Navy Chaplain Lauds Home Training of Men At Sampson

By MILDRED JENNINGS

GENEVA - About 150 mothers and fathers of the school children of St. Stephen's parish and other guests attended a meeting of the St. Stephen's Parent-Teacher Association on Thursday, Dec. 10, in the parish house when Lieut. E. B. LeGault, USNR, Senior chaplain of the United States Naval Training Station at Sampson was guest speaker.

Lieutenant LeGault is a member of the Jesuit Order and before volunteering as a chaplain he was a teacher at Santa Clara University, San Francisco University and Gonzaga University. Before coming to Geneva he was on the staff of Seattle College, the only co-educational Jesuit college in the United States.

The program was opened with selections played by the St. Stephen's School Band under the direction of the band master, C. H. McCumber. The band which was organized only a few years ago under the sponsorship of the St. Stephen's Parent-Teacher Association gave a fine program.

Outlines Training
Lieutenant LeGault opened his address by outlining the life of a naval recruit from the time he arrives at Sampson to the time of his assignment to a group or battalion. He outlined the drills, tests and specialized training which are given the men.

The chaplain particularly emphasized the fact that a man's education is not stopped when he enters the Navy. On the contrary, he is given specialized training which will serve him in good stead when he returns to civilian life.

"A young man who joins the Navy is not wasting his time," he said. "His educational life is not ended. He is examined and his aptitude for special work is considered," he remarked.

Lieutenant LeGault then expressed his gratification with the group of men now in Sampson. Their fine characters and high moral standards reflect the splendid home training they have received, he said. He believes that much of the credit for this goes to the mothers and to the Parent-Teacher organizations. This training serves them well in their Navy life.

The Navy chaplain tries to take the place of mother and father as adviser and consultant to the boy in the Navy, the chaplain stated. Already he has interviewed a large number of young men who have come to him for advice and help.

It is an inspiring sight to see the way in which these boys work and show their strength of character. They have a definite idea of right and wrong. There is no surface religion here, but a deep faith. Religion means much at this time to all men, he emphasized.

The Navy chaplain stated that men of the Catholic faith at Sampson are nearly 75 per cent.

Before concluding his talk, the chaplain related several interesting stories of Navy life.

During the brief business meeting Mrs. Arthur T. McAvoy, president of the P. T. A., made several announcements.

Mrs. Clifford Orr, program chairman, and Mrs. John Hart, hospitality chairman arranged the meeting.

Grab Holland Church Bells For Nazi War Industry

NEW YORK. The confiscation of all church bells in Holland to be melted down for the German war industry has been ordered by Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Nazi leader, according to information received from The Hague via Zurich, Switzerland, by the Netherlands Information Service here.
The dispatch quoted Anton Mussert, Dutch Nazi leader, as saying: "This is a perfectly natural measure. A thousand years ago, in times of war church treasures were used for the protection of the country."

Holy Father Ends Morning Walks

LONDON. Now that the summer recess is over the Holy Father has given up his morning walk in the Vatican Gardens of an hour or an hour and a half—the only concession he allowed himself and which was itself sacrificed on Wednesdays for the popular audience. The Pope now has only the afternoon walk.
