

Christens Sub Chaser
 Brooklyn, N. Y. — Launched weeks ahead of schedule, a new submarine chaser slid down the ways at a plant here after it had been christened by Mrs. Frank Gleason, wife of a plant supervisor and member of Our Lady of Perpetual Help parish. The launching day also fell on the day of Mr. and Mrs. Gleason's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The regular meeting of the Rochester Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women will be held in Room 325, Columbus Civic Centre, Friday evening, Jan. 22, at 8:15 P. M., Mrs. Michael Keogh presiding. Representatives of all affiliated organizations are urged to attend.

College To Continue Two-Year Terminal Courses For Duration

The two-year terminal courses announced by Nazareth College last September will be continued as specified, for the duration of the war. Some of these two-year Vocational terminal courses will be permanent.

Students in any Department will receive certification for the accomplishment of the two-year curriculum of Studies in case they wish to interrupt their college course for the war service. These curricula will be specially planned to meet the needs of the present service, and proper adjustment of courses will be made for students returning afterwards to complete the courses leading to degrees.

Registration for September for the two-year terminal courses and for the regular four-year degree courses, is placed for Fridays and Saturdays of February. Students wishing to accelerate their regular courses will have that opportunity in the summer term offered by the College.

Only Woman Of State Senate In Ohio Is Catholic

COLUMBUS, O.—Miss Margaret A. Mahoney, a native of Cleveland and a member of Gesu Church parish there, has taken up her duties here as Ohio's first woman Democratic Senator.

Miss Mahoney served two terms as a member of Ohio's House of Representatives. She is the only feminine member of the present upper house and is the first woman to be a member in 14 years.

She became interested in politics while serving as legislative chairman for several Cleveland organizations. In a sketch concerning her ability, the Ohio State Journal had this to say:

"Able, diligent and smilingly persistent in her work as a legislator in State Representative Margaret A. Mahoney, of Cleveland. The strongest advocate of woman's suffrage could not hope for a better example of a woman earnestly and pleasantly devoted to a public office. Her colleagues hold her views and opinions in great respect."

GOOD DEEDS

Books For Sampson Planned By Nazareth College Club

By Doris A. Dunbar

With literary reviews taking the background for the present, the Alice Meynell Literary Club, under the leadership of Patricia Greene, president, has advanced plans which will provide the Sampson Naval Base with current best-seller, technical books, humorous stories, and small-sized editions of popular titles both current and classical.

The Victory Book Campaign, under the sponsorship of the American Library Association, the American Red Cross, and the USO, is aiming at good physical condition and readability of the books rather than quantity.

Under the school plan, each student will contribute one book a week, until the close of the campaign, March 5. Sister Teresa Marie, dean of the college, has made the first donation including several books by Hilary Bellor.

Committees will be under the chairmanship of the following girls: Suzanne DePrez, discriminating committee; Jane O'Brien, publicity; Catherine Statt, pep-talk committee; Madeline Nuccitelli, posters; and Virginia Bauman, packing arrangements.

LATIN-AMERICA MEETING

Students representing the individual classes of the College have been chosen to attend the Conference on Latin-America to be held in Rochester on January 26-27. Those from the Senior Class include Barbara Kelley, Clara Neal, Helen Goschke, Florence Sims, Jane O'Brien and Virginia Bogdan.

According To The Doctor

TAKE OFF YOUR COAT

It may be colder up north, but 40 degrees and under is quite cold enough to remind us that summer is gone and what comes after summer is here in a hurry. Already, only in every two people is sniffing and wheezing with a hark that doesn't spell hay fever.

This distress is too common, at least perhaps more common than it need be. Cold weather is generally said to wake up people, give them more pep. Does it? A lot of them catch colds soon as the snow flies because they're too lazy to do what they ought to do.

They'll dress somewhat warmer, which is sensible. A top coat, heavier underclothing, and something in wool or tweed. Fine! Then, they go to church or to a meeting or drop into a lunch counter at noon or a tavern and proceed to spend a half hour or more in confined and condensed atmosphere with their coats on.

They get lousy, and soggy, and heavy, and sleepy, and dull, and warm with the drug of slight perspiration. Then all of a sudden, they murmur something about it's being close in here and must run along now back to the grind and out they go. Walk two or three blocks and bingo!—where did I catch that cold?

Well, don't catch what you don't have to catch. Take that coat off the minute you step in from the cold brisk fall air and out-of-doors. Even if you intend to stay but a moment, take off your coat. Your physique will adjust itself more readily to indoor temperature. You won't freeze when you go outside again. You'll have much better chance of clearing the winter without a stretch in bed because of colds or worse.

Was It A Coincidence?

For some days, a recent story goes, a soldier had been anxious to go to confession, but there was no priest near his quarters. He was walking along the road one day all alone, whistling a favorite hymn, "O Purest of creatures, Sweet Mother, Sweet Maid." Rounding a corner, still whistling, he met and saluted an officer who answered back.

"You're a Catholic, my boy?" "Yes, surely," he answered. "I thought so from the tune you're whistling," continued the officer. "Been to confession lately? I'm a Catholic priest." "Well, this is luck." 'Twas you I was whistling for to the Mother of God. I'm ready to confess, Father, and so are some of the other lads back there. Will you hear us?" "Gladly," answered the priest-officer.

Thank God—I also am an American!—Daniel Webster.

Representatives from the Junior Class are Ruth Lacey, Dorothy Gardner, Virginia Sullivan, Patricia Goodwin, Jane Kretzel and Doris Dunbar.

Those selected from the Sophomore Class are Jeanne Chiavone, Betty Turner, Mariette Wickoff and Erica Klemens. Freshmen include Katherine Cutler, Louise Conley, Maria Berl and Alice Van deVoerde.

EDUCATION NEEDS

A conference of Catholic Colleges and Universities in the State of New York was held at the Commodore Hotel in New York City on Jan. 14. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the needs of education in the college area and to assemble, coordinate, and distribute to the members factual information and the results of committee activities.

Three representatives from Nazareth College attended the conference.
