Priests To Accompany Hollanders To Russia

NEW YORK—Entire communities from the Netherlands are to be removed to Nazi-occupied sections of Russia under the German-proclaimed Netherlands East "Company" resettlement program, according to advices received here by the Netherlands Information Bureau. Numerous priests, the advices state, will accompany the forced emigrants.

Although it is asserted by the Nazi invaders that the Dutch colonies in Eastern Europe will be established by "volunteers," there are many signs of the unwillingness of the population to cooperate, the Netherlands Information Bureau says, asserting that the main purpose of the program is to furnish labor for the Germans.

The inclusion of priests in the "voluntary" emigration, the Bureau statement said, "would seem to be a further proof of their apostolic zeal."
