Johnny Doughboy

By Hazel Garland Johnny Doughboy is a fellow Who I proudly admit, Has a lot of that stuff That the authors call grit

The songs of a dapper band, The beat of a drum, He exchanged for a helmet And the sound of a gun.

He fights with the pride Of knowing what's right, He fights at the dawn As well as at night.

His courage is great, A thing to behold, Though most of his deeds Are left untold.

Johnny Doughboy is that fellow Who lived next door to you, Who joined the fighting ranks Because he had a job to do.

He places all his trust in God, The Guardian of his life, He breathes a silent prayer, That He may keep his wife.

For you his darling mother, Whom his heart loves so true, And for you Dad and Sis, He's bound to come through.

So be a little patient And before long you will see, In his own little home, Our Johnny Doughboy will be.

If we are well with God, all is well with us.

Make up your mind to conquer your dominant fault.
