

Jesuits Formally Welcomed To Scranton University

SCRANTON, Pa. - Beginning the first year of the University of Scranton under their direction, the Jesuits were formally welcomed to the university by the Most Rev. William J. Halsey, Bishop of Scranton, at the Mass of the Holy Ghost celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral to mark the opening of the current school year.

In his sermon Bishop Halsey paid special tribute to the Jesuits for their work of education through four centuries, saying that "the spiritual exercises of St. Ignatius and the Ignatian theory of education have stood the test of four centuries." "The Ratio Studiorum has endured while fads in education followed each other into the discard," he added. "In the Jesuit system, mind training is not held to be the exclusive function of education. The training of the will must have its proper place. Curriculum and methodology are rated as accidental and changeable according to the exigencies of time and place. The fundamental consideration is the fact that all knowledge imparted must be impregnated with the principles that are Christian to the core. Holding fast to the traditions, the sons of Ignatius today have won and deserve as educators and as missionaries the title, 'The Light Cavalry of Christ!'"

The Very Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., is the new President. Father Nevils was former President of Georgetown University and Rector of St. Ignatius Church, New York. The Rev. Dr. Richard M. McKeon, S. J., former Dean of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, is the new dean. An outstanding faculty of Jesuit and lay teachers has been secured.

Many changes in curricula have taken place in junior and senior years. Scholastic philosophy is compulsory. A new pre-engineering course has attracted many students. The vast majority of a large freshman class is taking science. All programs for the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Reserves are in progress. In addition, a group of enlisted men is taking a course in aviation with flying facilities at Scranton Airport.

Considerable improvements are under way on the university campus. The former Thomson Hospital, a six-story brick building acquired two years ago, will soon afford eight new classrooms, many departmental offices, special quarters for enlisted aviation students, and recreation facilities. The increased demand for science courses makes necessary enlargement of the chemistry, physics and biology departments. The old Freshman Hall will be torn down.

Of special note is the new Jesuit faculty building to be called the Scranton Estate. This mansion with its grounds is the gift of Worthington Scranton, prominent local citizen and industrialist. In the new faculty chapel which is to be strictly liturgical, there is hung a famous Madonna painted by Luitpold Babington Macaulay, former Irish ambassador to the Vatican.

In keeping with the tenor of wartime, the cut system has been abolished. Stricter rules for student discipline are in force. All students are urged to join the enlisted reserves. Physical education is of obligation. Several residences belonging to the university are expected to be converted into dormitories for out-of-town students whose numbers are steadily increasing.

New Brunswick Priest True Host To 36 Boys

ST. JOHN, N. B. - The Rev. Joseph F. Daly, who is establishing a club here for underprivileged boys, gave an organizational party recently for 36, who were given concrete evidence that to him they were not underprivileged - but privileged.

Father Daly supplied everything, including muscle. Transportation was furnished to and from the picnic grounds and the priest loathe to call on any of his guests for assistance, washed dishes, cut wood, made fires, carried water about 100 yards, assembled tables, and swept the pavilion floors in the morning, afternoon and evening. His only helpers were two members of the Sisters of Charity, who did the cooking and serving.

PONTIFICAL MASS WILL MARK CENTENARY

By MARY C. BROWNAN
OWEGO. - The solemn High Pontifical Mass in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of St. Patrick's Parish will be celebrated at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning, Oct. 4. The Most Rev. James E. Kearney, bishop of the diocese, will pontificate and it is expected that former pastors of St. Patrick's will act as officers of the Mass. A large number of visiting priests and many Sisters of Mercy, former teachers in the local parochial school are expected to attend the services.

Weather permitting, a procession of the school children, visiting priests, the bishop and his attendants, will form at the school house and will march to the front of the church and down the main aisle to the High Altar.

Following the Mass a dinner will be served in the Parish Hall for the bishop and visiting clergymen.

During the past summer months, the church property including church, school, convent and rectory have undergone many repairs and improvement, and all buildings have been redecorated and painted. One of the most needed improvements in the church has been the installation of a new lighting system.

Special ushers have been appointed by the Rev. Michael L. Ryan, pastor, to assist the regular ones, to take care of the large congregation which is expected to attend the Mass.

Daniel F. Boland

Daniel F. Boland, a former well-known resident of this village, died unexpectedly, Saturday night at the Johnson City Hospital. Mr. Boland lived in this parish for several years, removing to Johnson City a short time ago. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Georgianna Boland and Mrs. Truman Burnell both of Johnson City, four sons Harold Boland and Donald Boland, both of Owego, Gerard Boland of Endicott and Paul Boland of Torrington, Conn.

The funeral was held in St. James Church, Johnson City, Tuesday morning, and burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Owego.

Religion Classes

The religious study club meeting for the students from St. Patrick's Parish who are attending the Owego Free Academy, began for the fall and winter term on Monday evening. These pupils meet each week in the Parochial school for further religious instructions under the direction of Father Hynes. It is the aim of those directing these classes that all pupils attending the high school make a special effort to be present each week for instructions.

The Family 'Eats'

Did you ever see the amount of food needed to supply a family of five put up in a single pile? It is a rather breath-taking sight. Even a child of five needs around 1,300 pounds of food during the twelve months, including milk. Father and the hard-working boys will consume almost a ton each. The total yearly needs for that family of five will weigh over 8,000 pounds. Careful planning and conscientious effort are needed if this great supply of edibles is to be available when the family needs it.

The following estimate of the yearly food needs for a family of five worked out by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Home Economics, gives a clear picture of the quantity and variety of foods needed if the family is to maintain itself on even a moderately adequate basis.

Milk	1 525 quarts
Butter	125 lbs.
Other fats	175 lbs.
Lean meat, poultry and fish	675 lbs.
Eggs	125 dozen
Dried beans, etc.	63 lbs.
Tomatoes and citrus fruits	500 lbs.
Green or yellow vegetables	800 lbs.
Potatoes	800 lbs.
Flour and cereals	1,800 lbs.
Other vegetables and fruits	1,800 lbs.
Sugar	200 lbs.

One of the advantages of living on a farm is to reduce the need for cash by producing many of the things the family needs at home. Whatever the market price of a pound of meat or a bushel of potatoes or a quart of milk, there is the same nutritional value in these products. A store of home-preserved food is a savings account on which the interest rate is never lowered.

If 675 pounds of meat are needed as part of a moderately adequate yearly diet, plans must be made for producing, feeding and preserving a couple of husky calves or a fat yearling, two or three hogs, perhaps a lamb or two, and some chickens. Fitting livestock into a food supply program is an effective way to keep both the farm and farmers fit.

Conservation That Is Gay and Smart
It is not necessary to make our economies so dull and dreary that they depress every one. Let's make them so gay and attractive that they give us a lift and a bit of a challenge too. This old rocker is an example.

A saw and a wood chisel were used for removing projections and rockers. An old quilt was found for padding and the feathers from an old bolster were packed into a thick seat cushion to raise the seat which has been lowered by removing the rockers. This required a yard and a quarter of ticking. Four and one-half yards of inexpensive chintz in a bold, modern pattern did the rest. Total cost for an up-to-date chair less than two dollars, that will serve well for the duration.

Note: This remodeled chair is from BOOK 5 of the series of booklets that are offered with these articles. In this book an old-fashioned couch is modernized; end tables from spoils; new uses are found for a camp stool; other types of chairs are made over; and a love seat is made from an old car seat. Also patchwork designs and directions for designing and making hooked rugs. To get a copy of BOOK 5, send 10c with name and address to Mrs. Spears, Drawer 130, Bedford Hills, New York.
