gifted professors would have meant nothing without the willing and ready annual gift made by poor people to the Seminary Collection. Many of those early benefactors of the seminaries have gone down to their graves happy in the consciousness that their small means had been employed in the founding and development of those schools for priests, St. Andrew's Preparatory Seminary, St. Bernard's Philosophical and Theological Seminary. Many are still with us continuing with improved conditions their loyal support of these two schools. September calls on them again, September calls on the thousands who have since been added to the Benefactors of our Seminaries.

Seminary Sunday, September 27 in this year, 1942, is making its bow to us now! It is inviting our close attention to the accomplishments of our seminaries, our earnest study of the splendid developments that have been made to bring them to perfection of service, our practical consideration of the needed repairs and the required new work that keeps them up-to-date, our devoted interest in the fine type of modern Priest-Professor equipped with native talent and consummate training in the best schools at home and abroad who are succeeding to the duties and the obligations of the earlier noted faculty of St. Bernard's and St. Andrew's Seminaries. September is making us intensely Seminary-conscious! Our duty and our privilege to support their work is egging us on to action. Our fathers of their limited means have fulfilled this duty, have honored this privilege, over the years. Their good example together with our own love for this cause form the motive for our giving.

September looks to us to help the Seminaries by our gift on Seminary Sunday. The $2.00 annual gift is suggested as a minimum, the gift that should be given by those whose low income makes impossible a larger gift. Better incomes, better financial circumstances, should easily suggest better seminary offerings. September is calling on us for our annual gift to the seminaries; may our response be worthy of the cause and of our deep understanding of its importance.
