

Have Prize Winning Essays In Community Chest Contest

Here are two prize-winning essays in the contest conducted in conjunction with the Annual Community Chest campaign in Auburn.

The Community Chest In the Present Emergency

By MILDRED QUINN

10th Grade, Central High School

Never before in Auburn has there been so much need for everyone to give and give wholeheartedly and generously to our Community Chest.

I say "our" because it is as much yours and mine as it is the next fellow's. This has always been a worthy cause and now in the present conflict and with the world in chaos it is even more important.

When every day men and women are leaving to serve our country to the utmost of their ability, their cry is to "keep the home fires burning," and "keep 'em rolling." That is our job, we that are left. Let us not fail.

But how can we keep the fires burning when in our midst there are those who have nothing to keep the fires burning with—those who are ill and have not the money to be cured—those who are tired and worn down and have nothing to build them up? It is our duty and responsibility to help them to keep themselves. Give them a chance to do their part. Help them to keep fit and be comfortable.

This year there are many familiar forms missing from our streets, many empty places at our dinner tables. They who have heard the call and answered it gave it other years and we must make up for what they would have given. We must give and give some more. How do we expect to win "over there" and "down under" if we do not keep strong, well and unified here on the home front?

Other calls have been sounded and we have answered, now let us answer this needy and important call, which we hear so pleadingly.

By giving what you can you will aid such organizations as the Girl and Boy Scouts, the Mercy and City Hospitals, the Family Welfare Society, the Y. M. C. A. and many others.

My Heritage To Live and Give

By JANE MOENEN

10th Grade, St. Alphonsus School

My parents were born in America, thus giving or handing down to me the greatest inheritance on this earth. Inheriting so very much I owe much to this country, and more directly to the community in which I was born and live.

In the town in which I live, all of the people are not endowed with wealth. There are many who are very poor, and in our democratic way of life, they must be taken care of as wisely and justly as possible.

Community Chest was established so that different branches of the government and charitable organizations would not be overlapping in their work and the needy would receive more proportionately their share. If it were not for the Community Chest, many organizations would each have to bear the expense of a separate drive for funds for the individual needs. As it costs much less to have one large campaign once a year than it does to have a number of small ones the Community Chest saves the various organizations of the city much money.

By giving what one can to this one campaign for the Community Chest, the hospitals are enabled to help back to health many who otherwise might die. Children are aided by good food and fresh air at the Health Camp at Edgewater, and many elderly ladies are having a surcease from anxiety at the Home.

At the Cayuga Home for Children, many homeless and destitute children are given for the first time a realization of home life at the Cottage Homes go to school and are fitted for life by the normal upbringing they receive.

There are many other organizations working with efficiency from the money allotted to them by the Community Chest such as alleviating sickness or poverty, helping to keep up the morals of the people

HOLY FAMILY HIGH-LIGHTS

By Mary Ellen Fitzgerald

Excellence Published

ALBANY — On Monday, Nov. 2, the students of Holy Family High School received with enthusiasm their copies of the school paper, the Excellence. This was the first issue of the paper for the '42-'43 term.

The Excellence is edited by Robert Doyle and his assistants Marylyn Barry, Esther Weller, and Margaret Doyle. James O'Byrne serves as sports editor and Joseph O'Donnell as circulation manager.

Failure Overcome

True men without merit, like others with approval or real life, but they are able to change the reverse into a gain by the temper with which they meet it, and they use that gain as a stepping-stone whence they spring forward to greater nobility of character and greater success in achievement.

and in this way aiding them to live in our democratic way of life. True living and giving means life and in gratitude for our way of life in this community let us give that others may live.

Book Flays Nazi War on Church

WASHINGTON — The German Nazis are engaged in "a systematic effort to root out and destroy the Christian religion" in a "massive effort to substitute a material and bloodthirsty paganism for the Sermon on the Mount," it is alleged in a booklet which has just been published here by the National Catholic Welfare Conference. The booklet has been translated into English, Spanish, Portuguese, German, French and Italian.

entirement against A-G-Y HOD, and his followers, based upon the following declaration from the Holy Spirit to the Church, speaking by His Holiness Pope Pius XII, Cardinal Illiano, called Primate of Poland, and members of the hierarchy of Germany, and members of structure and other sites of persecution given by apostles in the Nazi invasion.
