

20th Anniversary of Fr. Staub's Death To Be Marked Sunday By Verein Groups

The Catholic Central Verein of America and National Catholic Women's Union, Rochester Branches, will hold a joint meeting in St. Joseph's Hall, Sunday afternoon, Jan. 17, at 2:30 P. M.

The main business of the meeting will be the commemoration of the 20th anniversary of the death of Rev. Jacob E. Staub, Father Staub died Jan. 15, 1923.

Both branches will meet at Holy Redeemer Church for the 11 o'clock mass, which will be offered, at the request of the two branches, for the repose of the soul of Father Staub. Each year during the past twenty years the members of the two branches have assembled at Holy Redeemer Church to attend Mass offered for Father Staub.

At the meeting in the afternoon a review of the life of Father Staub will take place. Members, both men and women, who were associated with Father Staub for years, will outline the qualities which made him such an outstanding priest, and which endeared him to all who came in contact with him.

Those who knew Father Staub, both men and women, are invited to join with the two branches in the tribute to his memory.

Labor Pioneer

Halifax, N. S. John T. Joy, 72 pioneer in organized labor and workmen's compensation and prominent Catholic layman, is dead. He was organizer and first president of the Halifax local of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Mr. Joy was the founder of workmen's compensation in Nova Scotia, and one of the original members of the Nova Scotia Workmen's Compensation Board. He inspired provincial legislation for workmen's compensation and for setting up the board. For 20 years he was the sole representative of labor on the board.

Resolution Recalls Deeds Of Late Father Staub

The following resolution adopted by the Catholic Central Verein, Rochester, Branch at the time of Father Jacob Staub's death was adopted Jan. 21, 1923:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom and in His unsearchable ways to take unto Himself our beloved Father Staub, and

Whereas, Father Staub's life for the past twenty years has been closely connected with this Federation, now therefore, be it

Resolved, that the Rochester Diocesan Federation of Catholic Societies in monthly meeting assembled express and it hereby does express its deep appreciation for the self-sacrificing devotion of Father Staub to this Federation. No meeting of the Federation during the last twenty years has been held at which Father Staub was not present, if it was possible for him to be present. At no meeting of the Federation did he fail to give to the members a talk upon some vital question before the public mind. To him the members looked for guidance at all times in matters affecting Catholics, and from him at all times they received that guidance which has made the Rochester Diocesan Federation one of the foremost federations of the Catholic State League of New York State.

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Federation and also a copy of the resolution be sent to the sister and the brothers of Father Staub.

With the members of the Federation, Father Staub attended the state conventions of the Catholic State League and the national conventions of the Central Verein. At these meetings, it was always a pleasure for Father Staub to hear the work of the Rochester Diocesan Federation spoken of in terms of the highest praise. At these meetings, too, he came into contact with Catholics from every part of the state and from every part of the United States. His worth and his value was appreciated by these men, and he soon became a national figure in Catholic affairs, so that today there is hardly a part of the United States where Father Staub is not known in Catholic circles.

Father Staub was a close student of Bishop von Ketteler. Like Bishop von Ketteler he believed that if the Federation was to accomplish its real work, it must not confine its activities to the meeting of the Federation and to its members, but that it must bring the work of the Federation and the Catholic principles there learned to the workshop to the office and to the homes of their fellowmen. He was also a firm believer in that saying of Pope Pius X, that it is only necessary for Catholics to make known their principles to have them accepted, and with this thought in mind he always encouraged the delegates to the Federation to spread everywhere the Catholic principles.

Father Staub has gone from our midst, but his spirit will remain with the Federation. It will remain to spur us on to continue the work that he outlined for us and to help to achieve the purpose which he worked with us to achieve. May his example ever be the guiding light to point out the way to this Federation in all its activities.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Federation and also a copy of the resolution be sent to the sister and the brothers of Father Staub.

Paratroop Training Taken By Chaplain John Maloney

Now a first class paratrooper, the Rev. John S. Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Maloney, 457 Livingston St., Elmira, returned home for a brief furlough, following the completion of the five preliminary jumps from various altitudes, required to earn that distinction. Father Maloney also paid a brief visit to his friends in Blessed Sacrament parish, Rochester, where he was assistant pastor for six years.

Member of what is considered one of the toughest and most essential branches of the armed service, Father Maloney's five jumps are no mean accomplishment. Veteran instructors of paratroops have stated that a renewal of courage is necessary for each new jump, whether the tenth or the hundredth: "you can't help thinking a little, every time, about what might happen," one of them said. Perhaps that is one reason why qualifications for paratroopers are so stiff; why they are the highest paid unit in any army in the world, why they believe theirs to be the best outfits in the United States Army.

Unspoken axiom of paratroopers is short and to the point, "Paratroopers never surrender." Preparation backing that slogan consists in stiff training, the best equipment, rigid discipline, and that fine relationship between officers and men that is fostered by mutual respect. No instructor asks a jumper to make a march that he is unwilling to accompany, to make a jump where he does not go first.

The paratrooper is a one-man regiment, arsenal, restaurant and medical corps. Captains omit the arsenal, attending to the spiritual needs of the men whom they accompany in the dangerous flight to earth. Paratroop priests share in the privilege of every chaplain to say three Masses on Sunday, daily Masses are offered in any and all places.

Father Maloney returned on Wednesday, Jan. 6, to Camp Benning, Ga., where spring maneuvers are due soon. Afterwards, he will return to Camp Toccoa, Ga., for further courses.
