Pontifical Mass Opens Dedicatory Rites Of New St. Mary's Hospital

summon in His instruction that we must deny ourselves, take up our cross and follow Him.

The Bishop said that we had gathered in the Chapel to render thanks to God in this jubilee of the efforts of months. Special thanks were due, he said to the Sisters, Doctors of the Staff and nurses who have worked so courageously and loyally despite the obstacles and difficulties inherent in the old building.

It was their self-sacrifice and devotion which were the greatest factors for success in the fund raising campaign of last year. Because these groups, in the opinion of the Bishop, had devoted themselves so unflinchingly to their vocation the public was prepared to duplicate St. Mary's Hospital that they might serve the sick more efficiently.

Bishop Kearney also paid glowing tributes to that great army of workers in the campaign who tramped the streets of the city and from door to door sought gifts both large and small to assist the Sisters in their efforts.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the Bishop and clergy went in procession to the new hospital in which its corridors and rooms and its most divine intervention upon the efforts of the doctors and nurses in their care of the sick.

During the afternoon and evening large groups toured the hospital marveling at its magnificence and the efficiency of its new facilities and equipment. Everyone agreed that the efforts of the past months were amply repaid.

The Most Reverend Bishop in his remarks paid tribute to Mr. Flynn and Mr. Meagher particularly. When faced with government restrictions and priorities on essential materials they went on courageously and their devotion to duty was everywhere evident in the new hospital.

The Bishop recalled Mr. Daniel Meagher's statement which seemed to be the guiding motto of all in any way connected with this effort: "It was always with a prayer on my lips and the realization that I was doing nothing for myself but building for God. Because of this success seemed to come where it was least expected."

prominent citizens attending the Diamond Jubilee of the Hospital was conducted in a three-day ceremony opening Sept. 8, 1932.

Divine guidance and the intercession of their patron St. Vincent de Paul, and their foundress, Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, whose cause for canonization is being advanced, has been united by the good Sisters to their own self-sacrificing labors and their abilities to get others to cooperate with them in carrying on their work.

In the new and modern hospital, the traditions of the Community of the Daughters of St. Vincent de Paul will be carried on in new and greater successes.

Pope's Christmas Message Mutilated By Axis Press, Swiss Paper States

GENEVA.—The Axis press badly mutilated the Christmas Message of His Holiness Pope Pius XII, omitting all mention of his condemnation in persecution and the glorification of the State, the newspaper People, of this city, declares.

The Geneva newspaper comments on the complete spiritus harmony between the utterances of the Pope and the Archbishop of Canterbury despite the difference of their religious opinions.

Imitate the Duck

St. Francis of Assisi tells us to imitate the duck. It dives into the water, comes up and shakes off every drop of water from its back. "Do that with your troubles and worries," urges the Saint, "and you will find by their very nature they will fly off your back, too."

A TRIBUTE—

MORE than eight decades ago the resolute, practical determination and unflinching faith of the Sisters of Charity brought St. Mary's Hospital into being.

Now, their tireless, selfless devotion to suffering humanity is to be more effectively implemented by plans of theirs which date back ten years, and which have surmounted one difficulty and disappointment after another. . . . Seven years of depression and the terror and turmoil of the Spanish war which St. Mary's has seen, only delayed a little, but did not deter, the fulfillment of their grand plan to render this community greater service (in step with its ever-increasing needs) through larger and finer physical facilities, for that service.

Now these plans come to fruition with the dedication of St. Mary's magnificently equipped new home. . . . and especially, now is a most fitting occasion upon which to pay tribute to the engineers, the contractors, and the workmen whose skill and experience, and whose unselfish spirit of cooperation have brought this fine new building into being—AND to the Sisters of Charity, without whose compassion and foresight there would never have been this great new St. Mary's Hospital Building. . . . nor in fact any St. Mary's Hospital at all.
