Pilot Asks Mother To Skip Presents, Have Masses Said

LOS ANGELES.—"We can skip the presents from now on. Just have some Masses said for us." No message was ever more welcome to the mother of a hero son than this received in a letter from Capt. Robert B. Sullivan, three times decorated for his exploits in the Pacific, by Mrs. Margaret Sullivan, of Los Angeles, a member of St. Brendan's Parish.

Serviceman Takes His Religion Seriously 'Composite' Shows

WASHINGTON, D. C. The average American youth in uniform "takes his religion seriously," is anxious to widen his knowledge of it, and is devoted to his family back home, Daniel Cuthane, national USO program committee chairman and native of Rochester said this week.

Cuthane, who heads the National Catholic Community Service program department, said his "composite picture" is drawn from a study of reports of the 3,250,000 servicemen visiting USO clubs and centers monthly.

"If it is possible to draw a composite picture of the American servicemen, based on what he sends from the USO, I would describe him as having a keen mind, boundless curiosity, eagerness for knowledge, and a mind teeming with ideas on all sorts of subjects," declared Cuthane.

Writes Home "He can indulge in serious thought at the same time reveal a rich store of humor and a wholesome love of play. He can juggle with abandon and also sit back and absorb Bach or Beethoven. He likes the company of a pretty girl, but he wants a brain behind the pretty face. He takes his religion seriously and is devoted to his family back home, as is evidenced by more than 1,000,000 letters written on USO stationery by men at our clubs every month."

The American youth of the present generation, asserts Cuthane is "ambitious to advance himself, he studies subjects related to his service and attends classes at USO clubs in languages, mathematics, history, religion and other subjects.

POP'S PEACE POINTS New Orleans.—"Pope Pius and His P. Proposals" is the theme of the annual series of addresses sponsored by the Metropolitan Council of the Archdiocesan Council of Holy Name Societies.

It came as a result of the receipt of Christmas gifts for her son and other members of the flying command with which he is fighting in the Pacific and which has seen action on widely scattered fields since Pearl Harbor. It meant, she said, that her son and his comrades, almost all of whom he reports to be Catholics, were thinking of things eternal much more than of creature comforts.

Captain Sullivan, who was reported in newspaper dispatches to be the hero of one of the most remarkable air encounters in the Pacific last October, when his Flying Fortress encountered 56 Japanese planes and knocked down four of the enemy to come out unscathed, has been successively awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Oak Leaf Cluster and the Flying Medal.

Attributing the fearlessness of his companions to their fervent religious zeal, Captain Sullivan writes of the devotion which his comrades have to the Blessed Mother. Whenever possible they received Holy Communion daily, he says.

A graduate of Loyola High School here, Capt. Sullivan majored in military tactics before he won his degree at the University of California in Los Angeles. Upon graduation he joined the Army Air School at Kelly and Randolph Field in Texas with the rank of lieutenant.

Meets MacArthur

Milwaukee. The Rev. August F. Gearhard, who holds a Lieutenant Colonel's commission, has been named Senior Chaplain of the American Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific, according to word received here. Father Gearhard is in charge of all Chaplains in the "Somewhere in New Guinea" area. A native of this city, Father Gearhard in his last letter mentioned meeting and talking for 15 minutes in the Pacific war zone with another Milwaukeean—Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

A Year's Record

At the Executive Committee Meeting of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference held on Jan. 6 the following report for 1942 was submitted by the Executive Secretary.

Last year Hope, the official magazine, made its appearance in February under its new name. From the initial press-run of 2,000, it went up to 5,000 for the December number. Russell Lord says of it: "The text is full of vitality and a sort of earthly life eternal, as well as of spiritual matters; and the spot decorations that you have lately developed are in complete accord."

A weekly Rural Life Column is released and is used regularly by forty Catholic weeklies.

Over 30,000 pieces of free literature were distributed in the form of folders, pamphlets, and books. Approximately 75 small groups of priests, seminarians, study clubs, Catholic and non-Catholic, availed themselves of the Library Service.

The CATHOLIC ACTION FARMERS (C. A. F.) YOUTH SERVICE was established and from it some very interesting local group work was developed. Since the departure of Mr. Geisler for the Army, the Service has been edited by Father Putz of Notre Dame and Mr. Hynes of St. John's. It is published every two months in mimeographed form at the National Headquarters.

The four Rural Life Summer Schools held at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi; Atchison, Kansas; St. Louis, Missouri; and Collegeville, Minnesota, had an enrollment of 274 priests, sisters, and laymen. Forty-two dioceses were represented, 15 religious orders, and 27 states. Ninety-one lecturers staffed the schools.

The Speakers' Bureau filed engagements in 43 dioceses, 30 states, with an approximate audience of 75,000 people. Over 30,000 non-Catholics at 75 exclusively non-Catholic meetings heard the various speakers.

The headquarters of the Conference are now permanently located at 3801 Grand Avenue, Des Moines, in a spacious and attractive old residence. The Conference is purchasing it. We need a name for the headquarters. Have you any suggestions?

Mr. Jones: "I'm a self-made man."
Mr. White: "How nice of you not to blame somebody else."

BENEFITS

Our missionaries offer Fifteen Thousand Masses every year for our members. Why not share in the fruits of these Masses by becoming one of us? Annual dues—One Dollar. Family Membership—Five Dollars a year.

OUR MISSIONS SUFFER A GREAT LOSS

The Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Church has just informed us of the death of the venerable and saintly missionary, Bishop Francis Vashapilly. We pray for his noble soul God's eternal peace.

The death of Bishop Vashapilly is a great loss to our missions. He served zealously as Bishop of Trichur, India, for the past twenty years. His death was hastened by an accident while enroute to attend a Solemn Mass commemorating the Episcopal Jubilee of the Holy Father. He died, one may say, in a last gesture of loyalty to the Holy See and to Christ's Vicar on earth.

Bishop Vashapilly was the inspiration of the remarkable Jacobite returns to the unity of the Church. Now there are more Catholics of the Syro-Malabar Rite in union with the Holy See than there are dioceses. His last pastoral plan was to raise funds to establish six urgently needed mission stations. He hoped to give new centers places of worship and to make the Church more accessible to many thinking of becoming Catholics.

A few weeks ago, we quoted his last letter to us: "I have an enormous amount of work to do. I have in my diocese forty thousand children who would be in Catholic schools, if we had the schools." Leading souls into union with Christ's Church and giving Catholic education to children were his outstanding works.

Nothing would console the mourning priests of Bishop Vashapilly's diocese more than to be enabled to finish the work he planned and began. A chapel or a school can be built for Five Hundred Dollars.

Surely the prayers of this beloved bishop in Heaven will move some of our readers to give $500 to advance the Kingdom of God in Trichur, and to perpetuate the memory of Bishop Vashapilly. Will you not help us to do so?

FIFTEEN DOLLARS

That sum means much to the mission. For if you can place in a mission chapel a Sanctuary Lamp, which is required where the Blessed Sacrament is reserved, and give a supply of candles which will last a year for Mass and devotions. We are sure this suggestion will appeal to you.

FOR YOUR DECEASED

All Catholics wish to do something for their dead. We suggest the Gregorian Masses. That is, to have Mass offered every day for thirty consecutive days for a particular soul. Many Religious Orders have the Gregorian Masses said for each departed member. You can do so for a friend or relative. Write for our free leaflet.

FOR ONE CHILD

You can enable some poor child to receive Catholic schooling during the new term which is just beginning. A mission pastor needs Five Dollars a term for each child in his mission school. Your donation will enable him to take in one more poor child.

ONE OF A HUNDRED

If one hundred of our readers would send Five Dollars each, we could build a mission chapel in the Near East. Send Five Dollars today. Your donation is needed to make up the Five Hundred Dollars necessary for building a chapel.

USED AT MASS

Would you like to give the things required for the celebration of Mass? You can donate a chalice, missal, cruets and candlesticks, set of altar linens and a year's supply of candles for Fifty Dollars. Many of our missionaries would be delighted to receive such a gift.

FEW ANSWER

It is strange that so few answer our appeals for Missal. Yet a priest must have a Missal in order to say Mass. We are in need of many for our mission chapels. Ten Dollars will purchase a Missal for a poor chapel. Won't you donate this necessary article for Holy Mass?

YOUR WILL

You should make a will even though you have little of this world's goods. If you die without a will, your property will be divided according to the law of the State and not as you desire. Place in your will the name of the Catholic Near East Welfare Association. Our missionary priests and sisters will never forget you.

PLEASE RENEW

If you are one of our members whose membership is due, please renew at once. The loss of a single member is a serious loss to our missions.
