'City Of No Conversions' Becomes Spiritual Harvest As Missioners Aid Refugees

CHUNGKING China - Working among homeless refugees in Wuthere have found that their work has resulted in the conversion of secres of the inhabitants.

When the Japanese advanced in Ewangsi, thousands of refugees poured into Wuchow. The city give an old school building and a large campus for harboring the waves of refugers that poured in The mission gave a bit of travel superses to the needy moving on. To those who wanted to remain in. Wuchow, the priests lent a little capital to get them started.

One day one of the missioners suggested that the refugees form an evening class after their work wits over to study the catechism. Nuarly 46 joined the class and 24

5,000 CONVERTS IN CHINA. LEVK 2 KERRKA REZLITE MVK

NEW YORK.-Nearly 5,000 converts in 1942 despite the war is the record of the Maryknoll Fa-thers in South China, the Rev. Thomas V. Kiernan, Assistant General of Maryknoll, reveals in a statement reporting the present conditions of the Society in China. The 150 missioners who remain at their poets in South China carry on even more fruitfully than before, he reported.

"Despite the fantastic inflation, Father Kiernan says, "Maryknoli Missioners continue to train and send out their native priests, Sis-ters, catechists and school teach-
